Gerard Delivers U.S. Note Today

REPLY BY WEEK-END MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE

Von Bernstorff Tells Lansing German Answer Cannot Reach Washington Within Time Tentatively Allotted.

Berlin, April 20.—(Via London.)—The American note to Germany arrived in Berlin late yesterday evening.

SOME DELAY IS PROBABLE.

German Reply May Not Come Before Ten Days.

Washington, April 20.—The United States government having given the last word to Germany in the submarine controversy turned today with grave expectancy to Berlin where rests the decision whether the imperial government shall abandon its present methods of submarine warfare or break with Washington.

President Wilson probably will await at least until the end of the week for Germany to reply to his virtual ultimatum which declares the intention of the United States to sever diplomatic relations unless the Berlin government "immediately" gives up the use of submarines against commerce and squares her submarine policy with the principles of humanity and international law.

No Time Limit.

No time limit was set in the communication, but the president is known to hold the opinion that three or four days would be a reasonable period to allow Germany for a decision. If none is forthcoming within a reasonable time the step accomplishing a break in relations with all its grave possibilities will be taken. Count von Bernstorff, Germany's ambassador, would receive his passports and American Ambassador Gerard at Berlin would be instructed to come home.

Congress assembled today impressed with the deep significance of the president's action. The dispassionate words in which Mr. Wilson yesterday told a joint session of congress called for this purpose took on a fuller space of meaning which in the note to Germany, almost identical with the address in outline and phrase, revealed in what unmistakable terms the American government had declared itself.

Von Bernstorff Still Hopeful.

Count von Bernstorff, optimistic throughout the long negotiations that have approached a crisis, though less near several times before, was hopeful that his government would find a way to prevent a break in relations.

Last night he sent a long message to Berlin, said to recommend that some such assurances as were given regarding submarine operations in the Mediterranean should now be thrown around all submarine operations.

Appendix to Note.

An appendix to the note deals with the Sussex, the torpedoing of which is said to be proved by evidence and substantiated by the German disclaimer of responsibility. Facts in the appendix show that three American army and naval officers found in the Sussex screw bolts corresponding to those used in German torpedoes. Identification marks on these bolts correspond with those on German torpedoes in possession of the French government. The American officers also found thirteen pieces of metal which they have identified as parts of German torpedoes.

Copies of the note have been sent to the representatives here of neutral nations.

Senator Kern, majority leader in the senate, said at the white house today he believed there was a general disposition in the senate not to discuss President Wilson's address on the note to German. Discussion, he said, could do no good and might do harm. He added that no action on the part of congress was called for and he should not expect that any would be taken.

Lansing Makes No Statement

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador went to the state department today for a conference with Secretary Lansing on the submarine warfare situation and also to discuss the arrest in New York of Wolfe von Igel, secretary of former German military attache von Papen.

Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador were in conference fully twenty minutes. After the ambassador left the secretary of state would make no statement regarding the discussion which took place.

May Require Ten Days.

After the conference it was learned that German diplomats regard the receipt of a reply from Germany within two or three days as physically impossible. It was thought a reply could not be received here before ten days. It was pointed out that Easter Monday is a holiday in Germany and that necessary consultations of officials

EMPLOYE, STRUCK BY MATE, GETS DAMAGES

Employing Company Liable, Says State Industrial Commission.

Noblesville, Ind., April 20.—The Indiana industrial commission has notified the attorneys interested in its ruling in the case of Frank L. Davis against the Union Sanitary Manufacturing company, of this city, in which the plaintiff sought damages for personal injuries.

In awarding $1,024 to Davis, payable in 150 weeks at $6.60 a week, the commission held that where one employe of a concern is injured by another employe when both are on duty, the person who is hurt may recover damages.

It is said that this is the first time the commission has passed on that question. Davis was employed by the company as a molder and one morning when he discovered that the ladle in which he carried hot iron had not been properly lined with fire clay, he registered a complaint with the employe whose duty it was to look after this work. A quarrel followed and the employe struck Davis with an iron rod, breaking his arm. It was for that injury that damages were granted.

MORE POPULAR YOUNG LADIES ENTER RACE

Luxurious Awards in Sentinel Campaign Attract Great Attention---First List of Candidates Soon.

Nominations of candidates in The Sentinel's $5,000 campaign are coming in rapidly, and every district is represented. From every section of the territory covered by this paper have the names come, and the general interest being manifested in the campaign is best shown by the number and high character of these nominations, a source of much satisfaction to The Sentinel.

The value and attractiveness of the awards have proved strong incentives for the young women of this section, and already a keen and spirited though friendly rivalry has sprung up among a number, all of whom have firmly made up their minds to become the possessor of the handsome first grand prize, 1916 Paige "Fairfield Six" touring car, or one of the other three handsome cars. Such general interest shown at this early stage of the campaign demonstrates a determined effort on the part of candidates to win, and without a doubt establishes the popularity of The Sentinel Campaign.

We have received many requests from persons who desire to know whether or not one candidate can be nominated by more than one person. As many as wish can nominate the same candidate, but one, and one only of the nomination blanks, which are good for 5,000 votes, will be counted for a candidate. But, if you have some young woman in mind, whom you would like to see win one of these splendid prizes, do not hesitate about nominating her, even if you think someone else may have already done so. Better make sure than to let her lose out altogether. And even if some one else has sent in her name your doing likewise will do no harm, as but one of the blanks will be counted, but you will have made sure that the candidate of your choice is in the race.

Anyone May Nominate.

Anyone has the privilege of nominating a candidate, and it is not necessary to be a subscriber in order to do so. Neither is it necessary that the candidate be a subscriber. Simply clip the nomination blank from this issue of the paper, fill it out according to the directions printed thereon, and send it in at once.

The examination has been in progress for the last three days and will not be concluded till Saturday.

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Donald Seaton, Caretaker at Thieme Country Home, a Suicide.

Holds Weapon Beneath Chin and Both Jaws Are Blown Away.

Worry over the illness of his wife, who is said to be hovering between life and death in a hospital in New York city, is presumed to have prompted Donald Seaton, 40 years old, caretaker at T. F. Thieme's suburban home, near the Country club, to commit suicide at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Seaton used a shotgun with which to end his life.

When his niece, Miss Lillian Smith, arose Thursday morning she noticed that Mr. Seaton was worrying and that he was not himself. About 8:15 o'clock he came in the house after completing some morning chores and walked into the bedroom on the first floor of the house, stating that he intended to change shirts.

Miss Smith states that she heard him move something in the room which sounded very much like the shotgun, but

DYNAMITE EXPLODES AT SITE OF NEW DAM

Cincinnati, April 20.—The explosion of a large quantity of dynamite and powder in a temporary frame structure on the site of the dam that is being built near New Richmond, Ohio, today did damage estimated at $50,000 and will stop work on the new dam for several weeks.

Officers of the National Contract company, builders of the dam, announced the loss of machinery, tools, drawings and records which were destroyed by a fire which started from an overheated furnace in the machine shop and was the cause of the explosion.

Report on Movement of Carranza Army Gives Some Concern.

PLAIN HINT OF RESISTANCE SEEN

Gathering at Parral May Be Without Sanction of Carranza.

Washington, April 20.—Official advices to the state department today noting recent movements of Carranza troops from Chihuahua to the Parral region caused some concern among administration officials.

The dispatches expressed the opinion that the movement was intended as a hint to the American forces that they might expect at least a show of opposition if they sought to penetrate farther into Mexico than their present position. It was added, however, that there was every indication that the movement was made without the knowledge or consent of Gen. Carranza or his war minister, Gen. Obregon.

No estimates as to the number of men involved was communicated. Officials here have been basing their figures on previous reports as to the

NEW DEMAND IS MADE FOR VON IGEL PAPERS

New York, April 20.—Another demand for the return of the papers seized from the office of Wolfe von Igel, under indictment to destroy the Welland canal, was made upon Federal District Attorney Marshall by John B. Stanchfield, the defendant's attorney.

The district attorney, said Mr. Stanchfield, had maintained that von Igel's office, formerly that of Captain von Papen, recalled German military attache, was in effect German territory and that the intrusion of agents construed an "invasion."

Mr. Marshall said he replied that the matter rested for decision with the Washington authorities. Meantime he had no alternative but to proceed with teh case.

Mr. Gimbel wishes to encourage boys to save money. The 100 boys are selected by their teachers. The $1 belongs to the boy as soon as he earns a dollar.

CZAR'S FORCES SOON ON WEST BATTLE LINE

Today's War News Given in Summary

A strong force of Russian troops disembarked at Marseilles at noon today to fight beside the allied soldiers in France.

Berlin reports the capture of an important line of British trenches in Belgium.

The French again have taken the offensive in the Verdun battle and launched attacks against the German lines on the right bank of the Meuse. Paris declares the aggressive movement was successful, resulting in the capture of portions of German trenches and a redoubt, and in the taking of several hundred prisoners.

According to a London dispatch the British coalition government has been given a new lease of life, a settlement having been reported in the cabinet crisis over the question of conscription.

A plot of wide scope conducted for the purpose of causing a revolution in India is announced from London to have been uncovered as a result of the seizure last February of German and Austrian subjects on the liner China, bound from Shanghai for the United States.

London, April 20.—Russia has come to the aid of France and Great Britain in the great struggle on the western front, sending a strong force of troops to fight with the entente allies there. The Russians disembarked at Marseilles at noon today, their arrival being noted by Gen. Joffre, in the order of the day, the French commander in chief citing their coming as another striking proof of Russia's devotion to the common cause of the allies.

The Russians are believed to have embarked for France from the port of Archangel on the White sea, the only port through which there is free communication between Russia and her allies in the west. It is considered probable that the transports carrying the troops made a wide sweep out into the North Atlantic before heading for the Mediterranean to avoid the submarine danger zone in the vicinity of the British Isles.

In this connection it is to be noted that private cable dispatches today declare that Russia has closed the port of Archangel to all except government vessels. This may indicate that further troop movements are under way.

Several times during the war there have been reports that Russia was sending troops to the Franco-Belgian front, travelers even declaring that detachments hade been seen en route through Scotland and England. No such troops have ever appeared on the western battle line, however.

GERMANS DRIVE BRITISH OUT.

Berlin, April 20.—British trenches for a distance of 600 meters betwen Langemarck, and Ypres, Belgium, have been occupied by German troops, according to the officials statement given out at the army headquarters today.

FRENCH TAKE OFFENSIVE.

Paris, April 20.—(12 m.)—French troops took the offensive last night in the Verdun region on the right bank of the Meuse. The war office announcement of this afternoon says that they captured parts of German trenches, occupied a redoubt and took several hundred prisoners.

French resistance in the region of Verdun is compelling the German general staff to withdraw large forces from the Teuton front in Macedonia and Serbia and in Russia, according to information obtained today from the highest military authorities here.

Cabinet Crisis Settled.

London, April 20.—(2:07 p. m.)—It is stated authoritatively that a settlement has been reached in the cabinet crisis.

LONDON SAYS A BIG PLOT IS UNCOVERED

London, Wednesday, April 19.—(6:16 p. m.)—As the result of the seizure of German and Austrian subjects aboard the China mail liner China last February while bound from Shanghai for the United States, the intelligence department of the British government claims to have uncovered a plot of immense ramifications conducted with the purpose of causing a revolution in India.

The American headquarters of the plotters is said to be on the Pacific coast. At least one ship is known to have sailed from San Francisco with a German crew and Indian conspirators and arms on board.

The headquarters of the plot in the Orient was at Shanghai, and when the gun running and other machinations were uncovered according to the authorities here, the plotters set sail for Manila aboard the steamship China.

Must Either Get Out or Move on a Bigger Scale

San Antonio, Texas, April 20.—Early withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico, or the authorization of military operations on a big scale must result from Gen. Hugh L. Scott's investigation of the situation in the opinion of army officers here. Gen. Scott is due in San Antonio Friday night.

Gen. Pershing is not pushing his campaign against Villa and will not until he gets authority and facilities to operate more freely. Officers of Major General Funston's headquarters here believe the facts in the case showing the futility of extending the expeditions along the existing lines will convince General Scott of the hopelessness of further pursuit, unless the commanding officer in Mexico is given more effective backing.

Villa—if he is alive—can be caught, officers here believed, only by the adoption of a plan that Mexicans almost certainly would characterize as a war. He has penetrated so far into Mexico and the hostility of Mexicans, both friends of Villa and adherents of the de facto government, has become so marked that army officers are convinced further operations must be undertaken with the understanding that armed opposition by both factions will be met.

Has Fortune Coming; Goes to County Farm

Although the heir of a vast fortune left to him by a relative in Holland and which he expects to receive within the next two weeks, Walter Monberg, 57 years old, was taken Thursday from Hope hospital to the county poor farm. He is critically ill and there is little hope for his recovery, according to the attending physician.

Monberg has letters and legal papers which he has shown to Trustee Henry P. Scherer to prove that the fortune he claims has been left to him and he is now awaiting receipt of it.

At the present time Monberg is penniless and is a township charge. He has resided in Fort Wayne for about a year and has made a livelihood doing odd jobs. Some days ago he was taken ill and going to the Hope hospital asked to be taken in. He was given a room and immediate medical attention for it was realized that his condition was serious. Trustee Scherer was then notified and Thursday he had him removed to the county farm. He has no relatives in this country.

Women's Headquarters at the Old High School

Announcement was made Thursday by the Centennial association that the old high school building on the north side of Wayne street, between Calhoun and Clinton, would be known as the woman's building during the centennial celebration.

The various rooms will be arranged for the comfort of women and children with wash rooms, cots, chairs and every convenience. Competent women attendants will be in charge.

Besides being used as a place to rest, the exhibits to be prepared by the women will also be placed there. Because of the central location of the old high school building a more desirable place could not have been found. The building will be used throughout the entire week as headquarters for the women.

RUMORS OF VILLA'S DEATH PERSISTENT

Growing Belief Now Being Strengthened by New Versions.

El Paso, Tex., April 20.—The growing belief that Francisco Villa is dead, whether or not his body has been recovered, was strengthened today by messages received by American mining concerns here from their agents at Cusihuiriachic, Parral, Santa Barbara and Guerrero.

All of these messages agreed that the report of Villa's death was common among the peons in northern Chihuahua and was generally accepted as true. One very circumstantial story sent to the head of a mining concern operating in the Guerrero district by his Mexican superintendent was positive that Villa had been buried in the neighborhood of San Francisco Barjaro, the hamlet where the grave of the bandit has been reported found. His story gave a number of details regarding Villa's death, but it was discounted by the fact that it related to the alleged murder of an American woman by the bandit just prior to his death. As all American women who have been in northern Chihuahua during the past year have been accounted for, little credence was given to this feature of the story.

The alarmists here have seized greedily on a proclamation issued in Parral, calling on all Mexicans to unite to resist the American invaders and purporting to have been issued by Gen. Obregon, secretary of war. As similar proclamations appear almost daily in Juarez and are suppressed by Gen. Gavira as speedily as they appear, little attention was paid by men familiar with Mexico to this latest proclamation.

Reports from Chihuahua say absolute quiet reigns in the state capital and that there has been no signs of hostilities towards the Americans, especially as it has been reported that the United States soldiers were being withdrawn from Mexico.

HIGH SCHOOL CADET PLAN SPREADS—HITS OHIO CITY.

CADET CORPS OF NORTH HIGH SCHOOL, COLUMBUS, O., IN DRILL.

The high school cadet system, started in Wyoming where high school cadets have been drilled to a high point of efficiency, is spreading!

Boys of North high school, Columbus, O., have organized a cadet corps and application has been made to the government for real U. S. A. uniforms and equipment.

The high school cadets of Wyoming were given equipment by Uncle Sam and placed under the tutelage of an officer of the United States army.

INDIANS FOR CENTENNIAL

BAND OF 100 TAMED SAVAGES COMING

Local "Red Men" to Help —Doings in Centennial Circles.

Just to make the thing more real than it would otherwise be, the United States government has consented to "loan" to the city of Fort Wayne a large contingent of Indians from one of its reservations for use during the coming June centennial.

The Indians, to the number of one hundred, will be brought to the city for the entire Centennial week. They will be separated into camps at various convenient places, such as Old Fort park, Reservoir park, and some of the downtown cleared spaces.

The tamed savages were secured through the efforts of Congressman Cyrus Cline, through whom Chairman E. C. Miller reached the proper department officials at Washington.

Mr. Miller hasn't as yet received full particulars of the visit of the red men, but as it is the custom of the government to provide vacations for its charges during the summer months they will probably be brought from Oklahoma or one of the western reservations.

To Play Indian Parts.

The members of Mechecanochqua tribe of Red Men have come forward and offered themselves, their services, their war paint and feathers, their warwhoops and their enthusiasm to add to the success of the big pageant. Chairman Frank E. Stouder, of the pageant committee, is grateful to the Red Men for coming forward, and, inasmuch as their tribal name of Mechecannochqua means "Little Turtle" in English, there is a close connection between the fraternal order and the spirit of the pageant. Doubtless, too, the Red Men will make a good showing in the fraternal day parade on Tuesday, June 6.

Seat Sale Next Week.

Chairman Sam Wolf will be ready to start the pageant seat sale next week. He has things well organized and there will be a rush for places in the big amphitheater.

People in outside cities may feel assured that the Centennial management will see to it that they have an opportunity to make good seat reservations for the pageant.

Will Return Saturday.

Pageant Master Donald Robertson will be down from Chicago the latter part of this week to give further attention to the choosing of characters for the pageant. Many who did not meet with Mr. Robertson last Saturday will be asked to meet this week Saturday, at 1:30 o'clock, at Saengerbund hall, corner of West Main street and Maiden lane.

The Transportation Committee.

S. K. Blair's committee on transportation of the crowds to and from the centennial celebration is making elaborate preparations to advertise the event along the steam and electric lines as soon as the official poster is received from the lithographer. Every village and hamlet on all connecting lines within a radius of one hundred and fifty miles of Fort Wayne will be beautifully placarded.

Moose Are Busy.

The Moose lodge is working on the details of the dedication of its new home on the opening day of the centennial celebration. Many hundreds of out-of-town members of the order will be here to participate in the ceremonies and to March in the fraternal day parade.

Speaking Parts Ready.

The printer has completed the making of the books containing the speaking parts of the pageant, and these are being given out as fast as the characters are determined upon. One thing which is pleasing to those who will have parts in the big show is the brevity of the assignments. The story of the book covers such a vast space of time that very few characters appear in the play in more than one scene. Exceptions to this rule are Little Turtle and General Wayne, who appear in the Battle of Fallen Timbers scene and also in the scene of the fort dedication; General William Henry Harrison, who is a lieutenant under Wayne in one scene and who appears as the leader of the army of relief in 1812.

Other Cities Want to Know.

Outside newspapers are appealing for news of the Fort Wayne Centennial celebration. While some of the home folks are still asking, "What's it all about?" the people of other cities are alive to the bigness of Fort Wayne's coming big blowout.

For Tired Women and Children.

Chairman E. C. Miller has his mind set on one thing above all other things. "We must look out for the comfort of the women and children," says he, with emphasis. "I want to say right here that when these people come to Fort Wayne upon our invitation, we must make it our first business to see to it that they have the greatest time of their lives. People can't have a good time when they're tired, and I propose to make it my chief concern to see to it that there is a sufficient amount of resting space and comforts and conveniences for everybody. I know what it means for a mother and a child or two or three to come to town and spend a day with crowds everywhere, and I tell you we are going to have places where they can go and rest and wash and make themselves at home with competent, trustworthy persons to look after their needs. We'll have something to say about this later."

Puckett Back on the Job.

Chairman E. W. Puckett, of the committee on arrangements, is back from a stay at West Baden, and several matters which have been held in abeyance are now to be closed up. Among these are the details of the historical and industrial parade scheduled for Friday night of Centennial week.

Names Are Now Coming In.

The committee on Homecoming day is well pleased with the response to the people of Fort Wayne to send in or telephone in the names of former Fort Wayne people who should be invited to the Centennial. See that the names get to the headquarters in the Commercial club ('phone 3900) and the committee will send a cordial invitation to the party thus named, together with a program of events and a ticket for a sightseeing trip around "the old town."

SHOOTS DAUGHTER, THEN KILLS SELF

Binghamton, N. Y., April 20.—Alfred L. Sharpe, for several years previous to coming to this city collector of customs at El Paso, Texas, is dead, and his 18-year-old daughter, Holland, is in a hospital today, seriously injured following a quarrel last night between father and daughter which ended when Sharpe seized a revolver and after shooting the girl twice in the back sent a bullet through his own heart.

Doctors say the girl has a chance to recover. The bullets passed through her left lung and out of the breast. Sharpe until recently had been building superintendent for his cousin, Willis Kilmer, of this city.

Money matters are said to have caused the quarrel which led to the shooting. Sharpe, according to report, had recently olst heavily in a business deal in Texas and his daughter wanted him to relinquish the trusteeship of her property left by her mother and turn it over to lawyers in San Antonio. This Sharpe refused to do and the shooting ended the quarrel.

ELEVEN DEAD, MANY INJURED IN STORM

Kansas City, Mo., April 20.—Eleven persons were reported dead today and scores injured, several seriously, in a succession of tornadoes which swept through the central portions of eastern Kansas and western Missouri last night. Property damage is believed to be heavy, although accurate information was unavailable early today because of disabled telegraph and telephone service.

The storm areas centered north of Topeka and in a line running from the southwestern corner of Wilson county, in Kansas, across the Missouri line into the border counties. The reported dead are:

Fort Scott, Kan.—Mrs. Miller, Baby Hixon.

Rich Hill—Ruth Fairbanks, 7 years old.

Rockville, Mo.—Dr. C. P. Bowden, of Appleton, City, Mo.

Abilene, Kan.—Elmer Packard, of Enterprise Kan., killed while trying to outrun the storm, by automobile overturning.

Six persons are reported dead and about fifty injured in Stover, Morgan county, Mo., with the town laid in ruins as the result of a tornado last night. A special train was sent from Eldon, Mo., to the relief of the stricken populace of Stover. Among other damages the railway station is said to have been blown across the track, blocking traffic.

The storm is also supposed to have struck near Jefferson City and California, Mo. Olean, six miles north of Eldon, was in the path of the storm and there are reports of many injuries there.

NAME COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CANAL

Columbia City, Ind., April 20.—At a special meeting held in the Commercial club rooms here last evening a committee composed of Robert Emerson and M. H. Maston, of South Whitley, and E. K. Strong, of Columbia City, was named to make a thorough investigation of the benefits to be derived from the construction of the proposed Toledo, Fort Wayne and Chicago barge canal. About fifty residents of Columbia City, South Whitley and the rural districts of the city attended the meeting.

To People Who Are Under Normal Weight

Good Advice For Thin, Undeveloped Men and Women Who Want to Put on Flesh

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered combination of assimilative agents has made fat grow after years of thinness, and it is also unequalled, judging from reports, for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable preparation is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing assimilative elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this preparation, which is endorsed and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A few weeks systematic use of Sargol should go far to produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying nourishing fats to the blood. If not, every druggist who sells it is authorized to return the purchase price. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten and the additional fats that thin people need are thus provided. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy, The Family Drug Store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has from reports given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, its use is not recommended to nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh. —Advertisement.

MODEL HOMES TO BE BUILT FOR WORKERS

Pittsburg's Housing Commission Will Improve Cliff Site.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—Hundreds of tenements in Pittsburg are crowded by unskilled workmen and their families. These men are drawn here by the magnet of Pittsburg's prosperity. The housing commission of the chamber of commerce has found a means to correct this condition. It is ready to point the way to better things. A cliff in the Soho district is to be terraced and beautified. Model houses for unskilled labor are to be built thereon. They will rent for from $14 to $16 a month, and produce 7 per cent. on the investment. This is to be only the start.

The industries of Pittsburg demand great numbers of laborers who live in tenements, more crowded now than ever. Promotion of Pittsburg's progress demands good homes for him who handles the tonnage, as well as for him who profits by it, the housing commission says.

William H. Stevenson, a member of the commission, says: "We have spent a year studying and we have finally completed plans for homes for unskilled workingmen. Those who have been loud for improvement of housing the laborers of this city have a chance to act by following the example we will set with the building of thirty 2-family dwellings as a demonstration."

Another eighth grade examination for those who failed at the last examination held Saturday will be conducted May 20.

TANLAC SCORES BIG HIT IN FORT WAYNE

Unknown to Local People Few Months Ago, the Name of the New Medicine Now is Household Word.

WITH HUNDREDS of Fort Wayne people included in its list of firm friends, Tanlac, the celebrated new preparation now being introduced here, can well lay claim to the name enthusiastic people have given it—"the Master Medicine."

A few short months ago Tanlac was unknown to Fort Wayne residents. Now, its name is a household word, aand the story of its relief for some unfortunate who suffered from stomach, liver or kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, or some other disease due to a run down condition of the mucus membranes, is a story recited every day throughout the city.

The Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the remarkable new preparation to the public is the scene daily of scores of little episodes of real life enacted by purchasers who have been relieved of troubles of long standing through use of Tanlac and who naturally feel themselves greatly indebted. Many people have called personally at the drug store and given statements regarding Tanlac's aid for them.

Tanlac's success in Fort Wayne is complete in every detail. Its merit has been proved beyond the shadow of a dobut. It is without question enjoying the largest sale of any proprietary medicine ever introduced here and consequently, countless Fort Wayne residents either already have been completely relieved of troubles through its use or are now taking the medicine and getting nearer the happy state of healthfulness every day.

Yes, Tanlac's mission to Fort Wayne—a mission that has brought about happiness to hundreds of people who, before its introduction, knew nothing but troubles and weariness through the day, through the night, through the weeks, even through years—is a mission any medicine might well be proud to have conducted so successfully.

"But," as C. H. Bailey, Indiana's renowned Tanlac Man said a few days ago, "if Tanlac had brought health and happiness to only a single Fort Wayne person we would have considered its introduction successful. How much more successful then, have we become in Fort Wayne since already the people Tanlac has relieved of troubles practically are countless? But still, there are many Fort Wayne people who remain in that weak, run down condition that makes of life, almost a burden. We only hope these people will follow the action of their Fort Wayne brethren who have escaped troubles through Tanlac's use, and will give our medicine a trial, for we fully believe Tanlac to be the best preparation on the American market today, for relieving man's ills."

TROUBLES OF 12 YEARS END

Mrs. H. Somers Tells How the New Medicine, Tanlac, Brought Relief.

Mrs. H. Somers, 64 years old, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 1837 Wheeler street, is one of the hundreds of Fort Wayne people who have found relief from troubles through the use of Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mrs. Somers, whose husband is a fireman at the Brookside farm, recently said:

"For the last twelve years I have suffered from stomach trouble and muscular rheumatism. I had indigestion. Often I would become short of breath and my heart would palpitate. Formations of gas accumulated in my stomach after eating and the gas would effect my heart when I'd walk. I was nervous and restless at night. The muscular rheumatism caused pains in my limbs and arms. I also had pains in the small of my back caused either by kidney trouble or lumbago.

"I had used only about a bottle and a half of Tanlac when I noticed the full feeling in my stomach disappearing. I'm on my third bottle of the medicine now and the stomach trouble practically has been banished. The formations of gas on my stomach are gone; I do not become so short of breath any more; the constipation has left. The rheumatism also is very much better.

"Tanlac has given me real relief from troubles of twelve years' standing. I think I'd tried everything without gaining relief before I began using Tanlac."

"DID THE WORK," HOFMAN SAYS

Earl Hofman, a well known employe of the Van Arnam Manufacturing Co., who lives at 1211 Maumee avenue, recently said, in praise of Tanlac:

"For the last year or more I have had trouble with my stomach, indigestion bothering me to a great extent. After meals, and especially after the evening meal, accumulations of gas would form on my stomach and I would become bloated. When I'd awaken in the morning I'd feel as though I hadn't rested for a week.

"I saw in the papers that Tanlac had benefited a friend and I decided to try the medicine. I have been taking Tanlac not quite a week, but I notice big improvements already. I can eat all I care for now; I do not become bloated and I sleep fine at night. In the mornings I feel rested and refreshed. This medicine did the work for me."

GERMAN EFFICIENCY BIG FACTOR IN WAR

Long Cultivation of the Art Has Made a Race of Excellent Warriors Again Proved in Tanlac.

EFFICIENCY, it is the common opinion, is the keynote of German success in the present great, near-world war.

Years ago the Germans started the cultivation of the art of efficiency in al l things and it has made of them a race of men who now are able to hold at bay the united armies of three great countries—England, Russia and France.

Joseph von Trimbech, the man to whom credit is given for the discovery of the composition of certain medicinal roots, barks and herbs that make up Tanlac, the remarkable new reconstructive tonic now being introduced in Fort Wayne, is a German chemist, trained along German lines of efficiency.

From the earliest stages of Tanlac's composition down through the times when it equaled and then far surpassed any other medical preparation on the American market, Chemist Trimbeck give his entire attention to the new medicine.

Tanlac's present high state of efficiency—to which 75,000 Hoosiers, many of whom live in Fort Wayne, will testify—is due entirely to Chemist Trimbeck's untiring efforts. The Master Medicine's effectiveness as a spring tonic, so needed by hundreds at this season of the year, and its ability to combat stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhad complaints, rhenmatism, nervousness, indigestion and the other common ailments of the day, is due to him.

Yes, once again German efficiency has been proven. As the Germans on the other side are, because of their efficiency, able to cope successfully with the armies of united powers, so has one of their race here in this country brought to its present high standard of efficiency the greatest medicine on the American market today.

For every ounce of Tanlac that leaves the laboratories is compounded by a German—a famed chemist—a man of efficiency.

TANLAC IS GOOD FOR YOU

"I don't believe there is a medicine in the world that beats Tanlac for bringing good results."—Mrs. Anna Arnold.

"I wouldn't take $25 for the good brought me by my first bottle of Tanlac."—Earl A. Hevil.

"Judging from the way Tanlac fixed me up, I believe it to be the greatest medicine ever made."—L. D. Bain.

COLD WEATHER VICTIMS AIDED

The seige of winter, that leaves in its wake so many people suffering with a completely run down system, is one of the great agents of destruction man has to contend with.

The many days of snow, sleet, cold rains, and winds that chill a person through and through, are so thorough in their work against humanity that few escape.

In fact, in recent years, it has become common for people who desire to rid themselves of the results of winter weather and to guard against a disagreeable state of ill health in the summer months to take, at spring time, some kind of a tonic, known to be a system purifier and of reconstructive properties.

Already many people, who have adopted the habit of taking a tonic each spring and have learned just how vastly beneficial it is, are looking for the best preparation on the market to take this season.

Scores, who have begun the use of Tanlac, the remarkable new reconstructive tonic and system purifier, praise the new medicine as the best spring preparation they ever tried.

Tanlac does its work quickly. It speedily attacks the impurities in the blood that might, if left alone, bring serious results. It builds up the tissues broken down during the winter months in the daily battle of your physical self against extreme weather conditions. It brings about the proper digestion and assimiliation of food, at the same time throwing off any decayed matter that might have accumulated.

HUNDREDS FIND SOURCE OF JOY

To suffer from the after effects of a cold, or a bad case of La Grippe, is to suffer from one of the most disagreeable conditions known to mankind.

Apparently well and able to go about the duties performed before the cold was contracted or the attack of La Grippe came, and yet, too weak to work properly and simply "out of sorts" generally, it is, just what those who experience it say, a condition too much for man or woman.

And it is an entirely unnecessary condition.

The ability of Tanlac, the remarkable new preparation now being introduced here, to combat successfully the after effects of hard coughs, colds, la grippe, pneumonia and the like now is almost universally known.

Scores of Fort Wayne people, who have tried Tanlac, say it is the most satisfactory preparation on the American market today, for relieving such a condition.

After the first few doses of Tanlac improvement can be noticed. Tanlac quickly clears the nose and throat of mucus thereby cutting short the period of hawking and spitting which might have extended over several week. Next, Tanlac builds up the tissue broken down by the attack of illness. It causes the proper digestion and assimilation of food thereby enriching and purifying the blood and throwing off additional symptoms.

In fact, in a remarkably short time after Tanlac starts its work the victim of a recent attack of any of the too common, spring and winter illnesses, is as sound and well as before he was stricken.

SURPRIZE FOR AGED RESIDENT

C. M. Briggs Never Expected the Good Health He Says Tanlac Brought

One of the most earnest of the hundreds of Fort Wayne friends of Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is C. M. Briggs, 73 years old, a retired lumber and sawmill man, who lives at 1425 Erie street. Tanlac, Mr. Briggs asserts, has relieved him of troubles of thirty years. He said:

"For the last thirty years my system has been in a generally run down condition. Stomach, kidney and bladder trouble were my chief complaints. Severe pains across my back and in the small of my back hurt me terribly. I seemed to have no control of myself at night, my kidneys being very weak. I slept poorly. Gas frequently accumulated in my stomach and I also had pains in my stomach. In the evenings I sometimes would have cramps.

"I had just about finished my first bottle of Tanlac when I noticed good results. The pains started to disappear from my back and I slept better. My appetite also improved. I am on my fifth bottle of the medicine now and the stomach trouble has been banished entirely. I do not suffer from cramps or pains in my stomach now. In fact, I feel 'tip top' and you surely can tell the people that I highly recommend Tanlac.

"Just to see whether or not the results I gained were permanent I stopped taking Tanlac for a week and found that the results are permanent. I'm still taking Tanlac, however, to get my kidneys in even better shape. I feel better right now than I ever expected to feel again."

SAYS SHE FEELS FINE IN EVERY WAY NOW

Mrs. Louisa Elbert, wife of Anthony Elbert, a well known employe of the Bass Foundry and Machine Co., has this to say of Tanlac:

"I have suffered from rheumatism for several years. Pains and aches came all over my body. Sometimes I would feel so miserable that I'd have to get up after going to bed at night. Recently I suffered an attack of the grip and between that and the rheumatism I was in poor condition.

"A friend recommended Tanlac. I have taken a bottle and a half of the medicine now and the rheumatic trouble is entirely gone. I sleep better and have a better appetite. In every way I feel fine now. The after effects of the grip also have been overcome. Tanlac helped me as nothing else ever did and I'm glad to say a word in praise of the medicine."

GLAD TO SPEAK A WORD OF PRAISE

"I'm glad to say a word in praise of Tanlac," said Mrs. D. W. Guthrie, wife of a well known Fort Wayne contractor, who lives at 820 Barr street.

"I had stomach trouble. After meals I would have pains in my stomach and for some time I'd belch and feel bloated. My appetite was poor. I didn't sleep very well.

"I noticed improvements after taking only about half a bottle of Tanlac. I had a better appetite and I slept better. Now, after taking one bottle, I'm a lot better. I don't become bloated so easily and I don't belch nearly as much as before. Tanlac helped me more than anything else."

HELPED FARMER IN THREE DAYS

Peter Parker, a well known farmer who lives on rural route No. 16, Fort Wayne, has added words of praise to those of hundreds of others of this vicinity who have found Tanlac a ready relief for their troubles. He said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble for the last two years and I also have been bothered by catarrh of the head for a long time. I became bloated after eating and I usually suffered from gas in my stomach. I was able to eat only certain kinds of food which I had found from experience would do me the least harm. I slept very poorly. The catarrh was very bad. I hawked and spit almost continually and I was bothered by a ringing in my ears.

"Three days after I started taking Tanlac the stomach trouble became better. Now, after taking one bottle of the medicine I do not become bloated at all, and I am able to eat anything I care for and as much of it as I wish. I also sleep much better since the stomach trouble has been relieved. The catarrh is greatly improved, too. I do not have to hawk and spit now and the ringing in my ears is entirely gone.

"I have gained a world of good from Tanlac's use and I surely do recommend the medicine for catarrh and stomach trouble."

ENERGY AND LIFE RETURNS AGAIN

George Flaugh, employe of the Noble Hoop Mill, who lives at 1157 West Main street, recently told of the relief he gained through Tanlac's use. He said:

"I have had muscular rheumatism in my hips and back for some time. I slept poorly and felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. Severe pains came in my hips and back.

"About a week after I started taking Tanlac I noticed the pains growing less severe. I've not suffered a single pain for more than four weeks now. I sleep fine and have lost of life and energy. I believe the results I gained to be permanent.

WOMAN IS STRONGER AND BETTER NOW

Mrs. John Geise, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 2441 Gay street, recently found Tanlac a ready relief from her troubles. She said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble for six years. Attacks of sick headache frequently bothered me and would leave me in such a weak state that I'd be unable to do my housework for days.

"My husband wanted me to try Tanlac so I puschased a bottle of the medicine. I feel much stronger and a great deal better now. I don't have any trouble whatever with my stomach now and am not bothered by attacks of sick headache."

FEELS STRONGER THAN FOR YEARS

"I certainly am glad to recommend Tanlac," said Mrs. Daniel Hoffman, 67 years old, who lives at 2522 Reed street, Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Hoffman is well known in this city. She has lived here for more than forty years, her husband working as a contractor.

"For nearly a year I have suffered with rheumatism of both the inflamatory and muscular natures," Mrs. Hoffman continued, while telling of her experiences with Tanlac, the Master Medicine. "Sometimes pains bothered me and my limbs were lame. Sometimes the pains and lameness would leave for a time, but soon would appear again, just as bad as ever. R,HP-;alsob$ as bad as before.

"I'm mighty glad I didn't get discouraged and quit using Tanlac after I had taken my first bottle of the medicine. The rheumatic pains are entirely gone now and nervousness and a jerking sensation of my limbs also have left. I feel a great deal stronger and better now than I have for years.

"My daughter is using the medicine now and although she has taken only about half bottle she is noticing good results."

HELPED MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE

"Tanlac helped me as nothing else ever did," said Adam Filler, a well known Fort Wayne teamster employed by the Hilker Bros.' Lumber & Coal Co., who lives at 1335 Erie street.

"I have suffered from a severe form of kidney trouble. For years pains in my back bothered me. I slept poorly and would feel tired in the mornings.

"When I'd taken about a half bottle of Tanlac I noticed the pains leaving. Now they are all gone. I sleep better and feel rested and refreshed in the mornings. I certainly am glad to recommend Tanlac."

WOMAN TESTIFIES TO HUSBAND'S AID

Mrs. Louis Waltemath, who lives at 1328 Walton avenue, testified recently, to the relief her husband, who is employed by S. F. Bowser & Co., gained through Tanlac's use. She said:

"My husband has suffered from stomach trouble for many years. He had indigestion and heartburn also bothered him. After every meal his stomach wounld be in a soured condition.

"The second or third day after Mr. Waltemath started taking Tanlac he noticed good results. He has taken one bottle of the medicine now and the soured condition of his stomach and the heartburn are a thing of the past."

BENDER TELLS OF COMPLETE RELIEF

W. L. Bender, a well known Fort Wayne man who lives at 1236 West Main street and who formerly was a shoe cobbler at 713 Barr street, is one of Tanlac's hundreds of Fort Wayne friends. He said:

"Ever since five years ago my system has been in a terribly run down condition. My kidneys were in bad shape and my stomach, liver and bowels were out of order. I have had rheumatism also, severe pains coming in my arms and limbs. Sometimes the rheumatic pains were so severe that I'd just cry out. My stomach also pained me at times and frequently I was unable to retain the food I ate. My liver was sluggish and I suffered from a diarrhoetic condition of the bowels.

"I saw Tanlac advertised and decided to try it. I have not suffered a single pain in my stomach since taking a bottle and a half of the medicine. The diarrhoea is entirely gone and my kidneys and bladder act as they should. Since taking my second bottle of Tanlac, the rheumatic pains have been entirely banished.

"Tanlac is the only medicine I've found that will give permanent relief."

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

Matthew 27:1-14.

1 When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death:

2 And when they had bound him, they led him away, and delivered him to Pontius Pilate the governor.

3 Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders.

4 Saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see thou to that.

5 And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged himself.

6 And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.

8 Wherefore that field was called, The field of blood, unto this day.

9 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy the prophet, saying, And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel did value;

10 And gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.

11 And Jesus stood before the governor: and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest.

12 And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate unto him, Hearest thou not how many things they witness against thee?

14 And he answered him to never a word; insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly.

Awaiting the Outcome.

President Wilson has spoken. He has given to Germany the irrevocable decision of the United States that, unless there is an immediate cessation of those practices in submarine warfare against which America has repeatedly suffered and repeated protested, there will come a severance of the long time friendly relations which have existed between this country and Germany. And that means—what? If not war, it is at least a very definite step leading to conflict.

There is no good American citizen in all this broad land who will not profoundly regret the circumstances which have brought about this grave crisis, and none who will not sincerely pray that the cloud may pass without a storm, and that out of the acuteness of this hour may come a mutual understanding that may avert the hideous consequences of actual clash. It is very plain, under the terms of what amounts to very nearly an ultimatum, that the fateful decision in the matter now rests with the German empire. The problem is made additionally difficult for Berlin because of the fact that acquiescence must circumscribe largely the only marine engine she has been able to successfully turn upon her foes. It is quite probable that with the situation reversed and the present naval power of England in German hands, our present difference would be with the entente allies instead of with the Teutonic empire.

Nor can it be charged that the action of the United States has been taken hastily, without continued provocation long endured or without a due appreciation of the responsibilities it involves. The future in the case depends entirely on Berlin. The president has spoken, and in America his voice is essentially the voice of the people. There can be no divisions and there will be none. The president will be upheld. There can be no manner of doubt of that. In the meantime let us await calmly and hopefully the fateful decision from Berlin—calmly because that is the part of patriotic citizenship at a time like this, and hopeful that the present crisis, like others of similar nature though less acute, may safely pass.

The Illinois Bar association, which is arranging for a banquet in honor of Colonel Roosevelt, announces that it has been literally swamped by appeals for invitations and has been forced to appeal for larger banquet quarters. Some of the colonel's loving friends of olden days who have insisted that his case is hopeless and that he couldn't "come back" are now believed to be rubbing up their specs with the view of taking another look, and, mayhap, reluctantly revising their solemnly pronounced conviction in the matter—a conviction based rather more upon desire than upon fact. Colonel Roosevelt has enemies in plenty—and lusty ones, too—but there are a good many indications that he has not been effectually eliminated as a political factor in this country.

The Allen county grand jury has signified its entire willingness to delve into the alleged practice of selling tobacco and cigarettes to boys of tender years in Fort Wayne if those who are in possession of facts will give it some information on which to act or tell it where the information can be obtained. Here is an opportunity for those who know of law violations of this character to be of positive assistance in correcting an evil.

Former Governor J. Frank Hanly, who was for years recognized as one of the republican party leaders in this state, has issued a blistering statement in which he utterly repudiates the recent republican state platform. Well, come to think of it, the Indiana republicans had beaten him to it. They had already repudiated Mr. Hanley, so that honors now appear to be even.

Mr. Ford's peace conference effort hasn't been making a great deal of noise of late, but lest an erroneous impression gain current it may be announced that it is still working. From Stockholm has just been sent out an appeal to the warring nations urging the principle that in the final settlement there be no transfer of territory without the consent of the population involved.

After having heard the testimony the special master appointed to take it has recommended a divorce for Harry K. Thaw from Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, and the court at Pittsburg has ordered the issuing of the decree. Somehow those names have a strangely familiar ring to the casual reader of American newspapers during the past few years.

But, then, if the city succeeds in finding a market for old tin cans at a figure that will repay the cost of collection, what are we going to use for decorations on the city dump of the future?

Going to have real Indians in Fort Wayne for that centennial celebration, too.

DAUGHTER OF JOHN D. JR., CARRIES OUT FAMILY RESEMBLANCE

UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD

CENTENNIAL PROBLEMS

(Huntington, Ind., Herald)

Isn't it possible that in this centennial year Hoosiers are too prone to dwell on the glory of the past and to think too little about the duties of the present and the prospects for the future? Of what good is a glorious past, except as it gives a foundation for better work in the future?

For example, the newspapers all over Indiana are beginning to pay more attention to the good roads question, and men who in the past have given their time to other industrial and economic problems are devoting themselves to this cause. But under the present laws of the state it is impossible to accomplish much. There must be some revision, so that costs can be distributed to better advantage, and so that roads of a permanent character can be built with less opposition. Indiana is far behind in the matter of good road legislation.

The tax question is another that deserves especial attention this centennial year. It is likely that the coming campaign will see this problem discussed in a manner that will awaken the interest of the whole state and result in good form.

The liquor question is another that needs attention. Indiana is behind the more progressive states in this line. Its people, through their own neglect of politics and public affairs, have been fooled out of the kind of legislation they want to control or to eliminate the liquor traffic. If the centennial year has no other good results than to reawaken a keen interest in all public affairs, it will not be a failure.

HIS ANSWER TO MOLLYCODDLES

(Leslie M. Shaw in Omaha Bee).

I have a son as dear to me as any son is to any father. If this country gets into war, and it will unless it prepares itself to enforce peace, that son should offer his services. He is of the kind of type that will be required.

If he should fail to enlist the government will have the right to conscript him, but the curse of God will and should rest upon that nation and that people that will call its best blood to the colors without having first taught them to take care of themselves, and that will not furnish them as good arms as they are forced to face; that will not give them ammunition to last till the fight is over; that will not cover their positions and movements by field artillery equal in quantity and of as long range as that of the adversary; that will not provide air craft and submarine craft—in short, that will not do all that human resource and human skill can do to make their defensive position tenable and their offensive movements successful.

Anything less than the best is absolutely worthless. Any preparedness less than adequate preparedness is less than useless, and war waged with antiquated or insufficient equipment is worse than murder, for it subjects those who heed the call of duty, and who obey the command of the country, to ignominious defeat and shameful slaughter.

GENTLE RUBBING HELPS VARICOSE VEINS

Rubbing the swollen veins nightly for about two minutes with a gentle upward stroke brings benefit to sufferers and is mighty good advice, says an authority.

After the rubbing, which should always be toward the heart, because the blood in the veins flows that way, apply Emerald Oil (full strength) with brush or hand.

Try this simple home treatment for a few days and improvement will be noticed, then continue until veins are reduced to normal. It is very concentrated and penetrating and can be obtained at any modern drug store. It is so powerful that it also reduces Goitre and Wens. Meyer Bros. Drug Store has Emerald Oil in the original bottle and will be glad to supply it.—Advertisement.

INDIAN POPULATION OF MEXICO IS VAST

But 19 Per Cent of the Natives of That Land Are Pure Whites.

Washington, D. C., April 20.—There are more Indians living today within the territory originally comprising Mexico than ever existed at any one time in all the rest of the western hemisphere combined, according to a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic society of Washington.

"Of the 15,000,000 inhabitants of Mexico, fully 38 per cent. are pure Indians, and 43 per cent. of mixed blood, only 19 per cent. being whites," continues the bulletin.

"These six million Indians, many of whom are descendants of that wonderful race, the Aztecs, are divided into many linguistic families and tribes, the numbers varying according to the standards of differentiation adopted by each enthnologist. Some authorities group them into fourteen families, with fifty-one languages and sixty-nine dialects, while others make sixteen family divisions, sub-divided into one hundred, thirty-two tribes.

"The degree of civilization to be found among the many tribes are astonishing, ranging from the abject Seri Indians of Sonora, as pitiably undeveloped as the Indians of Terra del Fuego, to the highly developed and splendid specimens of manhood found among the Nahuatl and Maya tribes.

"The finest examples of aboriginal civilization on the North American continent were to be found in the neighborhood of the present City of Mexico, with the possible exception of that prehistoric race of temple builders whose ruins dot the Yucatan peninsula. It was on the site of the capital that the Toltecs left their imprints from 650 A. D. to the twelfth century when the Chichimecs, a cruder tribe, replaced them, not by conquest but because the Toltecs died out, some antiquarians attributing their gradual disappearance to the ravages of pulque, the insidious drink that has ever been the curse of that country.

"Then came the highly civilized Acolhuas, and a few years later, before the opening of the thirteenth century, the Aztec began to pour in, leaving in their wake, as they came up the plateau, the remarkable structures now known as the ruins of Casas Grandes. They built Tula, fifty miles north of Mexico City, and eventually founded Tenochtitlan, on a site selected for them by the gods, according to legend, the sign being an eagle perched on a clump of cacti, with a serpent in its talons. It is this sign which remains today the national emblem, appearing both on the coins and on the flag of Mexico.

"One of the most interesting legends about the tribes from which the Indians of today are descended is that recorded of the Colhuas, who are supposed to have enslaved the Aztecs during the latter's migratory march up the plateau. The conquerors soon released their enemies because they were horrified at the Aztecs' custom of offering human sacrifices to their gods.

"It was largely to the co-operation of the Tlaxcalans, a neighboring tribe, that Cortez owed his triumph over the Aztecs. The latter were as brave and as chivalrous soldiers as were the Spanish adventurers who enjoyed the decisive advantage of gunpowder and horses, both of which were unknown to the natives. The generosity of the Aztecs as fighting men is exemplified in a single incident. Learning that the enemy was without food, the Mexicans dispatched an ample supply of provisions, because they scorned to fight a starving foe!"

EXPRESS PACKAGES STOLEN

Elkhart, Ind., April 20.—When John Lehman, of Toledo, an express messenger, entered an American Express company's car in the New York Central railroad's train No. 32, after its arrival from Chicago, he found that a number of packages had been opened and rifled. The contents of the car was taken out here so that the missing packages could be checked up and listed. Local authorities would give no estimate of their value.

Investigation revealed that some of the loot had been cast off the train near South Bend and near Norwood, and that two men had leaped from the train at South Bend. It is believed the thieves boarded the train at Chicago.

Take Iron, Says Doctor, if You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strenght Like an Athlete!

Ordinary Nuxated Iron Will Make Delicate, Nervous, Rundown People 200% Stronger in Two Week's Time, In Many Cases.

New York, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rundown people who were ailing all the while, double and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply, to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is one of the newer organic iron compounds. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase your strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by the Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co. and all other druggists. —Advertisement.

ASSOCIATED PRESS MEMBERS AT FEAST

Indiana Organization Holds Its Annual Banquet at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, April 20.—With leading business and professional men present, the annual banquet of the Indiana members of the Associated Press was held at the Claypool hotel here last night. Meredith Nicholson was toastmaster and the speakers were Paul Cowles, superintendent of the Central division of the Associated Press; David E. Town, of the Chicago Evening Post; Charles W. Fairbanks, John H. Holliday, nestor of Indiana newspaper men, and Ogden Reid, editor of the New York Tribune.

How the Associated Press gathers and distributes the news of the world was described by Mr. Cowles and Mr. Reid spoke on "Our Duty to the Public." Mr. Fairbanks referred to the time when he was the Associated Press correspondent at Pittsburg and Mr. Holliday related incidents of newspaper work in his day.

The editors held a business meeting during the day and later were guests of the Indianapolis base ball club at the opening game of the American association season. Henry W. Marshall, of the Lafayette Journal, was elected president of the organization and George M. Cook, Indianapolis, secretary.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

MEXICAN RAILWAY SYSTEM EXTENSIVE

All of It Has Been Built Up Within the Past 45 Years.

Washington, D. C., April 20—The railways of northern Mexico, the use of which was fraught with grave moment to the punitive expeditionary force under General Pershing a few days ago, because of the serious question of transporting supplies, is the subject of an informative bulletin just issued by the National Geographic society of Washington.

"The railway system of Mexico has a mileage which exceeds by 25 per cent. the combined mileage of all the other countries of North and South America, with the exception of Canada, the United States, Argentina and Brazil," says the bulletin. "This vast system has been built up in 45 years, for while there was a tiny track from Mexico City to the suburb of Guadalupe as early as 1854, it was not until 1873 that President Lerdo inaugurated the first important line, that which runs from Vera Cruz to the national capital. President Lerdo was opposed to the building of railways across the desert plateaus of northern Mexico, for he believed, it is said, that these arid plains afforded a certain security against the political and commercial influence of the United States. President Porfirio Diaz had a far broader vision, however, and during his long regime railroad building was one of his chief concerns, so that when he retired from the presidency these steel arteries of commerce had crossed the United States border at six places—Laredo, El Paso, Nogales, Eagle Pass, Presidio and Brownsville, and 11,000,000 people were carried annually, together with 11,000,000 tons of freight.

"One of the most interesting features of the railway system under Diaz was his insistence that the American managers of the merged Mexican national railways should employ, whenever possible, Mexican conductors, brakemen, telegraph operators, flagmen and section foremen. In this way he hoped to build up a substantial middle class from among the peons, one of the crying needs of the country.

"The first railroad connecting Mexico City with the United States border was that to El Paso, opened by President Diaz 32 years ago last month. This line has been extended in recent years to Tampico on the east and to Guadalajara on the west, and now embraces a system of 4,000 miles.

"The shortest line from Mexico City to the United States (800 miles), is that of the National railway, which crosses the border at Laredo.

"When the four important railway systems known as the Mexican Central, the National, the International and the Interoceanic were fused into the National Railways of Mexico, the government retained a majority of the capital stock of 615,000,000 pesos.

"All of the railways in Northern Mexico are equipped with American locomotives, passenger and freight cars, and Pullman accommodations are to be had on most of the lines. The first-class passenger rates are slightly higher than on American lines, but there is a lower, second-class rate, by which the peons profit. Distances are measured in kilometres—4 cents first class and 1½ cents second class. Restaurants at the important stations serve table d'hote meals for $1, and the trains usually make 25 minute stops for breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

"The peons are like children in their eagerness to ride on the trains and in the mining sections where small lines are used in handling ores it is a difficult matter to keep the natives off the cars.

"Although Mexico produces a large quantity of coal it is of a cheap grade and the railways as a rule either import their fuel or else burn oil, which is produced in great abundance, especially in the Tampico region.

"The lines in the north are operated on Mexican time, which is 24 minutes faster than American time at El Paso and 36 minutes faster at Laredo.

"The most interesting railway in Mexico is that 192 mile stretch of track which connects the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. It was here that Eads dreamed of a ship railroad which could lift vessels by huge derricks from the harbor at Salina Cruz and swing them on trains which would transport them across the continent to Coatzacoalcos, where they would be lowered into the roadstead.

"The proposed Pan-American railway, being built by American capital, is expected some day to establish a direct rail communication between New York City and Buenos Aires."

SUFFRAGE NOTES.

AROUND THE MAP FOR SUFFRAGE

A little yellow suffrage automobile, with Mrs. Alice Snitjer Burke and Miss Nell Richardson, left New York on April 6 for a 15,000-mile tour around Uncle Sam's map under the auspices of the National American Woman Suffrage association. Making a circuit of the United States from New York to Galveston, thence to San Francisco and Seattle and east back again to the starting point, Mrs. Burke and Miss Richardson will blaze a complete trail for suffrage, and incidentally make the distance record for woman's automobile driving. For no chauffeur is to travel along. Mrs. Burke is an accomplished driver and next to suffrage speaking enjoys nothing so much as a steering wheel.

Mrs. Burke will be remembered among suffrage workers for her work in the New York state campaign last year, a feature of which was the famous little automobile, "Victory 1915." Miss Richardson is a Virginia girl who has been in active suffrage work for about three years in New York, and who has worked a great deal with Mrs. Burke. At present, she is an organizing secretary for the New York city suffrage party.

WOMEN IN THE LAW

It is not enough to have woman lawyers in this day of demand for woman's participation in civic affairs—we must also have women justices and jurors. Only last week in New York city three civic leagues met to indorse a bill in the legislature for the appointment of a woman as justice of the children's court. On the same day, Supreme Court Justice Guy, of New York, made a public statement concerning the fitness of women as jurors.

"Woman's intelligence, keen intuition and practical good sense," said Justice Guy, "make her desirable for jury service. Women are much less emotional than men, less sentimental, quicker to detect impostures or fraud. If women were on our juries I think we would have fewer verdicts based on 'brain storm,' 'higher law,' or other fictions, and a higher average of verdicts based on evidence, intelligent reasoning, and a strong sense of duty."

Do we wonder that Nixola Greely-Smith, his interviewer, says: "I had decided that a Daniel had come to judgment?"

THE EFFICIENT MOTHER

"No mother is what she ought to be if she lives simply the life of the home," said Dr. John L. Elliott before the Women's conference of the society for Ethical culture in New York city. "She must live the life of the community. The great picture in the world is the Madonna and the Child, but there is one higher vision than that—not one mother and child, but mothers and all children."

This was the plea of an ardent believer in woman suffrage for woman's place in the community and is the material that the suffrage movement is made of.

WORK, BUT NOT TO VOTE

In Ironia in the state of New Jersey, men are entering the ammunition and powder factories by the scores, leaving the women to run the dairies and farms. Are they the same men that allowed the brewers to convince them last election that "woman's place is in the home?"

Mothers' Club Meeting.

A good meeting of the Mothers' club was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. and talks were given by Mrs. F. H. McCulloch and Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt. Mrs. McCulloch, who presided, urged attention to the matter of having the mothers' pension bill made a law in this state as it has already been so disposed of in twenty-six other states. A motion was made and carried that the local club combine its effort with the one being made by the Congress of Mothers regarding the pension bill and also to work to bring the matter up before the Indiana convention of Mothers and Parent-Teachers associations this coming fall. The pension bill referred to is designed to give financial aid to mothers or fathers who ordinarily can support their families but in cases of emergency need a little assistance. Mrs. Nesbitt remarked during her talk that as soon as Indiana legislators understand the matter of the bill as well as the Ohio men did the bill will be passed. Mrs. Nesbitt also presented her plans for the children to interest themselves in the work Fort Wayne is undertaking towards a "city beautiful."

AT THE GRAND

"The Social Pirates"—Second Episode at the Grand Today.

Mona and Mary, who from their mission in life may be classed as a pair of trim and speedy submarines that delight in shooting about in the social sea and sinking the piratical gentlemen who wage warfare against the happiness and moral condition of the weaker sex, get in the wake of a buccaneering heart-breaker and do not give up the pursuit until he is (figuratively) torpedoed and sent to the bottom. The piratical person's name is Harrasford. In this episode "The Corsican Sisters," Mona and Mary, masquerading as Corsican sisters, enmesh a blase young man of wealth who is noted for his affairs with women. Briefly, each girl makes the man think she is in danger of her life. Mona is supposed to kill Mary in a jealous rage. The man is made to appear as an accomplice. He pays handsomely to escape scandal. The theme deals with the hot blood and fiery tempers of the supposed Corsican girls and the subterfuge they practice to make the man believe a real enmity exists between them.

A WONDERFUL WINDOW OF BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

Pause, look and admire—that is what everyone is doing that passes the Flick Floral shop these days, for a more gorgeous collection of wonderful flowers has never been seen. There the spring flowers are in abundance, tulips, yellow, red, pink and white, jonquils in one color or both yellow and white, white lilacs whose fragrance makes the made perfume blush, rhodendrons whose beauty is as delicate as an orchid, azaleas, roses, and many other blossoms equally well or even better known. The big room is full and the long window blossoms like two or three gardens. A new feature of the Easter season is the placing of tiny birds, like humming birds in size, and butterflies on the blooming plants or the cut flowers, to speak still plainer of spring and summer. Everyone buys flowers on Easter and there are prices in consideration of all purses.

AUTO BANDITS MERE QUARTET OF SOUSES

Ed Hedges, Gordon Laird, George Jackson and Roy Myers are in cells at police headquarters charged with train-climbing. They were arrested early Thursday morning at Payne, Ohio, by the town marshal of that place and were brought back here at noon by Captain Charles Bonk, chief of the Nickel Plate railway police here. With the return of the men blew up a supposed sensation that the four men who abandoned a jitney flivver at the Nickel Plate tracks and Clinton street, shortly after midnight, and caught an eastbound freight train, were auto bandits.

It is believed that Hedges and his pals are the men who leaped from their auto at the corner of Wayne and Comparet streets, at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and assaulted Leo Blair, Richard Ballard and Rex Campbell, three young men who were standing there talking. Hedges gave Blair quite a beating. The four in cells deny any part in the assault. The car they abandoned Hedges, who is an ex-convict, has been driving as a jitney bus.

GRADUATES IN A WAR.

Peter Thompsons and Plain Whites Fight Draw Battle.

Princeton, Ind., April 20.—The "war" among the girl members in this year's senior class in the Princeton high school over whether plain white dresses or blue sailor Peter Thompsons should be worn at the graduating exercises has been compromised. The Peter Thompsons are, in a manner, sidetracked—but neither do the "plain whites" have it all their way.

Instead, the twenty-six girls have after many disputes and some tears smiled happily on the proposal that they receive their diplomas attired in white sailor dresses with large red ties and black shoes and stockings. The entire school is rejoicing over the tactful settlement. The commencement will be held May 19.

Nineteen of the girls had voted that all should wear blue Peter Thompson suits and eleven had voted for plain white dresses. Feeling was so high between the two factions for a time that it looked like separate commencements would have to be held for the two groups of girls.

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

MARKLE FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE

Thomas Rarick, Broken in Health and Despondent, Ends Life by Drowning in Supply Tank.

Huntington, Ind., April 20.—Ill health caused Thomas Rarick, fifty-nine years of age, to drown himself Wednesday afternoon between 3 and 5:30 o'clock in the supply tank on the farm of his brother-in-law, Emmett Cheesman, one mile west of Markle, with whom he had lived several years. Nothing he had said or done made relatives suspect his intention. No alarm was felt by his sister, Mrs. Cheesman, until Guy Bronner, who works for Mr. Cheesman, returned from the field where he had been plowing soon after 5 o'clock. Mr. Rarick had left the house about 3 o'clock, saying he would either go to the field where Bronner was working, or to the barn. When Branner said he had not seen Mr. Rarick, in answer to Mrs. Cheesman's inquiry, a search was begun. In the tank house Mrs. Cheesman found her brother's cap, coat and vest. This increased her alarm and she summoned her nephew, Lafe Rarick, of Huntington, who happened to be visiting at the home. He got a lantern, climbed the ladder leading to the top of the supply tank and found the body. The top of Mr. Rarick's head could be seen at the surface of the water. Coroner R. S. Galbreath was called from Huntington and from his investigation probably will give the motive for suicide as dementia caused by sickness. Mr. Rarick was born south of Markle and had lived in Bluffton and Markle most of his life. He leaves two brothers, S. W. Rarick, living one and one-half miles south of Markle, and Henry Rarick, of Markle, besides Mrs. Cheesman, his sister.

THREE BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

Fire on Farm Near Leesburg Is Spread Quarter of a Mile.

Warsaw, Ind., April 20.—Fire, fanned by a high wind, totally destroyed the house and barn on the Wysong farm, southwest of Leesburg, Monday afternoon, and the bank barn of Cal Stuckman, located a quarter of a mile east of the Wysong buildings. The fire was discovered in the Wysong home shortly after the noon hour and although an alarm was given soon after nothing could be done to save the buildings on account of the high wind. Sparks were carried from the burning house to a straw stack and in a short time the flames spread to the big bank barn reducing the structure to ashes. A threshing outfit which had been stored in the barn was totally destroyed. Burning shingles from the roof of the house were carried by the wind to the Cal Stuckman barn, more than a quarter of a mile away, setting fire to the building and totally destroying it. One horse and four head of cattle were consumed. The fire was started on the Wysong farm by children playing with matches.

ABATTOIR ROBBED AGAIN

Hartford City, Ind., April 20.—The butchers of this city, working together in the hope of capturing the man or men who early in the morning robbed the Ritter slaughter house for the second time within one month. On this second visit to the abattoir a large number of valuable hides and a small amount of meat were taken. After searching for some time, tracks were found where a wagon had entered the property and as the tracks were comparatively fresh they were easily followed for some distance, the course of the wagon taking towards Montpelier. The wagon tracks were followed for several miles. When the Ritter abattoir was similarly robbed the suspicion was stated the hides stolen had probably been taken to Fort Wayne, where it was believed a fence was being operated.

BUILDING BOOM IN SIDNEY

Warsaw, Ind., April 20.—The thriving town of Sidney, lying southeast of Warsaw, is enjoying the business boom and building boom of its career at this time. The firm of Tridle & Circle, of the Sidney Hardware Co., are at present building a two-story cement block business room 50x132. The building is being erected just north of the depot and will be the pride of the town when completed. At the present time there are four new dwelling houses assured and two more are under consideration. The Odd Fellows lodge are contemplating the erection of a two story business block and use the upper portion for their club and lodge rooms with the lower floor to be used as a business room. The Masons are also planning the same kind of a building.

BOOZE CASE IN MONTPELIER.

Montpelier, Ind., April 20.—Charges were filed Wednesday afternoon in the court of Mayor Neal against John F. Price, proprietor of the People's drug store, and against Ira Gohn, drug clerk there, alleging illegal sale of liquor. It is asserted that on April 15 the clerk sold a quantity of liquor to George Penrod, of near Poneto. Both men appeared in court today and pleaded not guilty. Their cases were set for trial on April 25. An affidavit was also filed against Penrod for making unlawful statements to secure intoxicating liquor for a beverage. Price had nothing to do with the sale made by the clerk, but as he is owner of the drug store, he was charged in the affidavit.

QUITS DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Kendallville, Ind., April 20.—Dr. N. J. Shook, of Kendallville, announces that he will at once resign the democratic nomination of joint senator for the district including Noble, Lagrange and Steuben counties. He was nominated in the recent primary. He intends to file the necessary affidavits of withdrawal at once. His successor will be named by caucuses in the counties. When pressed for a reason for his resignation he said: "The district, normally, is overwhelmingly republican. To overcome such a majority necessitates a strong campaign and considerable expense. I find that I have neither the time nor the money."

GIRL OF 16 CHAMPION SPELLER.

Defiance, Ohio, April 20.—Miss Ida Hornish, 16-year-old girl of Richland township, with a grade of 99, stands in the lead for the honor of being declared the champion speller in Defiance county. Miss Hornish started in competition with 2,000 pupils of the rural schools. Contests have just been held with 200 participants in 16 districts. Out of 100 words Miss Hornish missed but one. Older pupils fell below that mark. May 13, the champion spellers of the 16 rural supervision districts will be brought together for a spelldown to determine the county champion. The wearer of that crown will go down to Columbus to compete with the champions of 87 other counties in a state contest.

THE GROOM'S IDIOT FRIENDS

Huntington, Ind., April 20.—Clem Swaim, just back from his honeymoon after his marriage to Miss Ruby Ellet, was surprised in the evening at his home by thirty or forty men and boys who after several unsuccessful attempts to route him out of bed and celebrate in honor of his wedding, bodily took him from his home and forced him into a cage on wheels, which is used as a means to convey hogs to the market. The crowd of revellers then hooked the cage to Clark's delivery wagon and started their parade through the main streets of Huntington. The revellers celebrated the occasion with tin horns and other noisy instruments.

THE AMERICAN NOTE TO BERLIN

Washington, April 20.—The full text of the note to Germany follows:

You are instructed to deliver to the secretary of foreign affairs a communication reading as follows:

"I did not fail to transmit immediately by telegraph, to my governments your excellency's note of the 10th instant in regard to certain attacks by German submarines, and particularly in regard to the disastrous explosion which, on March 24 last, wrecked the French steamship Sussex in the English channel. I have now the honor to deliver under instructions from my government the following reply to your excellency:

"Information now in the possession of the government of the United States fully establishes the facts in the case of the Sussex, and the inferences which my government has drawn from that information it regards as confirmed by the circumstances set forth in your excellency's note of the 10th instant. On the 4th of March, 1916, at about 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon, the unarmed steamer Sussex, with 325 or more passengers on board, among whom were a number of American citizens, was torpedoed while crossing from Folkestone to Dieppe. The Sussex had never been armed; was a vessel known to be habitually used only for the conveyance of passengers across the English channel, and was not following the route taken by troop ships or supply ships. About 80 of her passengers, non-combatants of all ages and sexes, including citizens of the United States, were killed or injured.

Shown By Investigation.

"A careful, detailed and scrupulously impartial investigation by naval and military officers of the United States has conclusively established the fact that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning or summons to surrender and that the torpedo by which she was struck was a German manufacture. In the view of the government of the United States these facts from the first made the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a German submarine unavoidable. It now considers that conclusion substantiated by the statements of your excellency's note. A full statement of the facts upon which the government of the United States has based its conclusion is enclosed.

"The government of the United States, after having given careful consideration to the note of the imperial government of the 10th of April, regrets to state that the impression made upon it by the statements and proposals contained in that note is that the imperial government has failed to appreciate the gravity of the situation which has resulted, not alone from the attack on the Sussex, but from the whole method and character of submarine warfare as disclosed by the unrestrained practice of the commanders of German undersea craft during the past twelve months and more in the indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations.

Not An Isolated Case.

If the sinking of the Sussex had been an isolated case the government of the United States might find it possible to hope that the officer who was responsible for that act had wilfully violated his orders or had been criminally negligent in taking none of the precautions they prescribed, and that the ends of justice might be satisfied by imposing upon him an adequate punishment, coupled with a formal disavowal of the act and payment of a suitable indemnity by the imperial government. But, though the attack upon the Sussex was manifestly indefensible and caused a loss of life so tragical as to make it stand forth as one of the most terrible examples of the inhumanity of submarine warfare, as the commanders of German vessels are conducting it, unhappily it does not stand alone.

On the contrary the government of the United States is forced by recent events to conclude that it is only the instance, even though, one of the most extreme and most distressing instances of the deliberate method and spirit of indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

The American Protest.

"The imperial government will recall that when, in February, 1915, it announced its intention of treating the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and of destroying all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within that zone of danger, and warned all vessels, neutral, as well as belligerent, to keep out of the waters thus prescribed or to enter them at their peril, the government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without constant gross and palpable violations of the accepted law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded on the principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks; and that no right to close any part of the high seas could lawfully be asserted by the imperial government in the circumstances then existing. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based that protest is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based on the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Persisted In Policy.

"The imperial government, notwithstanding, persisted in carrying out the policy announced, expressing the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to the commanders of its submarines and assuring the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"In pursuance of this policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and thus entered upon in despite of the solemn protest of the government of the United States the commanders of the imperial government's undersea vessels have carried on practices of such ruthless destruction which have made it more and more evident as the months have gone by that the imperial government has found it impracticable to put any such restraints upon them, as it had hoped and promised to put. Again and again the imperial government has given its solemn assurances to the government of the United States that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with and yet it has repeatedly permitted its undersea commanders to disregard those assurances with entire impunity. As recently as February last it gave notice that it would regard all armed merchantmen owned by its enemies as part of the armed naval forces of its adversaries and deal with them as with men of war, thus, at least by implication, pledging itself to give warning to vessels which were not armed and to accord security of life to their passengers and crews; but even this limitation their submarine commanders have recklessly ignored.

Neutral Ships Destroyed.

"Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers. Sometimes the merchantmen attacked have been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed; sometimes their passengers and crews have been vouchsafed the poor security of being allowed to take to the ships' boats before the ship was sent to the bottom. But again and again no warning has been given, no escape even to the ships' boats allowed to those on board. Great liners like the Lusitania and Arabic and merchant passenger boats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, often before they have even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed ship of the enemy and the lives of non-combatants, passengers and crew have been destroyed wholesale and in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to their indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters which the imperial government has chosen to designate as lying within the seat of war. The roll of Americans who have lost their lives upon ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominous toll has mounted into the hundreds.

Has Been Patient.

"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy it has sought to be governed by the most thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of an unprecedented war and to be guided by sentiments of very genuine friendship for the people and government of Germany. It has accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations. It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation.

"It now owes it to a just regard for its own rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come. It has become painfully evident to it that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce, is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

"If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue. Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare in effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance, but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations."

RALSTON CHOSEN TO DELIVER KEYNOTE

Governor Will Be Temporary Chairman of Democratic Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20.—Governor Ralston was designated yesterday afternoon by Chairman Bernard Korbly, of the democratic state committee, as temporary chairman for the state convention next Wednesday. Representative Lincoln Dixon, of the Fourth district, will be permanent chairman unless developments at Washington make it impossible for him to attend the convention. The "keynote" speech is to be made by the governor.

It was the belief of the many of the party leaders last night that the appointment of the governor as temporary chairman is a part of the now clearly-defined program to set the stage at the state convention so that Senator Thomas Taggart will be forced to accept the nomination for the short term in the United States senate.

When the state committee met here last week and adopted a resolution urging Senator Taggart to accept the nomination it is said that there was an understanding that the governor would be invited to accept the temporary chairmanship.

Taggart Maintains Silence.

Senator Taggart came to Indianapolis after the meeting of the state committee and after conferring with some of his close friends in politics returned to Washington without saying whether he would accept the nomination.

Senator Taggart, so his friends are saying, at heart is opposed to running for the senate, but he has refrained from making a statement publicly that he would not accept the nomination if the convention made a demand on him.

The governor will prepare his "keynote" address this week. It was said last night that it will be short and to the point and that not to exceed thirty minutes will be required in delivering it. The governor will indorse the president and his administration strongly and will praise the present state administration. He will reply briefly to the criticism made by Judge Quincy A. Myers, as temporary chairman of the republican state convention.

A number of conferences have been held within the last week regarding the state issues planks of the platform. The convention will be asked to indorse in full the acts of the present state administration and to approve of recommendations for changes in the primary election law, simplifying it and removing the second choice provision. The national issues will be brought to Indianapolis Sunday by some of the members of the congressional delegation.

Senator Taggart will arrive at French Lick Saturday afternoon and will come to Indianapolis Monday to remain until after the convention.

All changes for the new telephone directory must be reported to the Telephone Office this month.

FORD'S LEAD IN NEBRASKA GROWS

Omaha, Neb., April 20.—Latest returns from Tuesday's preferential primary have increased the lead given by early reports to Henry Ford, of Detroit, for the republican nomination for president and indicate the renomination of Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock on the democratic senatorial ticket by a majority of 2 to 1 over his opponent, Ignatius J. Dunn, of Omaha. William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, candidate for delegate at large to the democratic national convention, is running sixth. There are seven candidates. The four receiving the largest number of votes will be elected. Returns indicate that Keith Neville is about 5,000 votes ahead of C. W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor and brother of the former secretary of state. Less than 400 of 1,800 precincts in the state have reported.

SOLDIERS RULE IN NEW YORK VILLAGE

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 20.—With four companies of state militia in control today of this village, the strike situation involving employes of the National Conduit and Cable company was quiet except for one minor disturbance when two foreigners attempted unsuccessfully to disarm a trooper. Two strikers are in a hospital. A dozen men characterizing this trooper as a "tin soldier" told hi mthey were about to take his gun and bayonet. Two rushed forward and the militiamen whacked one on the skull with the gun and thrust his bayonet through the fleshy part of the other's shoulder. Their companions dispersed. Neither of the two was seriously wounded.

Sentinel Want Ads Pay.

NEEDS SALARY TO PAY TAXES.

City Employe to Contest Penalties Because Unpaid Himself.

Danville, Ill., April 20.—Conley Martin, police chauffeur, owes $18 in taxes. Because of the "wet" and "dry" fight in the city council the city has not paid salaries for six months, though $90,000 in gold, saloon license money, is in the city treasury. The "dry" members of the council have blocked all efforts to use this money for any purpose.

Martin has asked to pay taxes. He asked for a settlement of his wages and failed to get it. He then was notified that 5 per cent. interest was being charged since January 2. If by May 2 he fails to pay 5 per cent. is added and if he fails to pay by June 2, according to the notice he received, his home will be sold for taxes. Martin has employed counsel to contest the action.

Chile will send an official commission to the United States to make a thorough study of agricultural and industrial methods.

FREIGHT CLERKS GIVEN A BOOST

Chief Clerk George Miller, of the Wabash, Makes Some Changes.

George J. Miller, chief clerk at the Wabash freight office, has just made several changes in his clerical force, most of which are promotions of worthy young men. The change started with the resignation of C. J. Getty, rate clerk, who has gone to the Nathan Grain company. He has been succeeded by Clarence Patrick. Then came the resignation of A. H. Helmke to take a position in Toledo and he has been succeeded as revising clerk by R. A. Kendall, who in turn was succeeded by E. L. Rogers, advanced to abstract clerk. O. O. Goddard has been advanced to claim clerk, succeeding Mr. Rogers. L. Schaub, formerly shipping clerk at the Bass foundry, has been employed as assistant cashier and L. Rau, of Roanoke, has been employed as O. S. & D. clerk, succeeding J. A. Sullivan, who resigned to take a position in Detroit. All changes affecting the men already in the employ of the company are good promotions and follow a service of one or more years at the freight office. Mr. Miller said this morning that local business was good, that a great deal of paving and building material is coming in, besides an unusual lot of other incoming and outgoing freight.

WORKING ON FIELD DAY PROGRAM

The Committees Busy on Electro-Technic Event.

General Chairman F. G. Duryee, of the Electro-Technic club, has arrangements for the third field day event, which will be held at Swinney park June 24, well under way and promises a show better than anything of the kind ever pulled off here. J. B. Mills, chairman of the athletic committee, the most important of the events, has named his assistants and made other arrangements to make track events a success. Dr. F. J. Schulz will be the starter; J. H. Evans, A. L. Hadley and William Franke will be the judges; Nelson Bauer the clerk and Frank Gaffney and J. L. Birley the timers. There will be another event which promises to be exciting and interesting, the contest for the most popular girl at the factory. Every employe will vote on his choice and the girls who receive the highest number of bids will be the contestants for the prizes, which will be $10, $7.50 and $5. Each of these three girls will have charge of a ticket booth at which those who want cream, candy or any other article on sale at the stands must buy the tickets and the girl selling the most tickets gets the first prize, $10; the second gets $7.50 and the third $5. An automobile parade starting from the factory on Broadway will open the exercises for the afternoon. This will start at 12:30 o'clock, so that it can be finished by 1 o'clock, the hour at which time the athletic events commence. There will be thirty autos in the parade, all occupied by officials and employes of the company.

All of the industrial and other plants in the city where common labor is employed are short on help. NEW PRODUCT WINS FAME

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice Gains Rapidly in Popularity.

The new and delicious food, Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice, has been on the market only a short time and the fame that it has gained already in Fort Wayne has spread to other cities. The reason for this popularity is because of the recognized merit of Kre-Mo as a food. Realizing that rice forms the principal food of from one-third to one-half of the world's population, the manufacturers set about to prepare a delicious and nourishing product that would have all the good characteristics of rice, yet which would far surpass rice in every way, especially in the taste. The delightfully tempting flavor of Kre-Mo is the result. Order a package today or ask your grocer for a sample carton.

NEGRO CONFESSES TO ROBBING HOUSE

Two Under Arrest for the Theft of 100 Pounds of Lead Pipe.

Robert Mack, a negro, has confessed to Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert that he and Herbert Morning, another negro, broke into the old Montgomery Hamilton homestead, northwest corner of Clinton and Montgomery streets, now owned by Henry C. Paul and unoccupied, ripped up a hundredweight of lead pipe from the basement plumbing and sold it to a junker. The sale of the lead prompted the investigation and when it was learned who had disposed of it Detective Pappert started out to connect the robbery of the house with the merchandising of the negroes. Mack and Morning were arraigned in the city court Thursday morning on charges of petit larceny and the hearing was continued until Friday, the colored men going to jail in default of bond.

Fugitive Held for Officers.

Walter W. Staley, who says he is 21 years old and looks a good strong 40, was arraigned in the city court Thursday morning as a fugitive, and put under $500 bond to await the arrival of officers from Huntington, W. Va., where he is wanted for grand larceny. Staley is charged with having sold five sewing machines he took from an agency by which he was employed, selling the property and absconding with the proceeds, amounting to about $260. He was arrested early Wednesday evening by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on Calhoun street, the detective identifying the fugitive by means of a circular sent to the local department. Staley at first denied his identity, but later admitted that he was the man wanted. He came to Fort Wayne last Saturday accompanied by his wife, a very pretty woman of 17 years, who says she was married at the age of 15 years to Staley in Virginia after a courtship of two or three days. Mrs. Staley expresses confidence that her husband will be able to settle matters with the people he robbed in Huntington, W. Va.

Other City Court Cases.

Harry O'Brien, a hobo, arrested by Wabash railway officers here for train climbing, was turned loose.

Charles Meyer, of Milan township, who occasionally comes to Fort Wayne to break the drouth and usually winds up in a police cell, was in Wednesday morning on a drunk charge and drew $1 and costs.

Lizzie Guebard, who has been under a month's continuance in the city court on a drunk charge, convinced the court she had been sober during her probation and was allowed to go.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BABY.

Pushing the cart that carried her baby too close to the curb at Calhoun and Columbia streets, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Minnie Harrison, 744 West DeWald street, exposed her infant to danger when an interurban car swung around the corner. The go-cart was struck and hurled aside, the baby being thrown out. The cart was damaged but the babe was uninjured.

MAY HAVE GONE TO MEXICO.

The police have been asked to aid in finding Ralph Banet, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Louise Banet, who disappeared from home, 1602 East Pontiac street, on Sunday, April 2, and has not since been heard from. Mrs. Banet knows of no reason why he should have run away from home. He stood well at the Smith grocery, Anthony boulevard and Pontiac street, where he had employment and was in no trouble of any sort.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE
by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that it is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If your symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles; scant, copiou or foul-smelling urine accompanied by headaches, pains, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of balm-wort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cass.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as thatcan be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drugstore the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well-stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed ,and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks: "Tell me, please, how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be aenemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

FLAUNTED CRIMES BEFORE OFFICIALS

"Yellow Owls" is Biggest ... Smuggling Ring Yet ... Trapped.

Seattle, Wash., April 20.—A crook's psychology which netted a million!

"Slim" Lorti, "Yellow Owl" Leader.

Wagering their knowledge of human nature against the contrabandist's usual fate, a score of whites and Chinese, leaders of the outlaws, outwitted the port guardians of Seattle for more than a year.

They landed drugs and Chinese in broad daylight and at the most crowded wharves of the city—brazenly. Their speedy power boats time and again ran past waiting immigration patrols, with lights blazing and whistles tooting.

"We figured," said "Slim" Lorti, confessed leader of the ring, now awaiting prison sentence here, "that the best place to land contraband was at the most public and crowded places.

"One load of Chinese we landed within a stone's throw and within full sight of the immigration station. It was a splendid joke. Our very frankness disarmed suspicion time and again."

They proved that the watchfulness of officers and the confidence of the latter in their own impressiveness may offer an outlaw his best protection.

Thoroughly financed by some as yet unapprehended "higher ups," with ramifications extending from British Columbia to the Mexican border, the "Yellow Owls" operated on a gigantic scale.

It is estimated by Immigration Commissioner Henry White here than the ring cleared some $1,400,000 in the past year.

A crowd of smuggled Chinese who went astray caused the betrayal of the gang to the federal officials. Nearly 30 arrests have already been made, including the confessed ring leaders.

TOWN FEASTED ON FREE SPARERIBS

Rival Butchers, in Price War, Finally Gave Meat Away.

Salem, Ore., April 20.—War between two rival meat markets in Salem has led to a spirited price cutting contest in which the public reaped the benefit.

The two markets are opposite each other, and when one posted a sign, "Spareribs, eight cents a pound," the other followed suit with a sign quoting spareribs at five cents a pound.

Immediately the first shop posted another sign, cutting the price to three cents, while the rival came back with a drop to two cents a pound.

Not to be outdone, the rival announced, "Spareribs free."

The other market, undaunted at this, went one better, however, by posting a sign, "Spareribs free. We deliver 'em."

The street in front of the two markets become almost blocked to traffic when the last two signs apeared, and a majority of Salem residents had spareribs for dinner as a result.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Eat less meat if you feel Backachy or have Bladder trouble.

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Advertisement.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite and is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement.

THE SENTINEL'S SPECIAL SERIES OF HOLY WEEK SERMONS BY AMERICA'S SIX GREATEST EVANGELISTS.

Jesus Rose from the Dead and is Interceding With God for You and Me, Says Evangelist Biederwolf

BY REV. W. E. BIEDERWOLF
Revivalist of National Note, and General Secretary of the Commission on Evangelism of the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Text: "If Christ be not risen, your faith is vain"—1 Corinthians, 15:17.

There are other important subjects connected with the Christian religion

but hardly any as important as this one, for "If Christ be not risen," then is our preaching all in vain and your faith is vain.

No wonder the old devil has trained all the heavy artillery of hell against this great fortress, for when it goes, the throne of God must fall, all heaven must capitulate and it will be all off with the religion of Christ and nothing could make hell howl with delight more than this.

First, could God raise Jesus from the dead? When Paul preached the resurrection, those old epicurean and stoic philosophers up in Athens called him a "babbler." But Paul said, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible that God should raise the dead?"

Second, did God raise Jesus from the dead? "The disciples stole the body, then tried to deceive the people," you say. But, you say, the disciples laid down their lives for this thing, and no man would die for what he knew was a lie.

You say "Jesus only swooned, then revived and crawled out of the tomb." But how did he get the heavy stone rolled away. This view makes Him an unprincipled monster. The disciples thought he had died, but He knew He had only swooned, and yet this thing that remoulded all their lives, this thing that furnished them the ground of their hopes, this thing they depended upon to convert the world, this thing for which they had laid down their lives, He knew was a lie yet He never told them.

Yes, Jesus did rise from the dead. He ascended into heaven and He is there now at the right hand of God interceding for you and me. And every one who really knows Him is saying, "Hurry Jesus and come back again." For when He comes again, Paul says, even those who are asleep in Him will He bring with Him when He comes," and what a day that will be!

God pity the man who has no resurrected savior! God pity the man who has no living Christ! God pity the man who has no reigning Lord! God pity the man who has no hope and who has no faith!

Yield yourself to the risen saviour today!

PLAYERS WHO PREFER AFTERNOON WILL PITCH MONDAY AT THREE O'CLOCK

Play in The Sentinel horseshoe pitching contest will be called at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon, with all who prefer daytime to night pitching on deck. There are several dozen pitchers who have said that they would rather pitch in the daytime than at night, and they will be given the afternoon. The contest will be staged at Swinney park.

With the exception of those who pitch in the daytime, the doubles will be played off Monday night, and the singles Tuesday night, and if the contests last longer than the two nights and an afternoon the finals will be staged later in the week.

There are nearly 200 entered in the contest, and half of them are in the singles. Plans have been made for sixteen courts, and sixteen games will be played at once in the evenings to enable the contestants to get through and away as quickly as possible.

Players will be requested to report at the desk in the pavilion and singles and doubles will be paired and checked there. After each set (two out of three games of twenty-one points each being elimination) the players are requested to report at the table the result of the set.

HOW TO PITCH HORSESHOES, TOLD BY AN EXPERT

(By Charles R. Cox, Champion Horseshoe Pitcher of Ohio.)

Pitching horseshoes looks like easy sport to master, but in reality it is quite the opposite. It is one of the finest exercises in the world. You'll find it one of the really enjoyable ways of passing the long summer evenings.

By holding your shoe in the proper way you will find it easy to control. In starting your pitch hold shoe as shown in the accompanying illustration, heel calks down, thumb on top of the shoe, the index finger firmly grasping the lower portion of the heel calk, the middle finger curled under the shoe directly beneath your thumb and extending around the shoe so that the end of it rests on the inside upper edge, the tip of your fourth finger firmly touching the inside lower edge.

Many good pitchers do not curl the middle finger around the shoe as I have outlined, but they have developed their own style. The control of your shoe depends entirely on manipulation of your middle finger. Careful study of form shows that the best control of a shoe can be had with the middle finger held as I have outlined.

If you are pitching without your own shoes (and the only ones at hand are too heavy for you) or where the ground is muddy, making the shoes slippery, better control can be secured with a slightly different hold, had by curling the fourth finger around the shoe in addition to the middle finger, and shifting the little finger to a firm hold on the under side of the shoe. This will keep a heavy or slippery shoe from wobbling.

Champion Cox Showing Correct Way to Hold Shoe.

Perfect the arm movement. In starting your pitch, hold your shoe as I have described, in your pitching hand, at arm's length in front of you. (See illustration.) With the shoe in this position, start a full, free arm swing, which carries the shoe to arm's length behind you and back again to the point of starting, where the shoe is released by simply allowing it to slide from your fingers. Do not jerk or snap it in any way, as this will make it "wobble" in the course of its flight, and a wobbly shoe will not stay where it lights.

Pitch a medium high, flat shoe, allowing it, at the highest point, to reach an altitude of from twelve to sixteen feet. Aim at the peg, or point within an inch of it. Practice each day.

FRANKIE MASON HAS A PUSSY CAT

He Picked Her Up at Dayton as Reward of Merit.

Frankie Mason, local gnat-weight, was the hero of a heart-throb sketch pulled at Dayton last week. The local hard hitter was booked to meet Kid Dayton at the cash register town and the day of the fight was going through the Sullivan animal store.

"That's a beautiful cat," remarked Frankie, with an air that marked him as an admirer of feline beauty. "I'd like to own a beast like that."

"Look, here, kid," said Sullivan, "you lick that boy tonight and it's your cat."

Of course Frankie licked that boy, and for a moment had forgotten the prize, when Sullivan dragged the three-colored beast to the center of the group and presented it to the local boxer.

That explains why Mason came to town dragging under his arm a cross between a tiger and a kittie that was as big as he was, and twice as handsome.

PERU EXPECTS A REGULAR BATTLE

That Peru is expecting some game Sunday when Mart Cleary leads his Mad Anthonies to the town down the Wabash is evidenced by the following article from the Peru Journal:

"Mart Cleary's Fort Wayne team, which lost their first contest Sunday to the strong Defiance, O., team in a close finish, the score being 2 to 1, will be here next Sunday to cross bats with Peru's Greys.

"For several years Fort Wayne has held a berth in the Central league but this year the representative team of the town will play independent Sunday and holiday ball and will stage most of their games in their home city, as Fort Wayne is a strong baseball town. As the people of Fort Wayne have been used to league baseball it has been necessary for Manager Cleary to surround himself with a classy team in order to interest the fans of that city and it is certain that the Greys will not have the walkaway next Sunday that they had with the dusky braves from French Lick in their first game."

SPORT DOPE

Red Ainsworth has gone to the Terre Haute Central league club, his release having been purchased by Lefty Gilbert from the Omaha organization in the Western league. Red won the high honors among Central league pitchers last year with a total of twenty-four wins against nine lost.

Bade Myers' Muskegon Reds will start a series in Grand Rapids this week and the Wolverine towns are up in the air and excited over the prospects. Neighbors are so few in the Michigan bush that it's a pleasure to have one to fight with.

The Sentinel baseball team will be on the job at Lawton park Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will rush the Pennsylvania crowd through five innings. It's lucky for the Pennsy she has a big relief squad.

Vesta Stibbs is an Ohio lady. So much so in fact that she has become a professional racehorse trainer, and is making good in her new line of endeavor. Woman's sphere is expanding.

A great tennis meet is being planned at Cleveland, and seating stands are being erected for 6,000 spectators. The event will be thrown June 24 to July 1, and will be the day court national championship.

THE PROGRESS OF ATHLETICS

St. Louis, April 20—Amateur athletic greats who competed in the recent relay carnival at the Missouri Athletic association had a gay old time, according to club officials. After a round-up of the expense accounts the officials are preparing to send out bills to certain contestants demanding payment for cigarettes, drinks, long distance phone calls, etc., charged to the club.

One athlete, heralded about this section as a star, was found to have signed for no fewer than eleven drinks—not milk—in his twenty-four hour stag. A 25-cent package of cigarettes is included among the tabs. The athlete represented an eastern college.

Some of the performers signed for using the long distance phone to great advantage. The barbers and manicurists were busy while the famed collegians were in town. Some of those who found time hanging heavy played billiards and used tabs. None overlooked the bill of fare.

RED A FAST MAN.

If all the other members of the Cincinnati ball club can keep pace with "Red" Killifer this season the Herzogian outfit should travel a speedy clip in the present race. Tommy Griffith, also of the Reds, recently bet Killifer $10 that the latter couldn't run a third of a mile while a trotting horse, being exercised, stepped a mile. Killifer won with yards to spare.

The "Talking Machine" was a wonderful thing in its day, but there was a great difference between the tone of the artist's voice and that of the machine. The wonderful musical instrument, known as the Edison Diamond Disc, which so perfectly reproduces the voice of the singer or the tone of the instrument played, is so far ahead of other voice producing instruments that other makes are not at all in the same class. Foster's are Fort Wayne agents.

HOW MY DAD TAUGHT ME TO PLAY BASEBALL

Tenth of a Series of Photos, Posed Especially by Joe Tinker, Jr., for The Sentinel On How to Play Baseball.

BASE RUNNING.

Learn to start in a jiffy. That is the first point emphasized by my dad in teaching me to run bases. Make every move count. Get away—and when you do, hurry and keep going! It's one thing to get on first base, but a different matter to reach second.

A runner who isn't well up in the game will often make three or four false starts in the hope of drawing throws from the catcher to second, but a foxy backstop is hard to fool.

The pitcher is bound to keep his eyes on the base runner on first. This, however, will not prevent a good runner from stealing second. In addition the first and second baseman watch the runner on first, which means four brains plot against one. To beat this combination you must use not only your feet, but your wits, judgment and brains.

A runner should train for base stealing just as he would for any other athletic event. Practice sprinting with short halts. Learn to hook slide or go into the base with your body thrown to the side of the sack opposite that of the fielder and just tag the sack with your foot. Watch the coachers at first or third, but learn to rely on your brain.

HALF DOZEN TRUE BILLS EXPECTED

Grand Jury Will Probably Make Its Report Saturday Morning.

Rumors are about the court house that the grand jury has already taken testimony that insures the return of at least half a dozen indictments when that body's presentment is made. The jury is now expected to report not earlier than Saturday morning, when it is said that true bills will be laid before Judge John W. Eggeman in the circuit court. The two inquisitions upon which public attention is most fixed relates to the affairs of Henry P. Scherer, trustee of Wayne township, whose official conduct has been pretty thoroughly investigated, and the assaults made on street cars and street car men. The jury will visit the county institutions Friday, including the new county farm where the tuberculosis hospital and the home for boys and girls are situated. President W. C. Schwier, of the board of county commissioners, has offered to make arrangements for automobiles to take the grand jurors to the new farm.

SEWER WORK HOLDS TRACK ELEVATION

Moellering Company Finds Bas Mess in Drain in North Side.

Just when the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate railroads will be permitted to proceed with track elevation at Osage street is problematical. Nothing can be done until the sewer that will afford drainage to the subways is completed by the Moellering Construction company. The contractors are in the midst of a bad mess of quicksands and other obstacles and their progress is slow. About 800 feet of the sewer remain to be completed. The Lake Shore engineers notified the board a few days ago that they were ready to proceed with their bridge work as soon as drainage would permit.

COMPLAINTS OF WASTE PAPER.

Street Superintendent Herman Strodel and Deputy James J. Dormer are complaining of the laxity with which waste paper is taken care of by many business houses in the downtown district. The winds of the last few days have scattered this paper far and wide and the street cleaning department has been kept tolerably busy collecting it. The scattering of waste paper in streets and alleys is covered by ordinance, but the street department hopes there will be no necessity to invoke the penalties of that measure.

STREET-GRADING IS BEGUN.

Extensive operations in the grading of unpaved streets in many parts of the city have been inaugurated by Street Superintendent Strodel, who has enough work ahead to keep his men and machines constantly employed for some time. The dirt streets are getting into good condition for this work.

KERST BROTHERS WHO HAVE ORGANIZED NAZARENE CHURCH ON COLUMBIA STREET

REV. ALVIN E. KERST.

REV. F. P. KERST.

The Kerst brothers who started out on an evangelistic tour last February organized the Nazarene church on East Columbia street, this city, where they have been holding services each evening for several weeks. The meetings are to continue for another week. Rev. Bud Robinson and his evangelistic party from the west will be present on the two closing days, April 26 and 27.

Rev. Alvin E. Kerst was formerly an insurance man and followed that profession for many years, coming to Fort Wayne in 1914. He was converted at the Dr. Lyon's tabernacle meetings on January 31, 1915 and became a member of Trinity M. E. church. One month later he was granted a license as a local preacher.

Rev. F. P. Kerst, of Anderson, is a machinist by trade and when he felt that he was called to become a preacher, he answered the call and started to preach the gospel with success.

would cause almost another week to elapse before the German decision could be transmitted here. Ambassador Bernstorff refused to discuss his conversation with Secretary Lansing but indicated his call was not prompted by the arrival of instructions from his government. Regarding the hope held here by German officials for an amicable settlement one of them described the prospect as a "toss up."

Secretary Lansing explained in detail to the German ambassador the position of the United States and is understood to have expressed the sincere hope that the attitude of the German government would be so adjusted as to meet the position taken by the United States.

What He Told Lansing.

The ambassador was understood to have informed the secretary of the details of a message he sent yesterday to his government making certain recommendations which he believed if acceptable to his government would be satisfactory to the United States. In addition the ambassador informed the secretary of a message of a highly confidential nature he had received from Berlin.

Last night Count von Bernstorff appeared hopeful that some way would be found to prevent a break of relations. His manner today indicated that he was not so sanguine.

After returning to the embassy Count von Bernstorff prepared a long dispatch which probably will be sent to his government before night. The ambassador was authoritatively represented as having sought the secretary's views in regard to a tentative proposal that Germany issue immediately a declaration covering all submarine operations similar to that issued on Jan. 7 for the operation in the Mediterranean. How the suggestion was received was not divulged but the general belief is that no step will be considered until some definite response from Berlin has been received.

OPINION IS DIVIDED.

London Newspapers Discuss Probable Course of Germany.

London, April 20.—(2:30 p. m.)—Although recent dispatches from America had led the British public to expect a sharp note from the United States to Germany in regard to the submarine controversy, the language employed by President Wilson in his address to congress came as something of a surprise.

The evening newspapers generally refer to the note as an ultimatum, pointing out that although no date for a reply has been filed, Germany is expected to send its answer by the end of the week.

Opinion is divided as to what attitude Germany will adopt. Some of the newspapers take the view that public opinion will compel the Berlin government to refuse to comply with the demands of the United States. Others are equally certain Germany will abandon indiscriminate warfare rather than sever relations with the greatest of the neutral powers.

The note had little effect on the stock market, which was steady at the opening.

It is understood that a proposition advanced by Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education and a labor leader, will have the effect of reopening the voluntary enlistment scheme for a month or six weeks and that this proposal was accepted in principle by the cabinet with a view of ascertaining whether sufficient men would come forward for military service without the introduction of general compulsion.

The labor members, however, demand that all facts and figures regarding the military situation and requirements shall be submitted to the house of commons before the consent to any measure of universal conscription. This has not been confirmed officially.

TENEBRAE IS CHANTED.

Hundreds Attend Services at Cathedral Wednesday Evening.

The solemn office of the Tenebrae was chanted at the Cathedral church Wednesday evening and hundreds of people attended the service. A similar service will be held Thursday evening beginning at 7:45 o'clock. Besides the priests in the sanctuary who led in the chanting, a special choir formed by the clergy, local organists and choir members and led by Rev. Simon M. Yenn was present.

Thursday was observed in all the Catholic churches as Maundy Thursday, the day on which Jesus instituted the Lord's Supper. High masses were celebrated Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, followed by solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament to one of the side altars. The altars, which have been artistically decorated, were divested of their coverings and decorations, representing the stripping of Jesus as he was crucified.

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Jaws Torn Away.

The weapon which he used to commit his deed was a twelve gauge, double-barreled shotgun. He had loaded only one chamber. It is thought from the position of the body when found that he sat on the side of the bed and placed the muzzle beneath his chin and pulled the trigger with his other hand. The entire lower and upper jaw were completely blown away.

When the niece heard the shot she stepped to the door, but was afraid to look in and called neighbors, who at once summoned Dr. Stemen, as it appeared as Mr. Seaton was not dead. The physician stated that none of the shot entered the head, but that death was due to loss of blood.

Mr. Seaton had been in the employ of Mr. Thieme for over a year and was well liked by everyone who knew him. Seven weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Seaton went to New York city to visit with friends and while in that city Mrs. Seaton was taken seriously ill. Mr. Seaton made several visits to the city and last week when he arrived he found his wife in a critical condition. Since that time his general attitude was changed and his appearance showed that he was worrying.

The deceased was born in Scotland but had resided in this country for many years. Besides the wife, whose death is expected at any time, he is survived by a brother residing in Canada.

Coroner J. E. McArdle ordered the body removed to Klaehn & Melching's morgue.

strength of various Carranza garrisons in the vicinity before it could not have exceeded 1,500. According t othe dispatches it was the purpose of the commander who ordered the move to establish the force south of the most advanced position of Gen. Pershing's troops near Parral.

Previous advices, merely reporting that the Carranza troops were being moved toward Parral, had caused some speculation, but today's message was the first that sought to explain the matter. The most important aspect in the official viewpoint here, it was intimated, is the indication that the de facto government has not full control over all its military forces. The war department has been without direct advices from the troops in the Parral region for several days. Messages to the state department, however, have indicated that there has been no additional cause of alarm as to the situation.

It was learned authoritatively today that the United States has already acknowledged through Special Agent Rodgers, at Mexico City, the receipt of Gen. Carranza's note suggesting the withdrawal of the American troops. The instrutcions to Mr. Rodgers went some days ago. Gen. Carranza was informed that his argument was being given most serious consideration and nothing has come from Mr. Rodgers since then to indicate that the de facto government was dissatisfied over the delay in assembling data upon which a full answer to its note may be based.

BRYAN HURRIES TO WASHINGTON

Washington, April 20.—Telegrams from William J. Bryan announcing the hour he expects to arrive here and reiterating the opinion that it would be "a crime against civilization for this country to go into war," were the only intimations which Representative Bailey, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Bryan's spokesman in the house, had today of the Nebraskan's plans on his Washington visit.

Mr. Bailey recalled Mr. Bryan's statement that if war seemed to him imminent he would come to Washington, dropping anything else that he might have on hand. Mr. Bailey said Mr. Bryan woul dattend a testimonial dinner here tonight.

Sparks from a nearby chimney stack set fire to the one-story frame barn at 1802 South Calhoun street, Thursday morning. The loss amounted to $5.

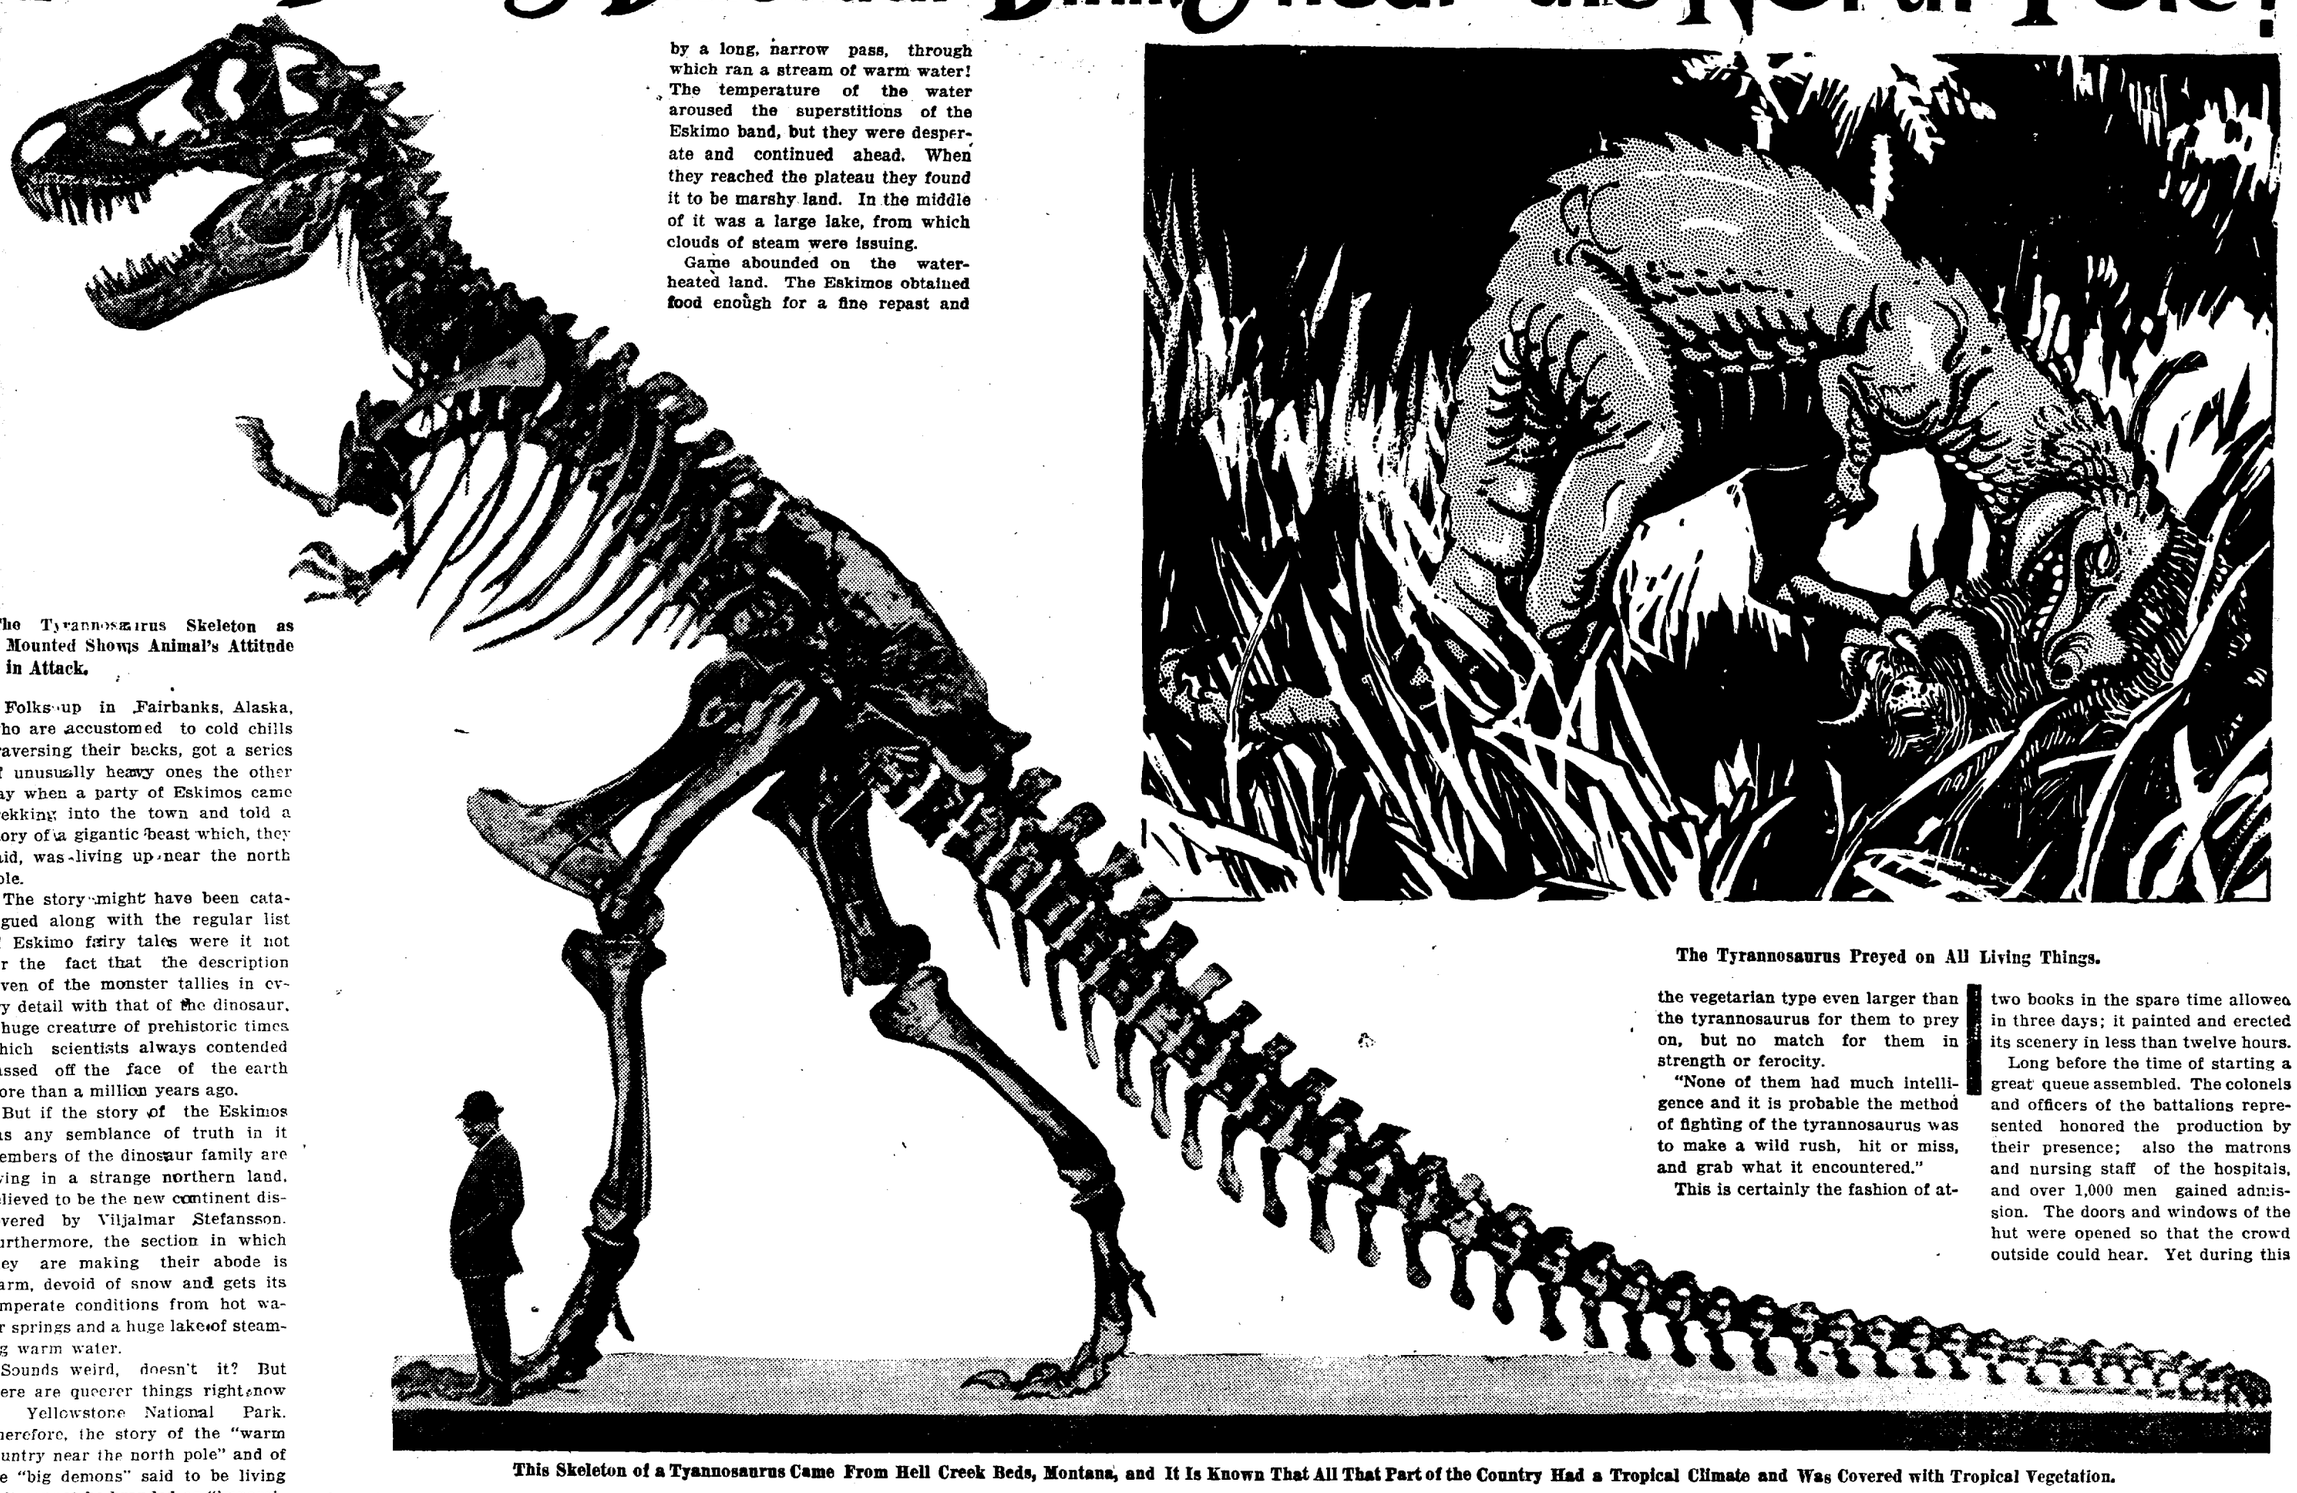
Is the Deadly Dinosaur Dining near the North Pole!



The Tyrannosaurus Skeleton as Mounted Shows Animal's Attitude in Attack.

The Tyrannosaurus Preyed on All Living Things.

This Skeleton of a Tyannosaurus Came From Hell Creek Beds, Montana, and It Is Known That All That Part of the Country Had a Tropical Climate and Was Covered with Tropical Vegetation.

Folks up in Fairbanks, Alaska, who are accustomed to cold chills traversing their backs, got a series of unusually heavy ones the other day when a party of Eskimos came trekking into the town and told a story of a gigantic beast which, they said, was living up near the north pole.

The story might have been catalogued along with the regular list of Eskimo fairy tales were it not for the fact that the description given of the monster tallies in every detail with that of the dinosaur, a huge creature of prehistoric times which scientists always contended passed off the face of the earth more than a million years ago.

But if the story of the Eskimos has any semblance of truth in it members of the dinosaur family are living in a strange northern land, believed to be the new continent discovered by Viljalmar Stefansson. Furthermore, the section in which they are making their abode is warm, devoid of snow and gets its temperate conditions from hot water springs and a huge lake of steaming warm water.

Sounds weird, doesn't it? But there are queerer things right now in Yellowstone National Park. Therefore, the story of the "warm country near the north pole" and of the "big demons" said to be living in it cannot be branded as "impossible."

WAS KING OF BEASTS.

Among those who heard the tales of the Eskimos was Henry C. Coe, Jr., son of Henry C. Coe, a famous New York physician. The story soon found its way to New York and then to the American Museum of Natural History. Officials of that great institution declared, after hearing of the "northern monster," that the description fitted in every detail that of the tyrannosaurus, a gigantic flesh-eating reptile of the cretaceous age, who in his time was the "king of beasts."

The tyrannosaurus was a member of the dinosaur family. A skeleton of one just has been mounted in the American Museum. It is forty-eight feet in length and eighteen feet high. Also it has a head like a barrel, and double rows of long, sharp teeth. While officials of the American Museum expressed themselves as being more than doubtful as to the truth of the story told by the Eskimos, they still, figuratively speaking, "held an ace in the hole" by quoting from "Hamlet:"

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio,
Than thy philosophy ever dreamed
of."

Now for the tale of the Eskimos. Several weeks ago a straggling band of them trailed into Fairbanks. A grizzled old man led them. He carried a piece of frozen flesh about a foot square. His band had skins to trade, and one of the white men who was dickering with them asked what they intended doing with the piece of frozen flesh. The old man drew back in apparent alarm.

"Him great luck-giver," he said. "We no sell him."

"Ugh! Far, far up," was the somewhat mystic reply. "No flesh, no bird that flies, no anything. Him come from big demon. Big demon kill two of our tribe. Him bring great luck."

SWEPT TO STRANGE LAND.

It was with difficulty and much patience that the trader got from the Eskimos the story of the frozen piece of flesh, which was the story of the "big demon."

The old Eskimo said that more than a year ago he and about fifty others were living on Thetis Island, off the northern extremity of Alaska. One day his son and eleven other men of the tribe went on a fishing expedition which carried them over the ice of the Arctic ocean. There was a sudden breaking up of the ice—one of those catastrophes of the far north which are the dread of every arctic explorer.

On a huge floe the twelve Eskimos were carried out to sea. They had a few fish with them. They also had a firemaking machine, but very little else. They devoured the fish raw and remained huddled together on the floe, fearful lest it should split up again and hurl them into the icy water. For many days they drifted in the Arctic ocean. The days stretched out into weeks, and the little band had given itself up for lost when far off through the northern mist land was sighted. The floe drifted in that direction.

The Eskimos saw not only land, but mountain ranges—a strange, new country to them. Making their way ashore they found signs of game—of the musk ox, the arctic fox and reindeer. Having their own primitive weapons with them, they managed to get food enough to keep them alive, and at the same time wandered inland, hoping to find human beings.

For many days, they said, they tracked through the mountainous country. Finally they reached the top of a particularly high ridge and there surveyed their surroundings. To their great joy they saw far off in the distance a land which to them appeared to have fertility in it. They began the journey toward it

But when they reached the bottom of the ridge the land was no longer in sight. Another observation showed that the seemingly fertile country was on a plateau, which made it invisible from the base of the mountains. So they journey toward the plateau. To their amazement, the snow became softer and finally disappeared entirely as they neared it.

The high, flat land was reached by a long, narrow pass, through which ran a stream of warm water! The temperature of the water aroused the superstitions of the Eskimo band, but they were desperate and continued ahead. When they reached the plateau they found it to be marshy land. In the middle of it was a large lake, from which clouds of steam were issuing.

Game abounded on the water-heated land. The Eskimos obtained food enough for a fine repast and then had their first comfortable sleep since they had been carried away from Thetis Island. After many hours their leader was aroused by peculiar whining noises. He peered over a rocky formation on which they had been sleeping and there, according to the story he told his father, and which the father repeated at Fairbanks, he saw a monster fully fifty feet in length, with a huge head, a long neck and a long tail. Its hind legs were large and powerful; its forward ones were short.

FIND BOILING LAKE.

Now, the Eskimo never had seen a kangaroo, but his description of the arctic demon fitted that of a kangaroo, except in the respective sizes of the two creatures.

The panic-stricken Eskimo aroused a companion and pointed toward the beast.

"The gods may have cursed us," said the companion. "They led us to a warm place with plenty of food and then they made our minds work the wrong way. We are seeing what is not, my brother."

This is according to the tale of the old Eskimo. The two men then aroused the other members of their party. All agreed that some 200 yards from them there flopped about in the marshy land a tremendous beast, which paused now and then to utter a peculiar whining sound—the noise that had attracted the attention of the Eskimo leader.

Being superstitious in the extreme, the Eskimos decided finally that the god of fortune had blessed them with comfort and then cursed them with false vision. To propitiate the god they told off two of of their number to approach the monster and speak to it in the hope it would vanish. The two young Eskimos started off reluctantly.

As they advanced toward the "demon"" it turned, eyed them for only a few moments and charged. The men easily dodged it, whereupon it turned, made a second charge, gave its tail a tremendous alligator-like twitch and felled the Eskimos. Then it deliberately hopped up to the prostrate and unconscious pair and devoured them.

PLATEAU A GRAVEYARD.

All of the remaining Eskimos still believed that they were laboring under some sort of a spell, that the monster was not real, that their companions had not been killed but would be restored to them by their "god of fate" as soon as they left the land of the hot water. So they crawled down from their rock eminence and crept away from the plateau. But in the snowy wastes food became scarce and finally they were compelled by hunger to return.

This time the "demon" was not in sight. The Eskimos killed what game they wanted and stocked up with plenty of food. Some of it they "cached" on the rock stretch on which they had slept. Then they proceeded to explore the plateau. It seemed to be an "animal graveyard." Bones lay on all sides. Evidently the "demon" had more of its kind, for in every direction were huge three-toed marks which could have been made by nothing but a monster of the species that had devoured the two men.

During one of the hunts by the Eskimos they came upon the dead body of a "demon." From it they cut a huge section of skin and flesh, to take with them as proof of their astounding experience. Then, over near the edge of the hot water lake, they saw a live "demon" pursuing a musk ox. It ran with a motion which the Eskimos described as a "tumbling rush." Without difficulty it overtook the panic-stricken musk ox and, as it had done with the two men, bowled the animal over with its bulky tail, then ate it.

That sight was too much for the little Eskimo band. They had seen enough. They voted to go back to the land of snow and ice and take no chances in the "domain of the demon."

So with the food they had "cached" they made their way off the fertile plateau, put back into the snowy mountains, wandered till the midnight sun disappeared and finally reached the ocean. There, footsore and heartsick, they put themselves on an ice floe and prayed to the "god of fate" to blow them back to their land. After many weeks they reached it and returned to Thetis Island, where they told their wonderful story. Then, to silence all doubters, they produced the piece of hide and flesh which had been taken from the dead "demon."

"And so me make him demon skin the good luck giver for tribe, and it bring plenty of luck," concluded the old Eskimo who told the story at Fairbanks.

Now, what do scientists say of it all? Dr. W. D. Matthews of the American Museum of Natural History made this declaration:

"There is no possibility of the race of dinosaurs or any other creatures of that period existing on earth today. There may be parts of the earth where the mammoth or the mastodon could exist, but not so the great dinosaurs."

Asked concerning the characteristics of the beast, and especially the tyrranosaurus, his remarks sounded remarkably like the description given by the Eskimo.

"It was the largest of flesh-eating monsters of the cretaceous period, which means that it lived three or four million years ago," said Dr. Matthew, "and it preyed on all living things, even the other dinosaurs, whether flesh-eating or vegetarians."

Concerning its fighting qualities and methods he said:

HAD LITTLE INTELLIGENCE.

"Their battles were mighty, and a fight between two of the tyrannosaurus type must have been a fearsome spectacle. The evidences are that they fought usually over some conquered and fallan animal. Our specimen, which is the only one mounted, is forty-seven and a half feet long, eighteen and a half feet high, as posed, and I may say the pose was selected for the mounting after a very careful study of the way the bones ought to be put together and the animal's habits as we know them.

"This skeleton," continued the doctor, "came fromo Hell Creek beds, Montana, and it is known that all that part of the country was in the time that these monsters lived close to sea level, had a tropical climate and was covered with tropical vegetation. There were huge animals of the vegetarian type even larger than the tyrannosaurus for them to prey on, but no match for them in strength or ferocity.

"None of them had much intelligence and it is probable the method of fighting of the tyrannosaurus was to make a wild rush, hit or miss, and grab what it encountered."

This is certainly the fashion of attack told about by the Eskimo, but Dr. Matthew smiled when reminded of it.

At any rate, the story of "the "great demon" is being told in all the igloos of northern Alaska these days, and Eskimo mothers are saying to their youngsters who insist on going out when the ice isn't any too solid in the Arctic ocean:

"Be careful, oh, little child. The god of fate may frown, and then the wind will blow and you will be carried to the land of the great demon."

And straightway the "boy" runs into the igloo, crying lustily, for all the Eskimo children believe the "demon over the water" isn't a living thing, but a ghost, and can travel anywhere in any length of time. Selah!

English Tommies Welcome Hamlet on the Firing Line.

Recently "Hamlet" was performed by soldiers of the British expeditionary force within a few hours' distance of the firing line. An officer of high standing who saw the play hit off the situation: "Our men do not live by bully beef alone; they need some food for the mind, and there is nothing better for them than the great thoughts of our great writers." The play was performed in costume, with scenery painted in camp, and with not a word misplaced or forgotten in the rendering.

Four scenes were chosen—the ghost scene, the room in the castle where Hamlet decides on revenge, the great soliloquy, and the graveyard. The cast was chosen on the spot, neighboring towns and libraries were scoured for copies of the play, as there was no time to send to England. Luck turned our way, copies were secured, and in a town close by was a branch of a Paris theatrical costumer. Horatio looked more like Henry VIII. on the Field of Cloth of Gold than the friend of Hamlet, while Hamlet's costume reminded one more of Mme. Tussaud's than of Sir J. Forbes-Robertson, but on active service one cannot be particular.

The company got itself together in an hour; it learned its parts from two books in the spare time allowed in three days; it painted and erected its scenery in less than twelve hours.

Long before the time of starting a great queue assembled. The colonels and officers of the battalions represented honored the production by their presence; also the matrons and nursing staff of the hospitals, and over 1,000 men gained admission. The doors and windows of the hut were opened so that the crowd outside could hear. Yet during this growing excitement we were shutting out the thought that any one of our company of actors and stage hands might be called on duty any minute, for most of them were standing by waiting to go to the firing line. The curtains were drawn and, instead of the usual respectful silence that greets the opening of a scene in Hamlet, there were yells of full-throated applause.

Hamlet was embarrassed by the cheers of the gods at the splendid fresh colors in the scenery, for many of these men had not seen stage colors since they left home, and for the time being Hamlet's scenery outshone Hamlet. Before the play was half through we breathed easily and knew the experiment to be justified. The life behind the scenes was distinctly of the emergency type. A careless gunner smudged out of existence a whole tower of Elsinore with his shirt sleeve. Men accustomed for many months to obey suddenly found themselves in command. One was told to stitch up a hole in silk hose with a darning needle, another wanted a belt. "Give him a puttee." "My face is too white for the footlights." "Here, stick on some red distemper," and I believe the red distemper is still "stuck on."

Couldn't Stop Crying.

A benevolent old man, seeing a little tot weeping, went up to it and said: "Now, be a good boy and stop your crying."

"I can't," sobbed the child.

"But why can't you?"

"I can't!"

"Well, here's a penny; tell me why you can't be a good boy and stop crying."

"Cause I'm a girl!"

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 20—Considerable strength developed in the wheat market today, based largely on New York stock market advances which were attributed in some quarters here to confidence that a break with Germany would be averted at the eleventh hour. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅞c higher, with May at $1.13 to $1.13½ and July at $1.13 to $1.13⅝, were followed by decided additional gains.

The market closed steady, ⅞c to 1⅛c net higher, with May at $1.14⅛ and July at $1.13⅞.

Corn weakened under heavy selling from a leading speculator who recently had been purchasing on a large scale. After opening ¼c off to a shade up prices underwent a slight further sag.

The close was easy at ⅛@¼c to ¼c net decline.

Oats had no independent action.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 20—Firmness marked the early dealings in today's market, affording a striking contrast to yesterday's uneasiness and excitement. The more active specialties, like Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum, Marine preferred, American Zinc and Industrial Alcohol, were higher by a point or more, with a gain of 2½ for Bethlehem Steel. The metal and motor groups were fractionally better, except Willys-Overland, which fell over a point. United States Steel opened unchanged but subsequently made slight improvement. Investment shares as a whole were steady but inactive.

Prices made further upward progress in the first hour but dealings fell away on the advance, which encouraged the short interest to renew operations for the decline. Moderate selling of speculative issues resulted in average recessions of a point. Industrial Alcohol losing three. Later the market hardened again with foreign favorable advices. Trading was obviously professional, commission brokers reporting almost entire cessation of yesterday's liquidation. Bonds were steady, with nominal dealings.

Unsettlement became more general in the last hour, some of the vulnerable specialties then falling considerably under yesterday's lowest prices. The closing was heavy.

Open to Anyone.

This offer is open to everyone. There are no restrictions of any sort placed upon candidates except those of residence and respectability. To make this offer as liberal as possible, we do not even stipulate that candidates have to be subscribers to The Sentinel. Candidates are privileged to secure votes and subscriptions wherever possible. This offer is one of the most liberal ever made to a gathering of young women, and its magnitude is being fully appreciated by the young women of Fort Wayne and its surrounding territory as is testified to by the number of nominations already received by the Campaign department.

This campaign, by the distribution of such a number of prizes, and the value attached thereto, becomes one of statewide importance. Thousands of people will watch closely the standings of the various candidates, and for this reason the standing of each candidate will be published three times a week after the first publication of the names of the candidates. All will then know just how the race is progressing, and friends of candidates will be enabled to keep in close touch with the work of their favorites.

As to Present Subscribers.

So many inquiries have been received from persons who are already taking the paper in regard to their subscription payments, that we will state for the benefit of these, as well as others, that every payment of $1.50 or over made on subscriptions entitles the person making such payments to votes, according to the scale of votes published in the paper each day. These votes may be secured at The Sentinel office when making such payments. On the money may be paid direct to the candidates.

Married women as well as single are privileged to enter the campaign. No restriction as to their state in life is made. A number of nominations have already been received from married women, as well as numerous inquiries, and we will state that whether you are married or single, you are entitled to enter.

First List Soon.

In a few days the first list of the names of candidates will be published, showing the number of votes received for each candidate up to that time. After this publication, the list of candidates, with the number of votes deposited for them each day, will be published three times a week.

Of course, nominations can be made after this list is published, but the advantage of having your name in this list and bringing to the notice of your friends the fact that you intend to win one of these prizes and want their support, is too obvious to be overlooked.

Any young woman who desires to enter the campaign and win one of the magnificent prizes offered should see to it that her name is at once sent to the Campaign Manager.

Candidates should at once interest their friends in the campaign and by united and energetic effort induce as many as possible to vote for them.

The nomination blanks will only appear for a limited time, and only a limited number of nominations will be accepted. Cut the nomination blank from this issue and send it to The Sentinel with your name and address or that of your favorite candidate. A subscription is not necessary, but a good start means much. The name of the person making the nomination will not be divulged.

The prizes will be awarded at the finish of the campaign, and may be used by the winners themselves or disposed of as they see fit. Any young lady residing in the territory is eligible to compete.

Coupons Are Valuable.

The coupons clipped from each issue of The Sentinel have a valeu of ten votes each and any person may fill these out and send them in for a candidate. Special voting ballots are issued on every subscription ballot and these have a value in proportion to the amount of the payment. These ballots may be held as long as is desired and voted at any time up to the close of the contest, but coupons clipped from the paper are only good for votes within ten days of the date of issue.

Persons living in one district are not confined to voting for candidates in that particular district, but may vote for candidates in any district.

Enter the name of the young woman for whom you wish to secure one of these splendid awards at once. She may win one of the magnificent prizes. Better still, get the young lady to enter her own name, and then vote for her. Those who get in at once have the best chance of winning, so it is desirable that her name be entered at once in order to get a good start. Enter your name and your friends will do the rest. You will be surprised to see how rapidly the votes came in, and how little effort is necessary in order to win one of these prizes. Get in at the start and encourage your friends to vote for you; the rest will be easy. You will never know how popular you are until you enter a contest of this kind.

CAPT. LANE WILL SEEK STEFANSSON

Old Arctic Navigator to Go After Explorer and His Party.

Seattle, April 20.—Captain Louis L. Lane, an Arctic navigator of long experience, announced here today that he will leave Seattle for the Arctic ocean about June 1 in a 300-ton power schooner now being built here, and expects to return to Nome or Seattle next autumn with Vilhjalmur Stefansson and the other members of the Canadian government exploring expedition that sailed from Victoria, B. C., for the Arctic ocean June 17, 1913. Capt. Lane plans to be at Banks Land, in the Polar Sea, about August 5, and to meet Stefansson there. Lane, in the power schooner Polar Bear, took Stefansson and two companions from Banks Land to Herschel Island last August, and afterward sold the Polar Bear to Stefansson, who returned to Banks Land with this boat and the small power boat Gladiator, intending to pass the winter in exploration of Banks Land and then, on the breaking of the ice this spring, making further exploration of the new land which he discovered last year, north of Melville Island. Capt. Lane is now in Seattle supervising construction of his schooner.

Capt. Lane is going north, not under contract with the Canadian government, but under a verbal agreement with Stefansson. Lane's new power boat, which probably will be named the Great Bear, will be of wooden construction, and the strongest ice-resisting vessel ever built on Puget Sound. Lane will take with him gasoline and other supplies for the Stefansson fleet. Stefansson has asked the Canadian government to permit his parties to continue their work a year longer, but it is believed that on account of war conditions the explorers will be ordered home. The expedition was planned to continue three and a half years.

Unless ice movements are unfavorable, Capt. Lane expects to reach Banks Land at the time fixed upon. If he has good fortune, he will call first at Herschel Island, where he may receive word from Stefansson. If he does not get instructions there, he will proceed north to Banks Land, making stops at points agreed upon last year, where Stefansson may have letters or men waiting for Lane. If may be that the explorers will choose to return to Nome in their own boats, the power schooners Polar Bear, Alaska, Mary Sachs and North Star, but the vessels probably will be out of repair and unable to make the quick voyage that will be necessary to elude the treacherous ice, which closes upon the coast rapidly in early autumn. If all goes well, the explorers should arrive in Nome soon after the middle of September.

The Stefansson expedition from the beginning was divided into two parties. The northern, under Stefansson, planned to seek new land in the Beaufort sea, and succeeded, notwithstanding the loss of the principal boat, the whaler Karluk, which was crushed in the ice the first winter out. The southern party, under Dr. Rudolph Anderson, has been exploring and charting the delta of the Mackenzie river and the country to the east, and also making a geological survey of the islands and mainland at the mouth of the great river, making especial search for copper and coal. Copper nuggets abound along the waterways, and the Eskimos make their weapons and utensils of beaten copper. Stefansson, who discovered blue-eyed Eskimos in the Coronation gulf country, east of the Mackenzie, some years ago, these people being, he believed, descendants of the ancient Scandinavian settlers in Greenland, is not revisiting these Eskimos during his present journey. Stefansson and Anderson have a large amount of information and material, and will make a complete report to the Canadian government. Stefansson will publish a book describing his discoveries.

A dispatch from Christiania, Norway, announcing that Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the northwest passage and the South Pole, plans to set out on a North Pole expedition in the spring of 1917, by way of Bering Strait, interests Arctic navigators greatly. Amundsen intended to leave San Francisco several years ago, sail from Bering Strait toward the North Pole and return between Spitzbergen and Greenland. He abandoned his voyage because of lack of funds. In the years that have elapsed motor boat progress has been rapid, and new engines that burn small quantities of fuel have simplified Arctic problems. Amundsen will use a 100-ton power boat.

Gerard Delivers U.S. Note Today

REPLY BY WEEK-END MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE

Von Bernstorff Tells Lansing German Answer Cannot Reach Washington Within Time Tentatively Allotted.

Berlin, April 20.—(Via London.)—The American note to Germany arrived in Berlin late yesterday evening.

SOME DELAY IS PROBABLE.

German Reply May Not Come Before Ten Days.

Washington, April 20.—The United States government having given the last word to Germany in the submarine controversy turned today with grave expectancy to Berlin where rests the decision whether the imperial government shall abandon its present methods of submarine warfare or break with Washington.

President Wilson probably will await at least until the end of the week for Germany to reply to his virtual ultimatum which declares the intention of the United States to sever diplomatic relations unless the Berlin government "immediately" gives up the use of submarines against commerce and squares her submarine policy with the principles of humanity and international law.

No Time Limit.

No time limit was set in the communication, but the president is known to hold the opinion that three or four days would be a reasonable period to allow Germany for a decision. If none is forthcoming within a reasonable time the step accomplishing a break in relations with all its grave possibilities will be taken. Count von Bernstorff, Germany's ambassador, would receive his passports and American Ambassador Gerard at Berlin would be instructed to come home.

Congress assembled today impressed with the deep significance of the president's action. The dispassionate words in which Mr. Wilson yesterday told a joint session of congress called for this purpose took on a fuller space of meaning which in the note to Germany, almost identical with the address in outline and phrase, revealed in what unmistakable terms the American government had declared itself.

Von Bernstorff Still Hopeful.

Count von Bernstorff, optimistic throughout the long negotiations that have approached a crisis, though less near several times before, was hopeful that his government would find a way to prevent a break in relations.

Last night he sent a long message to Berlin, said to recommend that some such assurances as were given regarding submarine operations in the Mediterranean should now be thrown around all submarine operations.

Appendix to Note.

An appendix to the note deals with the Sussex, the torpedoing of which is said to be proved by evidence and substantiated by the German disclaimer of responsibility. Facts in the appendix show that three American army and naval officers found in the Sussex screw bolts corresponding to those used in German torpedoes. Identification marks on these bolts correspond with those on German torpedoes in possession of the French government. The American officers also found thirteen pieces of metal which they have identified as parts of German torpedoes.

Copies of the note have been sent to the representatives here of neutral nations.

Senator Kern, majority leader in the senate, said at the white house today he believed there was a general disposition in the senate not to discuss President Wilson's address on the note to German. Discussion, he said, could do no good and might do harm. He added that no action on the part of congress was called for and he should not expect that any would be taken.

Lansing Makes No Statement

Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador went to the state department today for a conference with Secretary Lansing on the submarine warfare situation and also to discuss the arrest in New York of Wolfe von Igel, secretary of former German military attache von Papen.

Secretary Lansing and the German ambassador were in conference fully twenty minutes. After the ambassador left the secretary of state would make no statement regarding the discussion which took place.

May Require Ten Days.

After the conference it was learned that German diplomats regard the receipt of a reply from Germany within two or three days as physically impossible. It was thought a reply could not be received here before ten days. It was pointed out that Easter Monday is a holiday in Germany and that necessary consultations of officials

EMPLOYE, STRUCK BY MATE, GETS DAMAGES

Employing Company Liable, Says State Industrial Commission.

Noblesville, Ind., April 20.—The Indiana industrial commission has notified the attorneys interested in its ruling in the case of Frank L. Davis against the Union Sanitary Manufacturing company, of this city, in which the plaintiff sought damages for personal injuries.

In awarding $1,024 to Davis, payable in 150 weeks at $6.60 a week, the commission held that where one employe of a concern is injured by another employe when both are on duty, the person who is hurt may recover damages.

It is said that this is the first time the commission has passed on that question. Davis was employed by the company as a molder and one morning when he discovered that the ladle in which he carried hot iron had not been properly lined with fire clay, he registered a complaint with the employe whose duty it was to look after this work. A quarrel followed and the employe struck Davis with an iron rod, breaking his arm. It was for that injury that damages were granted.

MORE POPULAR YOUNG LADIES ENTER RACE

Luxurious Awards in Sentinel Campaign Attract Great Attention---First List of Candidates Soon.

Nominations of candidates in The Sentinel's $5,000 campaign are coming in rapidly; and every district is represented. From every section of the territory covered by this paper have the names come, and the general interest being manifested in the campaign is best shown by the number and high character of these nominations, a source of much satisfaction to The Sentinel.

The value and attractiveness of the awards have proved strong incentives for the young women of this section, and already a keen and spirited though friendly rivalry has sprung up among a number, all of whom have firmly made up their minds to become the possessor of the handsome first grand prize, 1916 Paige "Fairfield Six" touring car, or one of the other three handsome cars. Such general interest shown at this early stage of the campaign demonstrates a determined effort on the part of candidates to win, and without a doubt establishes the popularity of The Sentinel Campaign.

We have received many requests from persons who desire to know whether or not one candidate can be nominated by more than one person. As many as wish can nominate the same candidate, but one, and one only of the nomination blanks, which are good for 5,000 votes, will be counted for a candidate. But, if you have some young woman in mind, whom you would like to see win one of these splendid prizes, do not hesitate about nominating her, even if you think someone else may have already done so. Better make sure than to let her lose out altogether. And even if some one else has sent in her name your doing likewise will do no harm, as but one of the blanks will be counted, but you will have made sure that the candidate of your choice is in the race.

Anyone May Nominate.

Anyone has the privilege of nominating a candidate, and it is not necessary to be a subscriber in order to do so. Neither is it necessary that the candidate be a subscriber. Simply clip the nomination blank from this issue of the paper, fill it out according to the directions printed thereon, and send it in at once.

ENDS HIS LIFE WITH SHOTGUN

Donald Seaton, Caretaker at Thieme Country Home, a Suicide.

Holds Weapon Beneath Chin and Both Jaws Are Blown Away.

Worry over the illness of his wife, who is said to be hovering between life and death in a hospital in New York city, is presumed to have prompted Donald Seaton, 40 years old, caretaker at T. F. Thieme's suburban home, near the Country club, to commit suicide at 8:30 o'clock Thursday morning. Seaton used a shotgun with which to end his life.

When his niece, Miss Lillian Smith, arose Thursday morning she noticed that Mr. Seaton was worrying and that he was not himself. About 8:15 o'clock he came in the house after completing some morning chores and walked into the bedroom on the first floor of the house, stating that he intended to change shirts.

Miss Smith states that she heard him move something in the room which sounded very much like the shotgun, but

DYNAMITE EXPLODES AT SITE OF NEW DAM

Cincinnati, April 20.—The explosion of a large quantity of dynamite and powder in a temporary frame structure on the site of the dam that is being built near New Richmond, Ohio, today did damage estimated at $50,000 and will stop work on the new dam for several weeks.

Officers of the National Contract company, builders of the dam, announced the loss of machinery, tools, drawings and records which were destroyed by a fire which started from an overheated furnace in the machine shop and was the cause of the explosion.

Report on Movement of Carranza Army Gives Some Concern.

PLAIN HINT OF RESISTANCE SEEN

Gathering at Parral May Be Without Sanction of Carranza.

Washington, April 20.—Official advices to the state department today noting recent movements of Carranza troops from Chihuahua to the Parral region caused some concern among administration officials.

The dispatches expressed the opinion that the movement was intended as a hint to the American forces that they might expect at least a show of opposition if they sought to penetrate farther into Mexico than their present position. It was added, however, that there was every indication that the movement was made without the knowledge or consent of Gen. Carranza or his war minister, Gen. Obregon.

No estimates as to the number of men involved was communicated. Officials here have been basing their figures on previous reports as to the

NEW DEMAND IS MADE FOR VON IGEL PAPERS

New York, April 20.—Another demand for the return of the papers seized from the office of Wolfe von Igel, under indictment to destroy the Welland canal, was made upon Federal District Attorney Marshall by John B. Stanchfield, the defendant's attorney.

The district attorney said Mr. Stanchfield had maintained that von Igel's office, formerly that of Captain von Papen, recalled German military attache, was in effect German territory and that the intrusion of agents construed an "invasion."

Mr. Marshall said he replied that the matter rested for decision with the Washington authorities. Meantime he had no alternative but to proceed with teh case.

AGAIN STARTS BANK ACCOUNTS FOR BOYS.

Vincennes, Ind., April 20.—For the ninth consecutive year, Jake Gimbel, of this city, has started bank accounts of $1 each for 100 Vincennes boys from nine to twelve years old in the public and parochial schools. Mr. Gimbel wishes to encourage boys to save money. The 100 boys are selected by their teachers. The $1 belongs to the boy as soon as he earns a dollar.

CZAR'S FORCES SOON ON WEST BATTLE LINE

A strong force of Russian troops disembarked at Marseilles at noon today to fight beside the allied soldiers in France.

Berlin reports the capture of an important line of British trenches in Belgium.

The French again have taken the offensive in the Verdun battle and launched attacks against the German lines on the right bank of the Meuse. Paris declares the aggressive movement was successful, resulting in the capture of portions of German trenches and a redoubt, and in the taking of several hundred prisoners.

According to a London dispatch the British coalition government has been given a new lease of life, a settlement having been reported in the cabinet crisis over the question of conscription.

A plot of wide scope conducted for the purpose of causing a revolution in India is announced from London to have been uncovered as a result of the seizure last February of German and Austrian subjects on the liner China, bound from Shanghai for the United States.

London, April 20.—Russia has come to the aid of France and Great Britain in the great struggle on the western front, sending a strong force of troops to fight with the entente allies there. The Russians disembarked at Marseilles at noon today, their arrival being noted by Gen. Joffre, in the order of the day, the French commander in chief citing their coming as another striking proof of Russia's devotion to the common cause of the allies.

The Russians are believed to have embarked for France from the port of Archangel on the White sea, the only port through which there is free communication between Russia and her allies in the west. It is considered probable that the transports carrying the troops made a wide sweep out into the North Atlantic before heading for the Mediterranean to avoid the submarine danger zone in the vicinity of the British Isles.

In this connection it is to be noted that private cable dispatches today declare that Russia has closed the port of Archangel to all except government vessels. This may indicate that further troop movements are under way.

Several times during the war there have been reports that Russia was sending troops to the Franco-Belgian front, travelers even declaring that detachments hade been seen en route through Scotland and England. No such troops have ever appgared on the western battle line, however.

GERMANS DRIVE BRITISH OUT.

Berlin, April 20.—British trenches for a distance of 600 meters betwen Langemarck, and Ypres, Belgium, have been occupied by German troops, according to the officials statement given out at the army headquarters today.

FRENCH TAKE OFFENSIVE.

Paris, April 20.—(12 m.)—French troops took the offensive last night in the Verdun region on the right bank of the Meuse. The war office announcement of this afternoon says that they captured parts of German trenches, occupied a redoubt and took several hundred prisoners.

French resistance in the region of Verdun is compelling the German general staff to withdraw large forces from the Teuton front in Macedonia and Serbia and in Russia, according to information obtained today from the highest military authorities here.

Cabinet Crisis Settled.

London, April 20.—(2:07 p. m.)—It is stated authoritatively that a settlement has been reached in the cabinet crisis.

London, Wednesday, April 19.—(6:16 p. m.)—As the result of the seizure of German and Austrian subjects aboard the China mail liner China last February while bound from Shanghai for the United States, the intelligence department of the British government claims to have uncovered a plot of immense ramifications conducted with the purpose of causing a revolution in India.

The American headquarters of the plotters is said to be on the Pacific coast. At least one ship is known to have sailed from San Francisco with a German crew and Indian conspirators and arms on board.

The headquarters of the plot in the Orient was at Shanghai, and when the gun running and other machinations were uncovered according to the authorities here, the plotters set sail for Manila aboard the steamship China.

Must Either Get Out or Move on a Bigger Scale

San Antonio, Texas, April 20.—Early withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico, or the authorization of military operations on a big scale must result from Gen. Hugh L. Scott's investigation of the situation in the opinion of army officers here. Gen. Scott is due in San Antonio Friday night.

Gen. Pershing is not pushing his campaign against Villa and will not until he gets authority and facilities to operate more freely. Officers of Major General Funston's headquarters here believe the facts in the case showing the futility of extending the expeditions along the existing lines will convince General Scott of the hopelessness of further pursuit, unless the commanding officer in Mexico is given more effective backing.

Villa—if he is alive—can be caught, officers here believed, only by the adoption of a plan that Mexicans almost certainly would characterize as a war. He has penetrated so far into Mexico and the hostility of Mexicans, both friends of Villa and adherents of the de facto government, has become so marked that army officers are convinced further operations must be undertaken with the understanding that armed opposition by both factions will be met.

Women's Headquarters at the Old High School

Announcement was made Thursday by the Centennial association that the old high school building on the north side of Wayne street, between Calhoun and Clinton, would be known as the woman's building during the centennial celebration.

The various rooms will be arranged for the comfort of women and children with wash rooms, cots, chairs and every convenience. Competent women attendants will be in charge.

Besides being used as a place to rest, the exhibits to be prepared by the women will also be placed there. Because of the central location of the old high school building a more desirable place could not have been found. The building will be used throughout the entire week as headquarters for the women.

Has Fortune Coming; Goes to County Farm

Although the heir of a vast fortune left to him by a relative in Holland and which he expects to receive within the next two weeks, Walter Monberg, 57 years old, was taken Thursday from Hope hospital to the county poor farm. He is critically ill and there is little hope for his recovery, according to the attending physician.

Monberg has letters and legal papers which he has shown to Trustee Henry P. Scherer to prove that the fortune he claims has been left to him and he is now awaiting receipt of it.

At the present time Monberg is penniless and is a township charge. He has resided in Fort Wayne for about a year and has made a livelihood doing odd jobs. Some days ago he was taken ill and going to the Hope hospital asked to be taken in. He was given a room and immediate medical attention for it was realized that his condition was serious. Trustee Scherer was then notified and Thursday he had him removed to the county farm. He has no relatives living in this country.

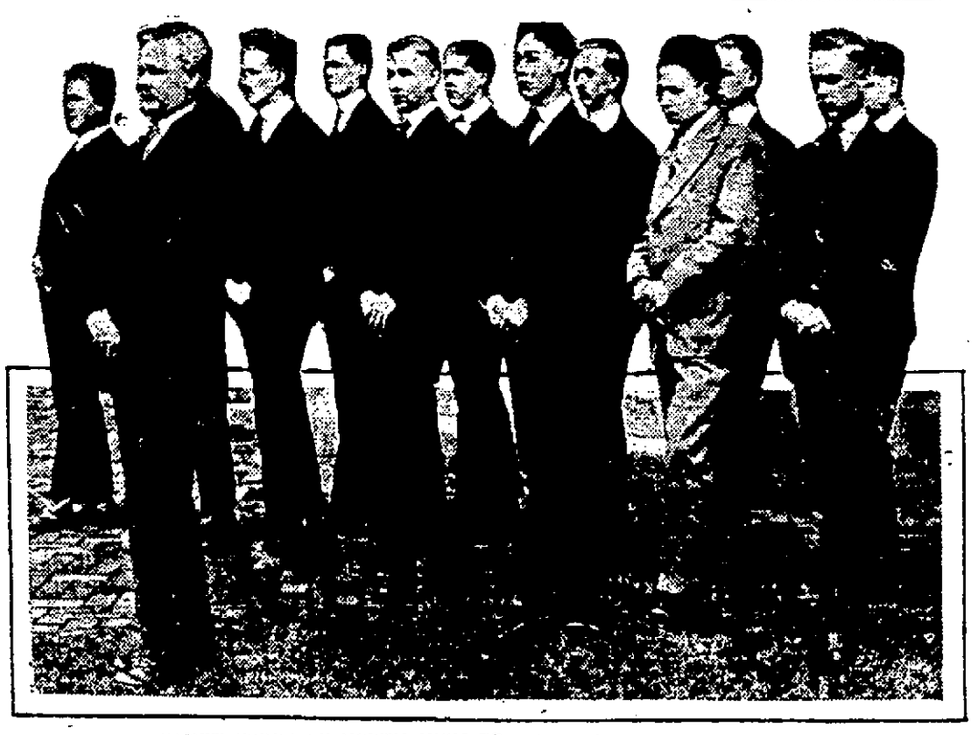
HIGH SCHOOL CADET PLAN SPREADS—HITS OHIO CITY.



CADET CORPS OF NORTH HIGH SCHOOL, COLUMBUS, O., IN DRILL.

The high school cadet system, started in Wyoming where high school cadets have been drilled to a high point of efficiency, is spreading.

Boys of North high school, Columbus, O., have organized a cadet corps and application has been made to the government for real U. S. A. uniforms and equipment.

The high school cadets of Wyoming were given equipment by Uncle Sam and placed under the tutelage of an officer of the United States army.

Growing Belief Now Being Strengthened by New Versions.

El Paso, Tex., April 20.—The growing belief that Francisco Villa is dead, whether or not his body has been recovered, was strengthened today by messages received by American mining concerns here from their agents at Cusihuiriachic, Parral, Santa Barbara and Guerrero.

All of these messages agreed that the report of Villa's death was common among the peons in northern Chihuahua and was generally accepted as true. One very circumstantial story sent to the head of a mining concern operating in the Guerrero district by his Mexican superintendent was positive that Villa had been buried in the neighborhood of San Francisco Barjaro, the hamlet where the grave of the bandit has been reported found. His story gave a number of details regarding Villa's death, but it was discounted by the fact that it related to the alleged murder of an American woman by the bandit just prior to his death. As all American women who have been in northern Chihuahua during the past year have been accounted for, little credence was given to this feature of the story.

The alarmists here have seized greedily on a proclamation issued in Parral, calling on all Mexicans to unite to resist the American invaders and purporting to have been issued by Gen. Obregon, secretary of war. As similar proclamations appear almost daily in Juarez and are suppressed by Gen. Gavira as speedily as they appear, little attention was paid by men familiar with Mexico to this latest proclamation.

Reports from Chihuahua say absolute quiet reigns in the state capital and that there has been no signs of hostilities towards the Americans, especially as it has been reported that the United States soldiers were being withdrawn from Mexico.

INDIANS FOR CENTENNIAL

BAND OF 100 TAMED SAVAGES COMING

Local "Red Men" to Help —Doings in Centennial Circles.

Just to make the thing more real than it would otherwise be, the United States government has consented to "loan" to the city of Fort Wayne a large contingent of Indians from one of its reservations for use during the coming June centennial.

The Indians, to the number of one hundred, will be brought to the city for the entire Centennial week. They will be separated into camps at various convenient places, such as Old Fort park, Reservoir park, and some of the downtown cleared spaces.

The tamed savages were secured through the efforts of Congressman Cyrus Cline, through whom Chairman E. C. Miller reached the proper department officials at Washington.

Mr. Miller hasn't as yet received full particulars of the visit of the red men, but as it is the custom of the government to provide vacations for its charges during the summer months they will probably be brought from Oklahoma or one of the western reservations.

To Play Indian Parts.

The members of Mechecanochqua tribe of Red Men have come forward and offered themselves, their services, their war paint and feathers, their warwhoops and their enthusiasm to add to the success of the big pageant. Chairman Frank E. Stouder, of the pageant committee, is grateful to the Red Men for coming forward, and, inasmuch as their tribal name of Mechecannochqua means "Little Turtle" in English, there is a close connection between the fraternal order and the spirit of the pageant. Doubtless, too, the Red Men will make a good showing in the fraternal day parade on Tuesday, June 6.

Seat Sale Next Week.

Chairman Sam Wolf will be ready to start the pageant seat sale next week. He has things well organized and there will be a rush for places in the big amphitheater.

People in outside cities may feel assured that the Centennial management will see to it that they have an opportunity to make good seat reservations for the pageant.

Will Return Saturday.

Pageant Master Donald Robertson will be down from Chicago the latter part of this week to give further attention to the choosing of characters for the pageant. Many who did not meet with Mr. Robertson last Saturday will be asked to meet this week Saturday, at 1:30 o'clock, at Saengerbund hall, corner of West Main street and Maiden lane.

The Transportation Committee.

S. K. Blair's committee on transportation of the crowds to and from the centennial celebration is making elaborate preparations to advertise the event along the steam and electric lines as soon as the official poster is received from the lithographer. Every village and hamlet on all connecting lines within a radius of one hundred and fifty miles of Fort Wayne will be beautifully placarded.

Moose Are Busy.

The Moose lodge is working on the details of the dedication of its new home on the opening day of the centennial celebration. Many hundreds of out-of-town members of the order will be here to participate in the ceremonies and to March in the fraternal day parade.

Speaking Parts Ready.

The printer has completed the making of the books containing the speaking parts of the pageant, and these are being given out as fast as the characters are determined upon. One thing which is pleasing to those who will have parts in the big show is the brevity of the assignments. The story of the book covers such a vast space of time that very few characters appear in the play in more than one scene. Exceptions to this rule are Little Turtle and General Wayne, who appear in the Battle of Fallen Timbers scene and also in the scene of the fort dedication; General William Henry Harrison, who is a lieutenant under Wayne in one scene and who appears as the leader of the army of relief in 1812.

Other Cities Want to Know.

Outside newspapers are appealing for news of the Fort Wayne Centennial celebration. While some of the home folks are still asking, "What's it all about?" the people of other cities are alive to the bigness of Fort Wayne's coming big blowout.

For Tired Women and Children.

Chairman E. C. Miller has his mind set on one thing above all other things. "We must look out for the comfort of the women and children," says he, with emphasis. "I want to say right here that when these people come to Fort Wayne upon our invitation, we must make it our first business to see to it that they have the greatest time of their lives. People can't have a good time when they're tired, and I propose to make it my chief concern to see to it that there is a sufficient amount of resting space and comforts and conveniences for everybody. I know what it means for a mother and a child or two or three to come to town and spend a day with crowds everywhere, and I tell you we are going to have places where they can go and rest and wash and make themselves at home with competent, trustworthy persons to look after their needs. We'll have something to say about this later."

Puckett Back on the Job.

Chairman E. W. Puckett, of the committee on arrangements, is back from a stay at West Baden, and several matters which have been held in abeyance are now to be closed up. Among these are the details of the historical and industrial parade scheduled for Friday night of Centennial week.

Names Are Now Coming In.

The committee on Homecoming day is well pleased with the response to the people of Fort Wayne to send in or telephone in the names of former Fort Wayne people who should be invited to the Centennial. See that the names get to the headquarters in the Commercial club (phone 3900) and the committee will send a cordial invitation to the party thus named, together with a program of events and a ticket for a sightseeing trip around "the old town."

Binghamton, N. Y., April 20.—Alfred L. Sharpe, for several years previous to coming to this city collector of customs at El Paso, Texas, is dead, and his 18-year-old daughter, Holland, is in a hospital today, seriously injured following a quarrel last night between father and daughter which ended when Sharpe seized a revolver and after shooting the girl twice in the back sent a bullet through his own heart.

Doctors say the girl has a chance to recover. The bullets passed through her left lung and out of the breast. Sharpe until recently had been building superintendent for his cousin, Willis Kilmer, of this city.

Money matters are said to have caused the quarrel which led to the shooting. Sharpe, according to report, had recently olst heavily in a business deal in Texas and his daughter wanted him to relinquish the trusteeship of her property left by her mother and turn it over to lawyers in San Antonio. This Sharpe refused to do and the shooting ended the quarrel.

To People Who Are Under Normal Weight

Thousands of people suffer from excessive thinness, weak nerves and feeble stomachs who, having tried advertised flesh-makers, food-fads, physical culture stunts and rub-on creams, resign themselves to life-long skinniness and think nothing will make them fat. Yet their case is not hopeless. A recently discovered combination of assimilative agents has made fat grow after years of thinness, and it is also unequalled, judging from reports, for repairing the waste of sickness or faulty digestion and for strengthening the nerves. This remarkable preparation is called Sargol. Six strength-giving, fat-producing assimilative elements of acknowledged merit have been combined in this preparation, which is endorsed and used by prominent people everywhere. It is absolutely harmless, inexpensive and efficient.

A few weeks systematic use of Sargol should go far to produce flesh and strength by correcting faults of digestion and by supplying nourishing fats to the blood. If not, every druggist who sells it is authorized to return the purchase price. Increased nourishment is obtained from the food eaten and the additional fats that thin people need are thus provided. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy, The Family Drug Store and other leading druggists supply Sargol and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has from reports given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and vitalizer, its use is not recommended to nervous people unless they wish to gain at least ten pounds of flesh. —Advertisement.

MODEL HOMES TO BE BUILT FOR WORKERS

Pittsburg's Housing Commission Will Improve Cliff Site.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 20.—Hundreds of tenements in Pittsburg are crowded by unskilled workmen and their families. These men are drawn here by the magnet of Pittsburg's prosperity. The housing commission of the chamber of commerce has found a means to correct this condition. It is ready to point the way to better things. A cliff in the Soho district is to be terraced and beautified. Model houses for unskilled labor are to be built thereon. They will rent for from $14 to $16 a month, and produce 7 per cent. on the investment. This is to be only the start.

The industries of Pittsburg demand great numbers of laborers who live in tenements, more crowded now than ever. Promotion of Pittsburg's progress demands good homes for him who handles the tonnage, as well as for him who profits by it, the housing commission says.

William H. Stevenson, a member of the commission, says: "We have spent a year studying and we have finally completed plans for homes for unskilled workingmen. Those who have been loud for improvement of housing the laborers of this city have a chance to act by following the example we will set with the building of thirty 2-family dwellings as a demonstration."

Another eighth grade examination for those who failed at the last examination held Saturday will be conducted May 20.

Unknown to Local People Few Months Ago, the Name of the New Medicine Now is Household Word.

WITH HUNDREDS of Fort Wayne people included in its list of firm friends, Tanlac, the celebrated new preparation now being introduced here, can well lay claim to the name enthusiastic people have given it—"the Master Medicine."

A few short months ago Tanlac was unknown to Fort Wayne residents. Now, its name is a household word, aand the story of its relief for some unfortunate who suffered from stomach, liver or kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, or some other disease due to a run down condition of the mucus membranes, is a story recited every day throughout the city.

The Wayne and Calhoun streets store of the Meyer Drug Co., where the Tanlac Man is explaining the remarkable new preparation to the public is the scene daily of scores of little episodes of real life enacted by purchasers who have been relieved of troubles of long standing through use of Tanlac and who naturally feel themselves greatly indebted. Many people have called personally at the drug store and given statements regarding Tanlac's aid for them.

Tanlac's success in Fort Wayne is complete in every detail. Its merit has been proved beyond the shadow of a dobut. It is without question enjoying the largest sale of any proprietary medicine ever introduced here and consequently, countless Fort Wayne residents either already have been completely relieved of troubles through its use or are now taking the medicine and getting nearer the happy state of healthfulness every day.

Yes, Tanlac's mission to Fort Wayne—a mission that has brought about happiness to hundreds of people who, before its introduction, knew nothing but troubles and weariness through the day, through the night, through the weeks, even through years—is a mission any medicine might well be proud to have conducted so successfully.

"But," as C. H. Bailey, Indiana's renowned Tanlac Man said a few days ago, "if Tanlac had brought health and happiness to only a single Fort Wayne person we would have considered its introduction successful. How much more successful then, have we become in Fort Wayne since already the people Tanlac has relieved of troubles practically are countless? But still, there are many Fort Wayne people who remain in that weak, run down condition that makes of life, almost a burden. We only hope these people will follow the action of their Fort Wayne brethren who have escaped troubles through Tanlac's use, and will give our medicine a trial, for we fully believe Tanlac to be the best preparation on the American market today, for relieving man's ills."

GERMAN EFFICIENCY BIG FACTOR IN WAR

EFFICIENCY, it is the common opinion, is the keynote of German success in the present great, near-world war.

Years ago the Germans started the cultivation of the art of efficiency in all things and it has made of them a race of men who now are able to hold at bay the united armies of three great countries—England, Russia and France.

Joseph von Trimbech, the man to whom credit is given for the discovery of the composition of certain medicinal roots, barks and herbs that make up Tanlac, the remarkable new reconstructive tonic now being introduced in Fort Wayne, is a German chemist, trained along German lines of efficiency.

From the earliest stages of Tanlac's composition down through the times when it equaled and then far surpassed any other medical preparation on the American market, Chemist Trimbeck give his entire attention to the new medicine.

Tanlac's present high state of efficiency—to which 75,000 Hoosiers, many of whom live in Fort Wayne, will testify—is due entirely to Chemist Trimbeck's untiring efforts. The Master Medicine's effectiveness as a spring tonic, so needed by hundreds at this season of the year, and its ability to combat stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, indigestion and the other common ailments of the day, is due to him.

Yes, once again German efficiency has been proven. As the Germans on the other side are, because of their efficiency, able to cope successfully with the armies of united powers, so has one of their race here in this country brought to its present high standard of efficiency the greatest medicine on the American market today.

For every ounce of Tanlac that leaves the laboratories is compounded by a German—a famed chemist—a man of efficiency.

COLD WEATHER VICTIMS AIDED

The seige of winter, that leaves in its wake so many people suffering with a completely run down system, is one of the great agents of destruction man has to contend with.

The many days of snow, sleet, cold rains, and winds that chill a person through and through, are so thorough in their work against humanity that few escape.

In fact, in recent years, it has become common for people who desire to rid themselves of the results of winter weather and to guard against a disagreeable state of ill health in the summer months to take, at spring time, some kind of a tonic, known to be a system purifier and of reconstructive properties.

Already many people, who have adopted the habit of taking a tonic each spring and have learned just how vastly beneficial it is, are looking for the best preparation on the market to take this season.

Scores, who have begun the use of Tanlac, the remarkable new reconstructive tonic ,and system purifier, praise the new medicine as the best spring preparation they ever tried.

Tanlac does its work quickly. It speedily attacks the impurities in the blood that might ,if left alone, bring serious results. It builds up the tissues broken down during the winter months in the daily battle of your physical self against extreme weather conditions. It brings about the proper digestion and assimiliation of food, at the same time throwing off any decayed matter that might have accumulated.

"I don't believe there is a medicine in the world that beats Tanlac for bringing good results."—Mrs. Anna Arnold.

"I wouldn't take $25 for the good brought me by my first bottle of Tanlac."—Earl A. Hevil.

"Judging from the way Tanlac fixed me up, I believe it to be the greatest medicine ever made."—L. D. Bain.

HUNDREDS FIND SOURCE OF JOY

To suffer from the after effects of a cold, or a bad case of La Grippe, is to suffer from one of the most disagreeable conditions known to mankind.

Apparently well and able to go about the duties performed before the cold was contracted or the attack of La Grippe came, and yet, too weak to work properly and simply "out of sorts" generally, it is, just what those who experience it say, a condition too much for man or woman.

And it is an entirely unnecessary condition.

The ability of Tanlac, the remarkable new preparation now being introduced here, to combat successfully the after effects of hard coughs, colds, la grippe, pneumonia and the like now is almost universally known.

Scores of Fort Wayne people, who have tried Tanlac, say it is the most satisfactory preparation on the American market today, for relieving such a condition.

After the first few doses of Tanlac improvement can be noticed. Tanlac quickly clears the nose and throat of mucus thereby cutting short the period of hawking and spitting which might have extended over several weeks. Next, Tanlac builds up the tissue broken down by the attack of illness. It causes the proper digestion and assimilation of food thereby enriching and purifying the blood and throwing off additional symptoms.

In fact, in a remarkably short time after Tanlac starts its work the victim of a recent attack of any of the too common, spring and winter illnesses, is as sound and well as before he was stricken.

SURPRIZE FOR AGED RESIDENT

One of the most earnest of the hundreds of Fort Wayne friends of Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is C. M. Briggs, 73 years old, a retired lumber and sawmill man, who lives at 1425 Erie street. Tanlac, Mr. Briggs asserts, has relieved him of troubles of thirty years. He said:

"For the last thirty years my system has been in a generally run down condition. Stomach, kidney and bladder trouble were my chief complaints. Severe pains across my back and in the small of my back hurt me terribly. I seemed to have no control of myself at night, my kidneys being very weak. I slept poorly. Gas frequently accumulated in my stomach and I also had pains in my stomach. In the evenings I sometimes would have cramps.

"I had just about finished my first bottle of Tanlac when I noticed good results. The pains started to disappear from my back and I slept better. My appetite also improved. I am on my fifth bottle of the medicine now and the stomach trouble has been banished entirely. I do not suffer from cramps or pains in my stomach now. In fact, I feel 'tip top' and you surely can tell the people that I highly recommend Tanlac.

"Just to see whether or not the results I gained were permanent I stopped taking Tanlac for a week and found that the results are permanent. I'm still taking Tanlac, however, to get my kidneys in even better shape. I feel better right now than I ever expected to feel again."

Mrs. H. Somers Tells How the New Medicine, Tanlac, Brought Relief.

Mrs. H. Somers, 64 years old, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 1837 Wheeler street, is one of the hundreds of Fort Wayne people who have found relief from troubles through the use of Tanlac, the Master Medicine. Mrs. Somers, whose husband is a fireman at the Brookside farm, recently said:

"For the last twelve years I have suffered from stomach trouble and muscular rheumatism. I had indigestion. Often I would become short of breath and my heart would palpitate. Formations of gas accumulated in my stomach after eating and the gas would effect my heart when I'd walk. I was nervous and restless at night. The muscular rheumatism caused pains in my limbs and arms. I also had pains in the small of my back caused either by kidney trouble or lumbago.

"I had used only about a bottle and a half of Tanlac when I noticed the full feeling in my stomach disappearing. I'm on my third bottle of the medicine now and the stomach trouble practically has been banished. The formations of gas on my stomach are gone: I do not become so short of breath any more: the constipation has left. The rheumatism also is very much better.

"Tanlac has given me real relief from troubles of twelve years' standing. I think I'd tried everything without gaining relief before I began using Tanlac."

"DID THE WORK," HOFMAN SAYS

Earl Hofman, a well known employe of the Van Arnam Manufacturing Co., who lives at 1211 Maumee avenue, recently said, in praise of Tanlac:

"For the last year or more I have had trouble with my stomach, indigestion bothering me to a great extent. After meals, and especially after the evening meal, accumulations of gas would form on my stomach and I would become bloated. When I'd awaken in the morning I'd feel as though I hadn't rested for a week.

"I saw in the papers that Tanlac had benefited a friend and I decided to try the medicine. I have been taking Tanlac not quite a week, but I notice big improvements already. I can eat all I care for now; I do not become bloated and I sleep fine at night. In the mornings I feel rested and refreshed. This medicine did the work for me."

HELPED FARMER IN THREE DAYS

Peter Parker, a well known farmer who lives on rural route No. 16, Fort Wayne, has added words of praise to those of hundreds of others of this vicinity who have found Tanlac a ready relief for their troubles. He said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble for the last two years and I also have been bothered by catarrh of the head for a long time. I became bloated after eating and I usually suffered from gas in my stomach. I was able to eat only certain kinds of food which I had found from experience would do me the least harm. I slept very poorly. The catarrh was very bad. I hawked and spit almost continually and I was bothered by a ringing in my ears.

"Three days after I started taking Tanlac the stomach trouble became better. Now, after taking one bottle of the medicine I do not become bloated at all, and I am able to eat anything I care for and as much of it as I wish. I also sleep much better since the stomach trouble has been relieved. The catarrh is greatly improved, too. I do not have to hawk and spit now and the ringing in my ears is entirely gone.

ENERGY AND LIFE RETURNS AGAIN

George Flaugh, employe of the Noble Hoop Mill, who lives at 1157 West Main street, recently told of the relief he gained through Tanlac's use. He said:

"I have had muscular rheumatism in my hips and back for some time. I slept poorly and felt as tired in the morning as when I went to bed. Severe pains came in my hips and back.

"About a week after I started taking Tanlac I noticed the pains growing less severe. I've not suffered a single pain for more than four weeks now. I sleep fine and have lost of life and energy. I believe the results I gained to be permanent.

WOMAN IS STRONGER AND BETTER NOW

Mrs. John Geise, a well known Fort Wayne woman who lives at 2451 Gay street, recently found Tanlac a ready relief from her troubles. She said:

"I have suffered from stomach trouble for six years. Attacks of sick headache frequently bothered me and would leave me in such a weak state that I'd be unable to do my housework for days.

"My husband wanted me to try Tanlac so I puschased a bottle of the medicine. I feel much stronger and a great deal better now. I don't have any trouble whatever with my stomach now and am not bothered by attacks of sick headache."

FEELS STRONGER THAN FOR YEARS

"I certainly am glad to recommend Tanlac," said Mrs. Daniel Hoffman, 67 years old, who lives at 2522 Reed street, Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Hoffman is well known in this city. She has lived here for more than forty years, her husband working as a contractor.

"For nearly a year I have suffered with rheumatism of both the inflamatory and muscular natures," Mrs. Hoffman continued, while telling of her experiences with Tanlac, the Master Medicine. "Sometimes pains bothered me and my limbs were lame. Sometimes the pains and lameness would leave for a time, but soon would appear again, just as bad as ever. My RHP-rt also as bad as before.

"I'm mighty glad I didn't get discouraged and quit using Tanlac after I had taken my first bottle of the medicine. The rheumatic pains are entirely gone now and nervousness and a jerking sensation of my limbs also have left. I feel a great deal stronger and better now than I have for years.

"My daughter is using the medicine now and although she has taken only about half bottle she is noticing good results."

HELPED MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE

"Tanlac helped me as nothing else ever did," said Adam Filler, a well known Fort Wayne teamster employed by the Hilker Bros.' Lumber & Coal Co., who lives at 1335 Erie street.

"I have suffered from a severe form of kidney trouble. For years pains in my back bothered me. I slept poorly and would feel tired in the mornings.

"When I'd taken about a half bottle of Tanlac I noticed the pains leaving. Now they are all gone. I sleep better and feel rested and refreshed in the mornings. I certainly am glad to recommend Tanlac."

WOMAN TESTIFIES TO HUSBAND'S AID

Mrs. Louis Waltemath, who lives at 1328 Walton avenue, testified recently, to the relief her husband, who is employed by S. F. Bowser & Co., gained through Tanlac's use. She said:

"My husband has suffered from stomach trouble for many years. He had indigestion and heartburn also bothered him. After every meal his stomach wounld be in a soured condition.

"The second or third day after Mr. Waltemath started taking Tanlac he noticed good results. He has taken one bottle of the medicine now and the soured condition of his stomach and the heartburn are a thing of the past."

BENDER TELLS OF COMPLETE RELIEF

W. L. Bender, a well known Fort Wayne man who lives at 1236 West Main street and who formerly was a shoe cobbler at 713 Barr street, is one of Tanlac's hundreds of Fort Wayne friends. He said:

"Ever since five years ago my system has been in a terribly run down condition. My kidneys were in bad shape and my stomach, liver and bowels were out of order. I have had rheumatism also, severe pains coming in my arms and limbs. Sometimes the rheumatic pains were so severe that I'd just cry out. My stomach also pained me at times and frequently I was unable to retain the food I ate. My liver was sluggish and I suffered from a diarrhoetic condition of the bowels.

"I saw Tanlac advertised and decided to try it. I have not suffered a single pain in my stomach since taking a bottle and a half of the medicine. The diarrhoea is entirely gone and my kidneys and bladder act as they should. Since taking my second bottle of Tanlac the rheumatic pains have been entirely banished.

"Tanlac is the only medicine I've found that will give permanent relief."

SAYS SHE FEELS FINE IN EVERY WAY NOW

Mrs. Louisa Elbert, wife of Anthony Elbert, a well known employe of the Bass Foundry and Machine Co., has this to say of Tanlac:

"I have suffered from rheumatism for several years. Pains and aches came all over my body. Sometimes I would feel so miserable that I'd have to get up after going to bed at night. Recently I suffered an attack of the grip and between that and the rheumatism I was in poor condition.

"A friend recommended Tanlac. I have taken a bottle and a half of the medicine now and the rheumatic trouble is entirely gone. I sleep better and have a better appetite. In every way I feel fine now. The after effects of the grip also have been overcome. Tanlac helped me as nothing else ever did and I'm glad to say a word in praise of the medicine."

GLAD TO SPEAK A WORD OF PRAISE

"I'm glad to say a word in praise of Tanlac," said Mrs. D. W. Guthrie, wife of a well known Fort Wayne contractor, who lives at 820 Barr street.

"I had stomach trouble. After meals I would have pains in my stomach and for some time I'd belch and feel bloated. My appetite was poor. I didn't sleep very well.

"I noticed improvements after taking only about half a bottle of Tanlac. I had a better appetite and I slept better. Now, after taking one bottle, I'm a lot better. I don't become bloated so easily and I don't belch nearly as much as before. Tanlac helped me more than anything else."

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

Matthew 27:1-14.

1 When the morning was come, all the chief priests and elders of the people took counsel against Jesus to put him to death:

2 And when they had bound him, they led him away, and delivered him to Pontius Pilate the governor.

3 Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders,

4 Saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see thou to that.

5 And he cast down the pieces of silver in the temple, and departed, and went and hanged himself.

6 And the chief priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury, because it is the price of blood.

7 And they took counsel, and bought with them the potter's field, to bury strangers in.

8 Wherefore that field was called, The field of blood, unto this day.

9 Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Jeremy the prophet, saying, And they took the thirty pieces of silver, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel did value;

10 And gave them for the potter's field, as the Lord appointed me.

11 And Jesus stood before the governor: and the governor asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Jews? And Jesus said unto him, Thou sayest.

12 And when he was accused of the chief priests and elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate unto him, Hearest thou not how many things they witness against thee?

14 And he answered him to never a word; insomuch that the governor marvelled greatly.

Awaiting the Outcome.

President Wilson has spoken. He has given to Germany the irrevocable decision of the United States that, unless there is an immediate cessation of those practices in submarine warfare against which America has repeatedly suffered and repeated protested, there will come a severance of the long time friendly relations which have existed between this country and Germany. And that means—what? If not war, it is at least a very definite step leading to conflict.

There is no good American citizen in all this broad land who will not profoundly regret the circumstances which have brought about this grave crisis, and none who will not sincerely pray that the cloud may pass without a storm, and that out of the acuteness of this hour may come a mutual understanding that may avert the hideous consequences of actual clash. It is very plain, under the terms of what amounts to very nearly an ultimatum, that the fateful decision in the matter now rests with the German empire. The problem is made additionally difficult for Berlin because of the fact that acquiescence must circumscribe largely the only marine engine she has been able to successfully turn upon her foes. It is quite probable that with the situation reversed and the present naval power of England in German hands, our present difference would be with the entente allies instead of with the Teutonic empire.

Nor can it be charged that the action of the United States has been taken hastily, without continued provocation long endured or without a due appreciation of the responsibilities it involves. The future in the case depends entirely on Berlin. The president has spoken, and in America his voice is essentially the voice of the people. There can be no divisions and there will be none. The president will be upheld. There can be no manner of doubt of that. In the meantime let us await calmly and hopefully the fateful decision from Berlin—calmly because that is the part of patriotic citizenship at a time like this, and hopeful that the present crisis, like others of similar nature though less acute, may safely pass.

The Illinois Bar association, which is arranging for a banquet in honor of Colonel Roosevelt, announces that it has been literally swamped by appeals for invitations and has been forced to appeal for larger banquet quarters. Some of the colonel's loving friends of olden days who have insisted that his case is hopeless and that he couldn't "come back" are now believed to be rubbing up their specs with the view of taking another look, and, mayhap, reluctantly revising their solemnly pronounced conviction in the matter—a conviction based rather more upon desire than upon fact. Colonel Roosevelt has enemies in plenty—and lusty ones, too—but there are a good many indications that he has not been effectually eliminated as a political factor in this country.

The Allen county grand jury has signified its entire willingness to delve into the alleged practice of selling tobacco and cigarettes to boys of tender years in Fort Wayne if those who are in possession of facts will give it some information on which to act or tell it where the information can be obtained. Here is an opportunity for those who know of law violations of this character to be of positive assistance in correcting an evil.

Former Governor J. Frank Hanly, who was for years recognized as one of the republican party leaders in this state, has issued a blistering statement in which he utterly repudiates the recent republican state platform. Well, come to think of it, the Indiana republicans had beaten him to it. They had already repudiated Mr. Hanley, so that honors now appear to be even.

Mr. Ford's peace conference effort hasn't been making a great deal of noise of late, but lest an erroneous impression gain current it may be announced that it is still working. From Stockholm has just been sent out an appeal to the warring nations urging the principle that in the final settlement there be no transfer of territory without the consent of the population involved.

After having heard the testimony the special master appointed to take it has recommended a divorce for Harry K. Thaw from Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, and the court at Pittsburg has ordered the issuing of the decree. Somehow those names have a strangely familiar ring to the casual reader of American newspapers during the past few years.

But, then, if the city succeeds in finding a market for old tin cans at a figure that will repay the cost of collection, what are we going to use for decorations on the city dump of the future?

DAUGHTER OF JOHN D., JR., CARRIES OUT FAMILY RESEMBLANCE

CENTENNIAL PROBLEMS

(Huntington, Ind., Herald)

Isn't it possible that in this centennial year Hoosiers are too prone to dwell on the glory of the past and to think too little about the duties of the present and the prospects for the future? Of what good is a glorious past, except as it gives a foundation for better work in the future?

For example, the newspapers all over Indiana are beginning to pay more attention to the good roads question, and men who in the past have given their time to other industrial and economic problems are devoting themselves to this cause. But under the present laws of the state it is impossible to accomplish much. There must be some revision, so that costs can be distributed to better advantage, and so that roads of a permanent character can be built with less opposition. Indiana is far behind in the matter of good road legislation.

The tax question is another that deserves especial attention this centennial year. It is likely that the coming campaign will see this problem discussed in a manner that will awaken the interest of the whole state and result in good form.

The liquor question is another that needs attention. Indiana is behind the more progressive states in this line. Its people, through their own neglect of politics and public affairs, have been fooled out of the kind of legislation they want to control or to eliminate the liquor traffic. If the centennial year has no other good results than to reawaken a keen interest in all public affairs, it will not be a failure.

HIS ANSWER TO MOLLYCODDLES

(Leslie M. Shaw in Omaha Bee).

I have a son as dear to me as any son is to any father. If this country gets into war, and it will unless it prepares itself to enforce peace, that son should offer his services. He is of the kind of type that will be required.

If he should fail to enlist the government will have the right to conscript him, but the curse of God will and should rest upon that nation and that people that will call its best blood to the colors without having first taught them to take care of themselves, and that will not furnish them as good arms as they are forced to face; that will not give them ammunition to last till the fight is over; that will not cover their positions and movements by field artillery equal in quantity and of as long range as that of the adversary; that will not provide air craft and submarine craft—in short, that will not do all that human resource and human skill can do to make their defensive position tenable and their offensive movements successful.

Anything less than the best is absolutely worthless. Any preparedness less than adequate preparedness is less than useless, and war waged with antiquated or insufficient equipment is worse than murder, for it subjects those who heed the call of duty, and who obey the command of the country, to ignominious defeat and shameful slaughter.

GENTLE RUBBING HELPS VARICOSE VEINS

Rubbing the swollen veins nightly for about two minutes with a gentle upward stroke brings benefit to sufferers and is mighty good advice, says an authority.

After the rubbing, which should always be toward the heart, because the blood in the veins flows that way, apply Emerald Oil (full strength) with brush or hand.

Try this simple home treatment for a few days and improvement will be noticed, then continue until veins are reduced to normal. It is very concentrated and penetrating and can be obtained at any modern drug store. It is so powerful that it also reduces Goitre and Wens. Meyer Bros. Drug Store has Emerald Oil in the original bottle and will be glad to supply it.—Advertisement.

INDIAN POPULATION OF MEXICO IS VAST

But 19 Per Cent of the Natives of That Land Are Pure Whites.

Washington, D. C., April 20.—There are more Indians living today within the territory originally comprising Mexico than ever existed at any one time in all the rest of the western hemisphere combined, according to a bulletin issued today by the National Geographic society of Washington.

"Of the 15,000,000 inhabitants of Mexico, fully 38 per cent. are pure Indians, and 43 per cent. of mixed blood, only 19 per cent. being whites," continues the bulletin.

"These six million Indians, many of whom are descendants of that wonderful race, the Aztecs, are divided into many linguistic families and tribes, the numbers varying according to the standards of differentiation adopted by each ethnologist. Some authorities group them into fourteen families, with fifty-one languages and sixty-nine dialects, while others make sixteen family divisions, sub-divided into one hundred, thirty-two tribes.

"The degree of civilization to be found among the many tribes are astonishing, ranging from the abject Seri Indians of Sonora, as pitiably undeveloped as the Indians of Tierra del Fuego, to the highly developed and splendid specimens of manhood found among the Nahuatl and Maya tribes.

"The finest examples of aboriginal civilization on the North American continent were to be found in the neighborhood of the present City of Mexico, with the possible exception of that prehistoric race of temple builders whose ruins dot the Yucatan peninsula. It was on the site of the capital that the Toltecs left their imprints from 650 A. D. to the twelfth century when the Chichimecs, a cruder tribe, replaced them, not by conquest but because the Toltecs died out, some antiquarians attributing their gradual disappearance to the ravages of pulque, the insidious drink that has ever been the curse of that country.

"Then came the highly civilized Acolhuas, and a few years later, before the opening of the thirteenth century, the Aztec began to pour in, leaving in their wake, as they came up the plateau, the remarkable structures now known as the ruins of Casas Grandes. They built Tula, fifty miles north of Mexico City, and eventually founded Tenochtitlan, on a site selected for them by the gods, according to legend, the sign being an eagle perched on a clump of cacti, with a serpent in its talons. It is this sign which remains today the national emblem, appearing both on the coins and on the flag of Mexico.

"One of the most interesting legends about the tribes from which the Indians of today are descended is that recorded of the Colhuas, who are supposed to have enslaved the Aztecs during the latter's migratory march up the plateau. The conquerors soon released their enemies because they were horrified at the Aztecs' custom of offering human sacrifices to their gods.

"It was largely to the co-operation of the Tlaxcalans, a neighboring tribe, that Cortez owed his triumph over the Aztecs. The latter were as brave and as chivalrous soldiers as were the Spanish adventurers who enjoyed the decisive advantage of gunpowder and horses, both of which were unknown to the natives. The generosity of the Aztecs as fighting men is exemplified in a single incident. Learning that the enemy was without food, the Mexicans dispatched an ample supply of provisions, because they scorned to fight a starving foe!"

EXPRESS PACKAGES STOLEN

Elkhart, Ind., April 20.—When John Lehman, of Toledo, an express messenger, entered an American Express company's car in the New York Central railroad's train No. 32, after its arrival from Chicago, he found that a number of packages had been opened and rifled. The contents of the car was taken out here so that the missing packages could be checked up and listed. Local authorities would give no estimate of their value.

Investigation revealed that some of the loot had been cast off the train near South Bend and near Norwood, and that two men had leaped from the train at South Bend. It is believed the thieves boarded the train at Chicago.

Take Iron, Says Doctor, if You Want Plenty of "Stay There" Strenght Like an Athlete!

New York, N. Y.—Most people foolishly seem to think they are going to get renewed health and strength from some stimulating medicine, secret nostrum or narcotic drug, said Dr. Sauer, a well known specialist who has studied widely both in this country and Europe, when, as a matter of fact, real and true strength can only come from the food you eat. But people often fail to get the strength out of their food because they haven't enough iron in their blood to enable it to change food into living matter. From their weakened, nervous condition they know something is wrong, but they can't tell what, so they generally commence doctoring for stomach, liver or kidney trouble or symptoms of some other ailment caused by the lack of iron in the blood. This thing may go on for years, while the patient suffers untold agony. If you are not strong or well, you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see for yourself how much you have gained. I have seen dozens of nervous, rundown people who were ailing all the while, double and even triple their strength and endurance and entirely get rid of all symptoms of dyspepsia, liver and other troubles in from ten to fourteen days' time simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this after they had in some cases been doctoring for months without obtaining any benefit. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated like nuxated iron if you want it to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless. Many an athlete or prize fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance and filled his blood with iron before he went into the affray, while many another has gone down to inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

NOTE—Nuxated Iron recommended above by Dr. Sauer, is one of the newer organic iron compounds. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach; on the contrary, it is a most potent remedy, in nearly all forms of indigestion, as well as for nervous, run-down conditions. The Manufacturers have such great confidence in Nuxated Iron that they offer to forfeit $100.00 to any charitable institution if they cannot take any man or woman under 60 who lacks iron and increase your strength 200 per cent or over in four weeks time provided they have no serious organic trouble. They also offer to refund your money if it does not at least double your strength and endurance in ten days' time. It is dispensed in this city by the Dreier Drug Co., Meyer Bros. Co. and all other druggists. —Advertisement.

Indiana Organization Holds Its Annual Banquet at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, April 20.—With leading business and professional men present, the annual banquet of the Indiana members of the Associated Press was held at the Claypool hotel here last night. Meredith Nicholson was toastmaster and the speakers were Paul Cowles, superintendent of the Central division of the Associated Press; David E. Town, of the Chicago Evening Post; Charles W. Fairbanks, John H. Holliday, nestor of Indiana newspaper men, and Ogden Reid, editor of the New York Tribune.

How the Associated Press gathers and distributes the news of the world was described by Mr. Cowles and Mr. Reid spoke on "Our Duty to the Public." Mr. Fairbanks referred to the time when he was the Associated Press correspondent at Pittsburg and Mr. Holliday related incidents of newspaper work in his day.

The editors held a business meeting during the day and later were guests of the Indianapolis base ball club at the opening game of the American association season. Henry W. Marshall, of the Lafayette Journal, was elected president of the organization and George M. Cook, Indianapolis, secretary.

TO REMOVE DANDRUFF

Get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little into your hand and rub well into the scalp with the finger tips. By morning most, if not all, of this awful scurf will have disappeared. Two or three applications will destroy every bit of dandruff; stop scalp itching and falling hair.—Advertisement.

CHILDREN HATE PILLS, CALOMEL AND CASTOR OIL

If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.

MEXICAN RAILWAY SYSTEM EXTENSIVE

All of It Has Been Built Up Within the Past 45 Years.

Washington, D. C., April 20—The railways of northern Mexico, the use of which was fraught with grave moment to the punitive expeditionary force under General Pershing a few days ago, because of the serious question of transporting supplies, is the subject of an informative bulletin just issued by the National Geographic society of Washington.

"The railway system of Mexico has a mileage which exceeds by 25 per cent. the combined mileage of all the other countries of North and South America, with the exception of Canada, the United States, Argentina and Brazil," says the bulletin. "This vast system has been built up in 45 years, for while there was a tiny track from Mexico City to the suburb of Guadalupe as early as 1854, it was not until 1873 that President Lerdó inaugurated the first important line, that which runs from Vera Cruz to the national capital. President Lerdo was opposed to the building of railways across the desert plateaus of northern Mexico, for he believed, it is said, that these arid plains afforded a certain security against the political and commercial influence of the United States. President Porfirio Diaz had a far broader vision, however, and during his long regime railroad building was one of his chief concerns, so that when he retired from the presidency these steel arteries of commerce had crossed the United States border at six places—Laredo, El Paso, Nogales, Eagle Pass, Presidio and Brownsville, and 11,000,000 people were carried annually, together with 11,000,000 tons of freight.

"One of the most interesting features of the railway system under Diaz was his insistence that the American managers of the merged Mexican national railways should employ, whenever possible, Mexican conductors, brakemen, telegraph operators, flagmen and section foremen. In this way he hoped to build up a substantial middle class from among the peons, one of the crying needs of the country.

"The first railroad connecting Mexico City with the United States border was that to El Paso, opened by President Diaz 32 years ago last month. This line has been extended in recent years to Tampico on the east and to Guadalajara on the west, and now embraces a system of 4,000 miles.

"When the four important railway systems known as the Mexican Central, the National, the International and the Interoceanic were fused into the National Railways of Mexico, the government retained a majority of the capital stock of 615,000,000 pesos.

"All of the railways in Northern Mexico are equipped with American locomotives, passenger and freight cars, and Pullman accommodations are to be had on most of the lines. The first-class passenger rates are slightly higher than on American lines, but there is a lower, second-class rate, by which the peons profit. Distances are measured in kilometres—4 cents first class and 1½ cents second class. Restaurants at the important stations serve table d'hote meals for $1, and the trains usually make 25 minute stops for breakfast, luncheon and dinner.

"The peons are like children in their eagerness to ride on the trains and in the mining sections where small lines are used in handling ores it is a difficult matter to keep the natives off the cars.

"Although Mexico produces a large quantity of coal it is of a cheap grade and the railways as a rule either import their fuel or else burn oil, which is produced in great abundance, especially in the Tampico region.

"The lines in the north are operated on Mexican time, which is 24 minutes faster than American time at El Paso and 36 minutes faster at Laredo.

"The most interesting railway in Mexico is that 192 mile stretch of track which connects the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards across the isthmus of Tehuantepec. It was here that Eads dreamed of a ship railroad which could lift vessels by huge derricks from the harbor at Salina Cruz and swing them on trains which would transport them across the continent to Coatzacoalcos, where they would be lowered into the roadstead.

"The proposed Pan-American railway, being built by American capital, is expected some day to establish a direct rail communication between New York City and Buenos Aires."

SUFFRAGE NOTES.

AROUND THE MAP FOR SUFFRAGE

A little yellow suffrage automobile, with Mrs. Alice Snitjer Burke and Miss Nell Richardson, left New York on April 6 for a 15,000-mile tour around Uncle Sam's map under the auspices of the National American Woman Suffrage association. Making a circuit of the United States from New York to Galveston, thence to San Francisco and Seattle and east back again to the starting point, Mrs. Burke and Miss Richardson will blaze a complete trail for suffrage, and incidentally make the distance record for woman's automobile driving. For no chauffeur is to travel along. Mrs. Burke is an accomplished driver and next to suffrage speaking enjoys nothing so much as a steering wheel.

Mrs. Burke will be remembered among suffrage workers for her work in the New York state campaign last year, a feature of which was the famous little automobile, "Victory 1915." Miss Richardson is a Virginia girl who has been in active suffrage work for about three years in New York, and who has worked a great deal with Mrs. Burke. At present, she is an organizing secretary for the New York city suffrage party.

WOMEN IN THE LAW.

It is not enough to have woman lawyers in this day of demand for woman's participation in civic affairs—we must also have women justices and jurors. Only last week in New York city three civic leagues met to indorse a bill in the legislature for the appointment of a woman as justice of the children's court. On the same day, Supreme Court Justice Guy, of New York, made a public statement concerning the fitness of women as jurors.

"Woman's intelligence, keen intuition and practical good sense," said Justice Guy, "make her desirable for jury service. Women are much less emotional than men, less sentimental, quicker to detect impostures or fraud. If women were on our juries I think we would have fewer verdicts based on 'brain storm,' 'higher law,' or other fictions, and a higher average of verdicts based on evidence, intelligent reasoning, and a strong sense of duty."

Do we wonder that Nixola Greely-Smith, his interviewer, says: "I had decided that a Daniel had come to judgment?"

THE EFFICIENT MOTHER

"No mother is what she ought to be if she lives simply the life of the home," said Dr. John L. Elliott before the Women's conference of the society for Ethical culture in New York city. "She must live the life of the community. The great picture in the world is the Madonna and the Child, but there is one higher vision than that—not one mother and child, but mothers and all children."

This was the plea of an ardent believer in woman suffrage for woman's place in the community and is the material that the suffrage movement is made of.

WORK, BUT NOT TO VOTE

In Ironia in the state of New Jersey, men are entering the ammunition and powder factories by the scores, leaving the women to run the dairies and farms. Are they the same men that allowed the brewers to convince them last election that "woman's place is in the home?"

Mothers' Club Meeting.

A good meeting of the Mothers' club was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Y. W. C. A. and talks were given by Mrs. F. H. McCulloch and Mrs. Josephine L. Nesbitt. Mrs. McCulloch, who presided, urged attention to the matter of having the mothers' pension bill made a law in this state as it has already been so disposed of in twenty-six other states. A motion was made and carried that the local club combine its effort with the one being made by the Congress of Mothers regarding the pension bill and also to work to bring the matter up before the Indiana convention of Mothers and Parent-Teachers associations this coming fall. The pension bill referred to is designed to give financial aid to mothers or fathers who ordinarily can support their families but in cases of emergency need a little assistance. Mrs. Nesbitt remarked during her talk that as soon as Indiana legislators understand the matter of the bill as well as the Ohio men did the bill will be passed. Mrs. Nesbitt also presented her plans for the children to interest themselves in the work Fort Wayne is undertaking towards a "city beautiful."

AT THE GRAND

"The Social Pirates"—Second Episode at the Grand Today.

Mona and Mary, who from their mission in life may be classed as a pair of trim and speedy submarines that delight in shooting about in the social sea and sinking the piratical gentlemen who wage warfare against the happiness and moral condition of the weaker sex, get in the wake of a buccaneering heart-breaker and do not give up the pursuit until he is (figuratively) torpedoed and sent to the bottom. The piratical person's name is Harrasford. In this episode "The Corsican Sisters," Mona and Mary, masquerading as Corsican sisters, enmesh a blase young man of wealth who is noted for his affairs with women. Briefly, each girl makes the man think she is in danger of her life. Mona is supposed to kill Mary in a jealous rage. The man is made to appear as an accomplice. He pays handsomely to escape scandal. The theme deals with the hot blood and fiery tempers of the supposed Corsican girls and the subterfuge they practice to make the man believe a real enmity exists between them.

A WONDERFUL WINDOW OF BEAUTIFUL FLOWERS

Pause, look and admire—that is what everyone is doing that passes the Flick Floral shop these days, for a more gorgeous collection of wonderful flowers has never been seen. There the spring flowers are in abundance, tulips, yellow, red, pink and white, jonquils in one color or both yellow and white, white lilacs whose fragrance makes the made perfume blush, rhodendrons whose beauty is as delicate as an orchid, azaleas, roses, and many other blossoms equally well or even better known. The big room is full and the long window blossoms like two or three gardens. A new feature of the Easter season is the placing of tiny birds, like humming birds in size, and butterflies on the blooming plants or the cut flowers, to speak still plainer of spring and summer. Everyone buys flowers on Easter and there are prices in consideration of all purses.

AUTO BANDITS WERE QUARTET OF SOUSES

Ed Hedges, Gordon Laird, George Jackson and Roy Myers are in cells at police headquarters charged with train-climbing. They were arrested early Thursday morning at Payne, Ohio, by the town marshal of that place and were brought back here at noon by Captain Charles Bonk, chief of the Nickel Plate railway police here. With the return of the men blew up a supposed sensation that the four men who abandoned a jitney flivver at the Nickel Plate tracks and Clinton street, shortly after midnight, and caught an eastbound freight train, were auto bandits.

It is believed that Hedges and his pals are the men who leaped from their auto at the corner of Wayne and Comparet streets, at 11 o'clock Wednesday night, and assaulted Leo Blair, Richard Ballard and Rex Campbell, three young men who were standing there talking. Hedges gave Blair quite a beating. The four in cells deny any part in the assault. The car they abandoned Hedges, who is an ex-convict, has been driving as a jitney bus.

PRESIDENT THROWS OUT THE FIRST BALL

Washington, April 20.—President Wilson opened the local base ball season here today when he threw out the first ball in the game between Washington and New York. The president was greeted with enthusiastic cheers from a capacity crowd when he tossed the ball to Umpire Connolly. The president was accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, John R. Wilson, his cousin, and Mrs. W. H. Bolling, Mrs. Wilson's mother. In the crowd was several members of the cabinet, senators representatives and government officials. As the president entered the ball grounds a band played the Star Spangled Banner and the entire crowd stood and cheered. He immediately bought a score card and followed every play of the game.

OLDEST SCHOOL TEACHER DIES.

Chicago, April 20.—Miss Harriet N. Winchell, Chicago's oldest school teacher, died of heart disease last night while seated in her automobile in front of her home here. Miss Winchell, who was 70 years old, started teaching when 19, and served in Chicago schools continuously since that time. Forty-four of her fifty-one years' service were spent as principal of the Samuel J. Tilden school in which she always taught. It is estimated that 75,000 children received their early instructions under her direct supervision.

GRADUATES IN A WAR.

Peter Thompsons and Plain Whites Fight Draw Battle.

Princeton, Ind., April 20.—The "war" among the girl members in this year's senior class in the Princeton high school over whether plain white dresses or blue sailor Peter Thompsons should be worn at the graduating exercises has been compromised. The Peter Thompsons are, in a manner, sidetracked—but neither do the "plain whites" have it all their way.

Instead, the twenty-six girls have, after many disputes and some tears, smiled happily on the proposal that they receive their diplomas attired in white sailor dresses with large red ties and black shoes and stockings. The entire school is rejoicing over the tactful settlement. The commencement will be held May 19.

Nineteen of the girls had voted that all should wear blue Peter Thompson suits and eleven had voted for plain white dresses. Feeling was so high between the two factions for a time that it looked like separate commencements would have to be held for the two groups of girls.

THE GROOM'S IDIOT FRIENDS

Huntington, Ind., April 20.—Clem Swaim, just back from his honeymoon after his marriage to Miss Ruby Ellet, was surprised in the evening at his home by thirty or forty men and boys who after several unsuccessful attempts to route him out of bed and celebrate in honor of his wedding, bodily took him from his home and forced him into a cage on wheels, which is used as a means to convey hogs to the market. The crowd of revellers then hooked the cage to Clark's delivery wagon and started their parade through the main streets of Huntington. The revellers celebrated the occasion with tin horns and other noisy instruments.

MARKLE FARMER COMMITS SUICIDE

Thomas Rarick, Broken in Health and Despondent, Ends Life by Drowning in Supply Tank.

Huntington, Ind., April 20.—Ill health caused Thomas Rarick, fifty-nine years of age, to drown himself Wednesday afternoon between 3 and 5:30 o'clock in the supply tank on the farm of his brother-in-law, Emmett Cheesman, one mile west of Markle, with whom he had lived several years. Nothing he had said or done made relatives suspect his intention. No alarm was felt by his sister, Mrs. Cheesman, until Guy Bronner, who works for Mr. Cheesman, returned from the field where he had been plowing soon after 5 o'clock. Mr. Rarick had left the house about 3 o'clock, saying he would either go to the field where Bronner was working, or to the barn. When Bronner said he had not seen Mr. Rarick, in answer to Mrs. Cheesman's inquiry, a search was begun. In the tank house Mrs. Cheesman found her brother's cap, coat and vest. This increased her alarm and she summoned her nephew, Lafo Rarick, of Huntington, who happened to be visiting at the home. He got a lantern, climbed the ladder leading to the top of the supply tank and found the body. The top of Mr. Rarick's head could be seen at the surface of the water. Coroner R. S. Galbreath was called from Huntington and from his investigation probably will give the motive for suicide as dementia caused by sickness. Mr. Rarick was born south of Markle and had lived in Bluffton and Markle most of his life. He leaves two brothers, S. W. Rarick, living one and one-half miles south of Markle, and Henry Rarick, of Markle, besides Mrs. Cheesman, his sister.

THREE BUILDINGS DESTROYED.

Fire on Farm Near Leesburg Is Spread Quarter of a Mile.

Warsaw, Ind., April 20.—Fire, fanned by a high wind, totally destroyed the house and barn on the Wysong farm, southwest of Leesburg, Monday afternoon, and the bank barn of Cal Stuckman, located a quarter of a mile east of the Wysong buildings. The fire was discovered in the Wysong home shortly after the noon hour and although an alarm was given soon after nothing could be done to save the buildings on account of the high wind. Sparks were carried from the burning house to a straw stack and in a short time the flames spread to the big bank barn reducing the structure to ashes. A threshing outfit which had been stored in the barn was totally destroyed. Burning shingles from the roof of the house were carried by the wind to the Cal Stuckman barn, more than a quarter of a mile away, setting fire to the building and totally destroying it. One horse and four head of cattle were consumed. The fire was started on the Wysong farm by children playing with matches.

ABATTOIR ROBBED AGAIN

Hartford City, Ind., April 20.—The butchers of this city, working together in the hope of capturing the man or men who early in the morning robbed the Ritter slaughter house for the second time within one month. On this second visit to the abattoir a large number of valuable hides and a small amount of meat were taken. After searching for some time, tracks were found where a wagon had entered the property and as the tracks were comparatively fresh they were easily followed for some distance, the course of the wagon taking towards Montpelier. The wagon tracks were followed for several miles. When the Ritter abattoir was similarly robbed the suspicion was stated the hides stolen had probably been taken to Fort Wayne, where it was believed a fence was being operated.

BUILDING BOOM IN SIDNEY

Warsaw, Ind., April 20.—The thriving town of Sidney, lying southeast of Warsaw, is enjoying the business boom and building boom of its career at this time. The firm of Tridle & Circle, of the Sidney Hardware Co., are at present building a two-story cement block business room 50x132. The building is being erected just north of the depot and will be the pride of the town when completed. At the present time there are four new dwelling houses assured and two more are under consideration. The Odd Fellows lodge are contemplating the erection of a two story business block and use the upper portion for their club and lodge rooms with the lower floor to be used as a business room. The Masons are also planning the same kind of a building.

BOOZE CASE IN MONTPELIER.

Montpelier, Ind., April 20.—Charges were filed Wednesday afternoon in the court of Mayor Neal against John F. Price, proprietor of the People's drug store, and against Ira Cohn, drug clerk there, alleging illegal sale of liquor. It is asserted that on April 15 the clerk sold a quantity of liquor to George Penrod, of near Poneto. Both men appeared in court today and pleaded not guilty. Their cases were set for trial on April 25. An affidavit was also filed against Penrod for making unlawful statements to secure intoxicating liquor for a beverage. Price had nothing to do with the sale made by the clerk, but as he is owner of the drug store, he was charged in the affidavit.

QUITS DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

Kendallville, Ind., April 20.—Dr. N. J. Shook, of Kendallville, announces that he will at once resign the democratic nomination of joint senator for the district including Noble, Lagrange and Steuben counties. He was nominated in the recent primary. He intends to file the necessary affidavits of withdrawal at once. His successor will be named by caucuses in the counties. When pressed for a reason for his resignation he said: "The district, normally, is overwhelmingly republican. To overcome such a majority necessitates a strong campaign and considerable expense. I find that I have neither the time nor the money."

THE AMERICAN NOTE TO BERLIN

Washington, April 20.—The full text of the note to Germany follows:

You are instructed to deliver to the secretary of foreign affairs a communication reading as follows:

"I did not fail to transmit immediately by telegraph, to my governments your excellency's note of the 10th instant in regard to certain attacks by German submarines, and particularly in regard to the disastrous explosion which, on March 24 last, wrecked the French steamship Sussex in the English channel. I have now the honor to deliver under instructions from my government the following reply to your excellency:

"Information now in the possession of the government of the United States fully establishes the facts in the case of the Sussex, and the inferences which my government has drawn from that information it regards as confirmed by the circumstances set forth in your excellency's note of the 10th instant. On the 4th of March, 1916, at about 2:50 o'clock in the afternoon, the unarmed steamer Sussex, with 325 or more passengers on board, among whom were a number of American citizens, was torpedoed while crossing from Folkestone to Dieppe. The Sussex had never been armed; was a vessel known to be habitually used only for the conveyance of passengers across the English channel, and was not following the route taken by troop ships or supply ships. About 80 of her passengers, non-combatants of all ages and sexes, including citizens of the United States, were killed or injured.

Shown By Investigation.

"A careful, detailed and scrupulously impartial investigation by naval and military officers of the United States has conclusively established the fact that the Sussex was torpedoed without warning or summons to surrender and that the torpedo by which she was struck was a German manufacture. In the view of the government of the United States these facts from the first made the conclusion that the torpedo was fired by a German submarine unavoidable. It now considers that conclusion substantiated by the statements of your excellency's note. A full statement of the facts upon which the government of the United States has based its conclusion is enclosed.

"The government of the United States, after having given careful consideration to the note of the imperial government of the 10th of April, regrets to state that the impression made upon it by the statements and proposals contained in that note is that the imperial government has failed to appreciate the gravity of the situation which has resulted, not alone from the attack on the Sussex, but from the whole method and character of submarine warfare as disclosed by the unrestrained practice of the commanders of German undersea craft during the past twelve months and more in the indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations.

Not An Isolated Case.

If the sinking of the Sussex had been an isolated case the government of the United States might find it possible to hope that the officer who was responsible for that act had wilfully violated his orders or had been criminally negligent in taking none of the precautions they prescribed, and that the ends of justice might be satisfied by imposing upon him an adequate punishment, coupled with a formal disavowal of the act and payment of a suitable indemnity by the imperial government. But, though the attack upon the Sussex was manifestly indefensible and caused a loss of life so tragical as to make it stand forth as one of the most terrible examples of the inhumanity of submarine warfare, as the commanders of German vessels are conducting it, unhappily it does not stand alone.

On the contrary the government of the United States is forced by recent events to conclude that it is only one instance, even though one of the most extreme and most distressing instances of the deliberate method and spirit of indiscriminate destruction of merchant vessels of all sorts, nationalities and destinations which have become more and more unmistakable as the activity of German undersea vessels of war has in recent months been quickened and extended.

The American Protest.

"The imperial government will recall that when, in February, 1915, it announced its intention of treating the waters surrounding Great Britain and Ireland as embraced within the seat of war and of destroying all merchant ships owned by its enemies that might be found within that zone of danger, and warned all vessels, neutral, as well as belligerent, to keep out of the waters thus prescribed or to enter them at their peril, the government of the United States earnestly protested. It took the position that such a policy could not be pursued without constant gross and palpable violations of the accepted law of nations, particularly if submarine craft were to be employed as its instruments, inasmuch as the rules prescribed by that law, rules founded on the principles of humanity and established for the protection of the lives of non-combatants at sea could not in the nature of the case be observed by such vessels. It based its protest on the ground that persons of neutral nationality and vessels of neutral ownership would be exposed to extreme and intolerable risks; and that no right to close any part of the high seas could lawfully be asserted by the imperial government in the circumstances then existing. The law of nations in these matters, upon which the government of the United States based that protest is not of recent origin or founded upon merely arbitrary principles set up by convention. It is based on the contrary, upon manifest principles of humanity and has long been established with the approval and by the express assent of all civilized nations.

Persisted in Policy.

"The imperial government, notwithstanding, persisted in carrying out the policy announced, expressing the hope that the dangers involved, at any rate to neutral vessels, would be reduced to a minimum by the instructions which it had issued to the commanders of its submarines and assuring the government of the United States that it would take every possible precaution both to respect the rights of neutrals and to safeguard the lives of non-combatants.

"In pursuance of this policy of submarine warfare against the commerce of its adversaries, thus announced and thus entered upon in despite of the solemn protest of the government of the United States the commanders of the imperial government's undersea vessels have carried on practices of such ruthless destruction which have made it more and more evident as the months have gone by that the imperial government has found it impracticable to put any such restraints upon them, as it had hoped and promised to put. Again and again the imperial government has given its solemn assurances to the government of the United States that at least passenger ships would not be thus dealt with and yet it has repeatedly permitted its undersea commanders to disregard those assurances with entire impunity. As recently as February last it gave notice that it would regard all armed merchantmen owned by its enemies as part of the armed naval forces of its adversaries and deal with them as with men of war, thus, at least by implication, pledging itself to give warning to vessels which were not armed and to accord security of life to their passengers and crews; but even this limitation their submarine commanders have recklessly ignored.

Neutral Ships Destroyed.

"Vessels of neutral ownership, even vessels of neutral ownership bound from neutral port to neutral port, have been destroyed along with vessels of belligerent ownership in constantly increasing numbers. Sometimes the merchantmen attacked have been warned and summoned to surrender before being fired on or torpedoed; sometimes their passengers and crews have been vouchsafed the poor security of being allowed to take to the ships' boats before the ship was sent to the bottom. But again and again no warning has been given, no escape even to the ships' boats allowed to those on board. Great liners like the Lusitania and Arabic and mere passenger boats like the Sussex have been attacked without a moment's warning, often before they have even become aware that they were in the presence of an armed ship of the enemy and the lives of non-combatants, passengers and crew have been destroyed wholesale and in a manner which the government of the United States cannot but regard as wanton and without the slightest color of justification. No limit of any kind has in fact been set to their indiscriminate pursuit and destruction of merchantmen of all kinds and nationalities within the waters which the imperial government has chosen to designate as lying within the seat of war. The roll of Americans who have lost their lives upon ships thus attacked and destroyed has grown month by month until the ominious toll has mounted into the hundreds.

Has Been Patient.

"The government of the United States has been very patient. At every stage of this distressing experience of tragedy after tragedy it has sought to be governed by the most thoughtful consideration of the extraordinary circumstances of an unprecedented war and to be guided by sentiments of very genuine friendship for the people and government of Germany. It has accepted the successive explanations and assurances of the imperial government as of course given in entire sincerity and good faith and has hoped, even against hope, that it would prove to be possible for the imperial government so to order and control the acts of its naval commanders as to square its policy with the recognized principles of humanity as embodied in the law of nations. It has made every allowance for unprecedented conditions and has been willing to wait until the facts became unmistakable and were susceptible of only one interpretation.

"It now owes it to a just regard for its own rights to say to the imperial government that that time has come. It has become painfully evident to it that the position which it took at the very outset is inevitable, namely, the use of submarines for the destruction of an enemy's commerce, is of necessity, because of the very character of the vessels employed and the very methods of attack which their employment of course involves, utterly incompatible with the principles of humanity, the long established and incontrovertible rights of neutrals, and the sacred immunities of non-combatants.

"If it is still the purpose of the imperial government to prosecute relentless and indiscriminate warfare against vessels of commerce by the use of submarines without regard to what the government of the United States must consider the sacred and indisputable rules of international law and the universally recognized dictates of humanity, the government of the United States is at last forced to the conclusion that there is but one course it can pursue. Unless the imperial government should now immediately declare in effect an abandonment of its present methods of submarine warfare against passenger and freight carrying vessels the government of the United States can have no choice but to sever diplomatic relations with the German empire altogether. This action the government of the United States contemplates with the greatest reluctance, but feels constrained to take in behalf of humanity and the rights of neutral nations."

RALSTON CHOSEN TO DELIVER KEYNOTE

Governor Will Be Temporary Chairman of Democratic Convention.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20.—Governor Ralston was designated yesterday afternoon by Chairman Bernard Korbly, of the democratic state committee, as temporary chairman for the state convention next Wednesday. Representative Lincoln Dixon, of the Fourth district, will be permanent chairman unless developments at Washington make it impossible for him to attend the convention. The "keynote" speech is to be made by the governor.

It was the belief of the many of the party leaders last night that the appointment of the governor as temporary chairman is a part of the now clearly-defined program to set the stage at the state convention so that Senator Thomas Taggart will be forced to accept the nomination for the short term in the United States senate.

When the state committee met here last week and adopted a resolution urging Senator Taggart to accept the nomination it is said that there was an understanding that the governor would be invited to accept the temporary chairmanship.

Taggart Maintains Silence.

Senator Taggart came to Indianapolis after the meeting of the state committee and after conferring with some of his close friends in politics returned to Washington without saying whether he would accept the nomination.

Senator Taggart, so his friends are saying, at heart is opposed to running for the senate, but he has refrained from making a statement publicly that he would not accept the nomination if the convention made a demand on him.

The governor will prepare his "keynote" address this week. It was said last night that it will be short and to the point and that not to exceed thirty minutes will be required in delivering it. The governor will indorse the president and his administration strongly and will praise the present state administration. He will reply briefly to the criticism made by Judge Quincy A. Myers, as temporary chairman of the republican state convention.

A number of conferences have been held within the last week regarding the state issues planks of the platform. The convention will be asked to indorse in full the acts of the present state administration and to approve of recommendations for changes in the primary election law, simplifying it and removing the second choice provision. The national issues will be brought to Indianapolis Sunday by some of the members of the congressional delegation.

Senator Taggart will arrive at French Lick Saturday afternoon and will come to Indianapolis Monday to remain until after the convention.

All changes for the new telephone directory must be reported to the Telephone Office this month.

FORD'S LEAD IN NEBRASKA GROWS

Omaha, Neb., April 20.—Latest returns from Tuesday's preferential primary have increased the lead given by early reports to Henry Ford, of Detroit, for the republican nomination for president and indicate the renomination of Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock on the democratic senatorial ticket by a majority of 2 to 1 over his opponent, Ignatius J. Dunn, of Omaha. William J. Bryan, former secretary of state, candidate for delegate at large to the democratic national convention, is running sixth. There are seven candidates. The four receiving the largest number of votes will be elected. Returns indicate that Keith Neville is about 5,000 votes ahead of C. W. Bryan, democratic candidate for governor and brother of the former secretary of state. Less than 400 of 1,800 precincts in the state have reported.

SOLDIERS RULE IN NEW YORK VILLAGE

Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 20.—With four companies of state militia in control today of this village, the strike situation involving employes of the National Conduit and Cable company was quiet except for one minor disturbance when two foreigners attempted unsuccessfully to disarm a trooper. Two strikers are in a hospital. A dozen men characterizing this trooper as a "tin soldier" told hi mthey were about to take his gun and bayonet. Two rushed forward and the militiamen whacked one on the skull with the gun and thrust his bayonet through the fleshy part of the other's shoulder. Their companions dispersed. Neither of the two was seriously wounded.

Sentinel Want Ads. Pay.

City Employe to Contest Penalties Because Unpaid Himself.

Danville, Ill., April 20.—Conley Martin, police chauffeur, owes $18 in taxes. Because of the "wet" and "dry" fight in the city council the city has not paid salaries for six months, though $90,000 in gold, saloon license money, is in the city treasury. The "dry" members of the council have blocked all efforts to use the money for any purpose.

Meanwhile Martin has been asked to pay taxes. He asked for a settlement of his wages and failed to get it. He then was notified that 5 per cent. interest was being charged since January 2. If by May 2 he fails to pay 5 per cent. is added and if he fails to pay by June 2, according to the notice he received, his home will be sold for taxes. Martin has employed counsel to contest the action.

Chile will send an official commission to the United States to make a thorough study of agricultural and industrial hydraulics.

FREIGHT CLERKS GIVEN A BOOST

Chief Clerk George Miller, of the Wabash, Makes Some Changes.

George J. Miller, chief clerk at the Wabash freight office, has just made several changes in his clerical force, most of which are promotions of worthy young men. The change started with the resignation of C. J. Getty, rate clerk, who has gone to the Nathan Grain company. He has been succeeded by Clarence Patrick. Then came the resignation of A. H. Helmke to take a position in Toledo and he has been succeeded as revising clerk by R. A. Kendall, who in turn was succeeded by E. L. Rogers, advanced to abstract clerk. O. O. Goddard has been advanced to claim clerk, succeeding Mr. Rogers. L. Schaub, formerly shipping clerk at the Bass foundry, has been employed as assistant cashier and L. Rau, of Roanoke, has been employed as O. S. & D. clerk, succeeding J. A. Sullivan, who resigned to take a position in Detroit. All changes affecting the men already in the employ of the company are good promotions and follow a service of one or more years at the freight office. Mr. Miller said this morning that local business was good, that a great deal of paving and building material is coming in, besides an unusual lot of other incoming and outgoing freight.

The Committees Busy on Electro-Technic Event.

General Chairman F. G. Duryee, of the Electro-Technic club, has arrangements for the third field day event, which will be held at Swinney park June 24, well under way and promises a show better than anything of the kind ever pulled off here. J. B. Mills, chairman of the athletic committee, the most important of the events, has named his assistants and made other arrangements to make track events a success. Dr. F. J. Schulz will be the starter; J. H. Evans, A. L. Hadley and William Franke will be the judges; Nelson Bauer the clerk and Frank Gaffney and J. L. Birley the timers. There will be another event which promises to be exciting and interesting, the contest for the most popular girl at the factory. Every employe will vote on his choice and the girls who receive the highest number of bids will be the contestants for the prizes, which will be $10, $7.50 and $5. Each of these three girls will have charge of a ticket booth at which those who want cream, candy or any other article on sale at the stands must buy the tickets and the girl selling the most tickets gets the first prize, $10; the second gets $7.50 and the third $5. An automobile parade starting from the factory on Broadway will open the exercises for the afternoon. This will start at 12:30 o'clock, so that it can be finished by 1 o'clock, the hour at which time the athletic events commence. There will be thirty autos in the parade, all occupied by officials and employes of the company.

NEGRO CONFESSES TO ROBBING HOUSE

Robert Mack, a negro, has confessed to Detective Sergeant W. F. Pappert that he and Herbert Morning, another negro, broke into the old Montgomery Hamilton homestead, northwest corner of Clinton and Montgomery streets, now owned by Henry C. Paul and unoccupied, ripped up a hundredweight of lead pipe from the basement plumbing and sold it to a junker. The sale of the lead prompted the investigation and when it was learned who had disposed of it Detective Pappert started out to connect the robbery of the house with the merchandising of the negroes. Mack and Morning were arraigned in the city court Thursday morning on charges of petit larceny and the hearing was continued until Friday, the colored men going to jail in default of bond.

Fugitive Held for Officers.

Walter W. Staley, who says he is 24 years old and looks a good strong 40, was arraigned in the city court Thursday morning as a fugitive, and put under $500 bond to await the arrival of officers from Huntington, W. Va., where he is wanted for grand larceny. Staley is charged with having sold five sewing machines he took from an agency by which he was employed, selling the property and absconding with the proceeds, amounting to about $260. He was arrested early Wednesday evening by Detective Sergeant Walter Immel on Calhoun street, the detective identifying the fugitive by means of a circular sent to the local department. Staley at first denied his identity, but later admitted that he was the man wanted. He came to Fort Wayne last Saturday accompanied by his wife, a very pretty woman of 17 years, who says she was married at the age of 15 years to Staley in Virginia after a courtship of two or three days. Mrs. Staley expresses confidence that her husband will be able to settle matters with the people he robbed in Huntington, W. Va.

Other City Court Cases.

Harry O'Brien, a hobo, arrested by Wabash railway officers here for train climbing, was turned loose.

Charles Meyer, of Milan township, who occasionally comes to Fort Wayne to break the drouth and usually winds up in a police cell, was in Wednesday morning on a drunk charge and drew $1 and costs.

Lizzie Gerhard, who has been under a month's continuance in the city court on a drunk charge, convinced the court she had been sober during her probation and was allowed to go.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR BABY.

Pushing the cart that carried her baby too close to the curb at Calhoun and Columbia streets, Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Minnie Harrison, 744 West DeWald street, exposed her infant to danger when an interurban car swung around the corner. The go-cart was struck and hurled aside, the baby being thrown out. The cart was damaged but the babe was uninjured.

MAY HAVE GONE TO MEXICO.

The police have been asked to aid in finding Ralph Banet, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Louise Banet, who disappeared from home, 1602 East Pontiac street, on Sunday, April 2, and has not since been heard from. Mrs. Banet knows of no reason why he should have run away from home. He stood well at the Smith grocery, Anthony boulevard and Pontiac street, where he had employment and was in no trouble of any sort.

NEW PRODUCT WINS FAME

Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice Gains Rapidly in Popularity.

The new and delicious food, Kre-Mo Sterilized Rice, has been on the market only a short time and the fame that it has gained already in Fort Wayne has spread to other cities. The reason for this popularity is because of the recognized merit of Kre-Mo as a food. Realizing that rice forms the principal food of from one-third to one-half of the world's population, the manufacturers set about to prepare a delicious and nourishing product that would have all the good characteristics of rice, yet which would far surpass rice in every way, especially in the taste. The delightfully tempting flavor of Kre-Mo is the result. Order a package today or ask your grocer for a sample carton.

The Doctor's Advice

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice, free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name, and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drug store. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

Mrs. Belle C. writes: "I am informed that I have kidney trouble and that it is fast approaching a serious stage. What would you prescribe?"

Answer: If your symptoms are the usual ones, such as puffs under the eyes, swelling ankles; scant, copious or foul-smelling urine accompanied by headaches, pains, depression, fever, chills, etc., I would advise the immediate use of balm-wort tablets, a very fine remedy for such difficulties, sold in sealed tubes with full directions for self-administration.

James J. asks: "For several months I have not been feeling well. My skin is sallow, my tongue is coated, have headache, am sleepless, nervous and bothered with chronic constipation. Please help me."

Answer: You need a laxative blood cleansing treatment in the form of three-grain sulpherb tablets (not sulphur). Overcome the tendency to constipation and gradually your good health and pure blood will return.

"Poor Nerves" writes: "Is it possible to find a medicine which by its tonic or nutritive powers will bring the glow of health and ambition back to a man who has everything in the world but health and happiness? I am dull, forgetful, despondent, weak, trembling, short of breath and suffer more or less with pain in spine and back of head."

Answer: Your condition indicates the need of a strong, harmless tonic nutritive to restore nerve equilibrium, which in turn fortifies and strengthens the organs of nutrition, thus vitalizing the blood and promoting new cell and tissue to take care of the waste forces. Three-grain cadomene tablets, packed in sealed tubes with full directions, are recommended in all such cass.

"D. E. G." writes: "My rheumatism is getting worse all the time. I am getting so stiff that it makes it very hard for me to get around."

Answer: Do not worry about your rheumatism, as thatcan be very easily controlled by using the following: Get at the drugstore the ingredients named, mix thoroughly and take a teaspoonful at meal time and again at bedtime and you should soon be entirely relieved of that disagreeable disease, rheumatism. Purchase 2 drams of iodide of potassium; ½ oz. of wine of colchicum; 4 drams of sodium salicylate; 1 oz. comp. fluid balmwort; 1 oz. comp. essence cardiol, and 5 ozs. of syrup sarsaparilla. This has satisfied thousands and I am sure it will you.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well-stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks: "Tell me, please, how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be aenemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

FLAUNTED CRIMES BEFORE OFFICIALS

"Yellow Owls" is Biggest ... Smuggling Ring Yet ... Trapped.

Seattle, Wash., April 20.—A crook's psychology which netted a million!

"Slim" Lorti, "Yellow Owl" Leader.

Wagering their knowledge of human nature against the contrabandist's usual fate, a score of whites and Chinese, leaders of the outlaws, outwitted the port guardians of Seattle for more than a year.

They landed drugs and Chinese in broad daylight and at the most crowded wharves of the city—brazenly. Their speedy power boats time and again ran past waiting immigration patrols, with lights blazing and whistles tooting.

"We figured," said "Slim" Lorti, confessed leader of the ring, now awaiting prison sentence here, "that the best place to land contraband was at the most public and crowded places.

"One load of Chinese we landed within a stone's throw and within full sight of the immigration station. It was a splendid joke. Our very frankness disarmed suspicion time and again."

They proved that the watchfulness of officers and the confidence of the latter in their own impressiveness may offer an outlaw his best protection.

Thoroughly financed by some as yet unapprehended "higher ups," with ramifications extending from British Columbia to the Mexican border, the "Yellow Owls" operated on a gigantic scale.

It is estimated by Immigration Commissioner Henry White here than the ring cleared some $1,400,000 in the past year.

A crowd of smuggled Chinese who went astray caused the betrayal of the gang to the federal officials. Nearly 30 arrests have already been made, including the confessed ring leaders.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a 50-cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.

Rival Butchers, in Price War, Finally Gave Meat Away.

Salem, Ore., April 20.—War between two rival meat markets in Salem has led to a spirited price cutting contest in which the public reaped the benefit.

The two markets are opposite each other, and when one posted a sign, "Spareribs, eight cents a pound," the other followed suit with a sign quoting spareribs at five cents a pound.

Immediately the first shop posted another sign, cutting the price to three cents, while the rival came back with a drop to two cents a pound.

Not to be outdone, the rival announced, "Spareribs free."

The other market, undaunted at this, went one better, however, by posting a sign, "Spareribs free. We deliver 'em."

The street in front of the two markets become almost blocked to traffic when the last two signs apeared, and a majority of Salem residents had spareribs for dinner as a result.

Though both arms were severed within three inches of the shoulder six years ago, David T. Jones, of Baltimore, has mastered stenography.

TAKE SALTS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS

Meat forms uric acid which excites and overworks the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Regular eaters of meat must flush the kidneys occasionally. You must relieve them like you relieve your bowels; removing all the acids, waste and poison, else you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sours, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment; the channels often get irritated, obliging you to get up two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids and flush off the body's urinous waste get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine and bladder disorders disappear. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive; harmless and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then, thus avoiding serious kidney and bladder diseases.—Advertisement.

THE SENTINEL'S SPECIAL SERIES OF HOLY WEEK SERMONS BY AMERICA'S SIX GREATEST EVANGELISTS.

Jesus Rose from the Dead and is Interceding With God for You and Me, Says Evangelist Biederwolf

BY REV. W. E. BIEDERWOLF
Revivalist of National Note, and General Secretary of the Commission on Evangelism of the Federated Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Text: "If Christ be not risen, your faith is vain"—1 Corinthians, 15:17.

There are other important subjects connected with the Christian religion

but hardly any as important as this one, for "If Christ be not risen," then is our preaching all in vain and your faith is vain.

No wonder the old devil has trained all the heavy artillery of hell against this great fortress, for when it goes, the throne of God must fall, all heaven must capitulate and it will be all off with the religion of Christ and nothing could make hell howl with delight more than this.

First, could God raise Jesus from the dead? When Paul preached the resurrection, those old epicurean and stoic philosophers up in Athens called him a "babbler." But Paul said, "Why should it be thought a thing incredible that God should raise the dead?"

Second, did God raise Jesus from the dead? "The disciples stole the body, then tried to deceive the people," you say. But, you say, the disciples laid down their lives for this thing, and no man would die for what he knew was a lie.

You say "Jesus only swooned, then revived and crawled out of the tomb." But how did he get the heavy stone rolled away. This view makes Him an unprincipled monster. The disciples thought he had died, but He knew He had only swooned, and yet this thing that remoulded all their lives, this thing that furnished them the ground of their hopes, this thing they depended upon to convert the world, this thing for which they had laid down their lives. He knew was a lie yet He never told them.

Yes, Jesus did rise from the dead. He ascended into heaven and He is there now at the right hand of God interceding for you and me. And every one who really knows Him is saying, "Hurry Jesus and come back again." For when He comes again, Paul says, even those who are asleep in Him will He bring with Him when He comes," and what a day that will be!

God pity the man who has no resurrected savior! God pity the man who has no living Christ! God pity the man who has no reigning Lord! God pity the man who has no hope and who has no faith!

Yield yourself to the risen saviour today!

Play in The Sentinel horseshoe pitching contest will be called at 3 o'clock next Monday afternoon, with all who prefer daytime to night pitching on deck. There are several dozen pitchers who have said that they would rather pitch in the daytime than at night, and they will be given the afternoon. The contest will be staged at Swinney park.

With the exception of those who pitch in the daytime, the doubles will be played off Monday night, and the singles Tuesday night, and if the contests last longer than the two nights and an afternoon the finals will be staged later in the week.

There are nearly 200 entered in the contest, and half of them are in the singles. Plans have been made for sixteen courts, and sixteen games will be played at once in the evenings to enable the contestants to get through and away as quickly as possible.

Players will be requested to report at the desk in the pavilion and singles and doubles will be paired and checked there. After each set (two out of three games of twenty-one points each being elimination) the players are requested to report at the table the result of the set.

HOW TO PITCH HORSESHOES, TOLD BY AN EXPERT

(By Charles R. Cox, Champion Horseshoe Pitcher of Ohio.)

Pitching horseshoes looks like easy sport to master, but in reality it is quite the opposite. It is one of the finest exercises in the world. You'll find it one of the really enjoyable ways of passing the long summer evenings.

By holding your shoe in the proper way you will find it easy to control. In starting your pitch hold shoe as shown in the accompanying illustration, heel calks down, thumb on top of the shoe, the index finger firmly grasping the lower portion of the heel calk, the middle finger curled under the shoe directly beneath your thumb and extending around the shoe so that the end of it rests on the inside upper edge, the tip of your fourth finger firmly touching the inside lower edge.

Many good pitchers do not curl the middle finger around the shoe as I have outlined, but they have developed their own style. The control of your shoe depends entirely on manipulation of your middle finger. Careful study of form shows that the best control of a shoe can be had with the middle finger held as I have outlined.

If you are pitching without your own shoes (and the only ones at hand are too heavy for you) or where the ground is muddy, making the shoes slippery, better control can be secured with a slightly different hold, had by curling the fourth finger around the shoe in addition to the middle finger, and shifting the little finger to a firm hold on the under side of the shoe. This will keep a heavy or slippery shoe from wobbling.

Champion Cox Showing Correct Way to Hold Shoe.

Perfect the arm movement. In starting your pitch; hold your shoe as I have described, in your pitching hand, at arm's length in front of you. (See illustration.)

With the shoe in this position, start a full, free arm swingy which carries the shoe to arm's length behind you and back again to the point of starting, where the shoe is released by simply allowing it to slide from your fingers. Do not jerk or snap it in any way, as this will make it "wobble" in the course of its flight, and a wobbly shoe will not stay where it lights.

Pitch a medium high, flat shoe, allowing it, at the highest point, to reach an altitude of from twelve to sixteen feet. Aim at the peg, or point within an inch of it. Practice each day.

PERU EXPECTS A REGULAR BATTLE

"Mart Cleary's Fort Wayne team, which lost their first contest Sunday to the strong Defiance, O., team in a close finish, the score being 2 to 1, will be here next Sunday to cross bats with Peru's Greys.

"For several years Fort Wayne has held a berth in the Central league but this year the representative team of the town will play independent Sunday and holiday ball and will stage most of their games in their home city, as Fort Wayne is a strong baseball town. As the people of Fort Wayne have been used to league baseball it has been necessary for Manager Cleary to surround himself with a classy team in order to interest the fans of that city and it is certain that the Greys will not have the walkaway next Sunday that they had with the dusky braves from French Lick in their first game."

FORT DOPE

Red Ainsworth has gone to the Terre Haute Central league club, his release having been purchased by Lefty Gilbert from the Omaha organization in the Western league. Red won the high honors among Central league pitchers last year with a total of twenty-four wins against nine lost.

Bade Myers' Muskegon Reds will start a series in Grand Rapids this week and the Wolverine towns are up in the air and excited over the prospects. Neighbors are so few in the Michigan bush that it's a pleasure to have one to fight with.

The Sentinel baseball team will be on the job at Lawton park Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and will rush the Pennsylvania crowd through five innings. It's lucky for the Pennsy she has a big relief squad.

Vesta Stibbs is an Ohio lady. So much so in fact that she has become a professional racehorse trainer, and is making good in her new line of endeavor. Woman's sphere is expanding.

A great tennis meet is being planned at Cleveland, and seating stands are being erected for 6,000 spectators. The event will be thrown June 24 to July 1, and will be the day court national championship.

THE PROGRESS OF ATHLETICS

St. Louis, April 20—Amateur athletic greats who competed in the recent relay carnival at the Missouri Athletic association had a gay old time, according to club officials. After a round-up of the expense accounts the officials are preparing to send out bills to certain contestants demanding payment for cigarettes, drinks, long distance phone calls, etc., charged to the club.

One athlete, heralded about this section as a star, was found to have signed for no fewer than eleven drinks—not milk—in his twenty-four hour stag. A 25-cent package of cigarettes is included among the tabs. The athlete represented an eastern college.

Some of the performers signed for using the long distance phone to great advantage. The barbers and manicurists were busy while the famed collegians were in town. Some of those who found time hanging heavy played billiards and used tabs. None overlooked the bill of fare.

About one hundred and twenty-five were in attendance at the April birthday social given Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room of the Presbyterian church. A good program was rendered. Music was furnished by the orchestra and the Daniel boys. Refreshments and a social time completed the occasion.

RED A FAST MAN.

If all the other members of the Cincinnati ball club can keep pace with "Red" Killifer this season the Herzogian outfit should travel a speedy clip in the present race. Tommy Griffith, also of the Reds, recently bet Killifer $10 that the latter couldn't run a third of a mile while a trotting horse, being exercised, stepped a mile. Killifer won with yards to spare.

The "Talking Machine" was a wonderful thing in its day, but there was a great difference between the tone of the artist's voice and that of the machine. The wonderful musical instrument, known as the Edison Diamond Disc, which so perfectly reproduces the voice of the singer or the tone of the instrument played, is so far ahead of other voice producing instruments that other makes are not at all in the same class. Foster's are Fort Wayne agents.

He Picked Her Up at Dayton as Reward of Merit.

Frankie Mason, local gnat-weight, was the hero of a heart-throb sketch pulled at Dayton last week. The local hard hitter was booked to meet Kid Dayton at the cash register town and the day of the fight was going through the Sullivan animal store.

"That's a beautiful cat," remarked Frankie, with an air that marked him as an admirer of feline beauty. "I'd like to own a beast like that."

"Look, here, kid," said Sullivan, "you lick that boy tonight and it's your cat."

Of course Frankie licked that boy, and for a moment had forgotten the prize, when Sullivan dragged the three-colored beast to the center of the group and presented it to the local boxer.

That explains why Mason came to town dragging under his arm a cross between a tiger and a kittie that was as big as he was, and twice as handsome.

Tenth of a Series of Photos, Posed Especially by Joe Tinker, Jr., for The Sentinel On How to Play Baseball.

BASE RUNNING.

Learn to start in a jiffy. That is the first point emphasized by my dad in teaching me to run bases. Make every move count. Get away—and when you do, hurry and keep going! It's one thing to get on first base, but a different matter to reach second.

A runner who isn't well up in the game will often make three or four false starts in the hope of drawing throws from the catcher to second, but a foxy backstop is hard to fool.

The pitcher is bound to keep his eyes on the base runner on first. This, however, will not prevent a good runner from stealing second. In addition the first and second baseman watch the runner on first, which means four brains plot against one. To beat this combination you must use not only your feet, but your wits, judgment and brains.

A runner should train for base stealing just as he would for any other athletic event. Practice sprinting with short halts. Learn to hook slide or go into the base with your body thrown to the side of the sack opposite that of the fielder and just tag the sack with your foot. Watch the coachers at first or third, but learn to rely on your brain.

HALF DOZEN TRUE BILLS EXPECTED

Grand Jury Will Probably Make Its Report Saturday Morning.

Rumors are about the court house that the grand jury has already taken testimony that insures the return of at least half a dozen indictments when that body's presentment is made. The jury is now expected to report not earlier than Saturday morning, when it is said that true bills will be laid before Judge John W. Eggeman in the circuit court. The two inquisitions upon which public attention is most fixed relates to the affairs of Henry P. Scherer, trustee of Wayne township, whose official conduct has been pretty thoroughly investigated, and the assaults made on street cars and street car men. The jury will visit the county institutions Friday, including the new county farm where the tuberculosis hospital and the home for boys and girls are situated. President W. C. Schwier, of the board of county commissioners, has offered to make arrangements for automobiles to take the grand jurors to the new farm.

SEWER WORK HOLDS TRACK ELEVATION

Moellering Company Finds Bas Mess in Drain in North Side.

Just when the Lake Shore and Nickel Plate railroads will be permitted to proceed with track elevation at Osage street is problematical. Nothing can be done until the sewer that will afford drainage to the subways is completed by the Moellering Construction company. The contractors are in the midst of a bad mess of quicksands and other obstacles and their progress is slow. About 800 feet of the sewer remain to be completed. The Lake Shore engineers notified the board a few days ago that they were ready to proceed with their bridge work as soon as drainage would permit.

COMPLAINTS OF WASTE PAPER.

Street Superintendent Herman Strodel and Deputy James J. Dorner are complaining of the laxity with which waste paper is taken care of by many business houses in the downtown district. The winds of the last few days have scattered this paper far and wide and the street cleaning department has been kept tolerably busy collecting it. The scattering of waste paper in streets and alleys is covered by ordinance, but the street department hopes there will be no necessity to invoke the penalties of that measure.

STREET-GRADING IS BEGUN.

Extensive operations in the grading of unpaved streets in many parts of the city hase been inaugurated by Street Superintendent Strodel, who has enough work ahead to keep his men and machines constantly employed for some time. The dirt streets are getting into good condition for this work.

REPLY BY WEEK-END MAY BE IMPOSSIBLE

would cause almost another week to elapse before the German decision could be transmitted here. Ambassador Bernstorff refused to discuss his conversation with Secretary Lansing but indicated his call was not prompted by the arrival of instructions from his government. Regarding the hope held here by German officials for an amicable settlement one of them described the prospect as a "toss up."

Secretary Lansing explained in detail to the German ambassador the position of the United States and is understood to have expressed the sincere hope that the attitude of the German government would be so adjusted as to meet the position taken by the United States.

What He Told Lansing.

The ambassador was understood to have informed the secretary of the details of a message he sent yesterday to his government making certain recommendations which he believed if acceptable to his government would be satisfactory to the United States. In addition the ambassador informed the secretary of a message of a highly confidential nature he had received from Berlin.

Last night Count von Bernstorff appeared hopeful that some way would be found to prevent a break of relations. His manner today indicated that he was not so sanguine.

After returning to the embassy Count von Bernstorff prepared a long dispatch which probably will be sent to his government before night. The ambassador was authoritatively represented as having sought the secretary's views in regard to a tentative proposal that Germany issue immediately a declaration covering all submarine operations similar to that issued on Jan. 7 for the operation in the Mediterranean. How the suggestion was received was not divulged but the general belief is that no step will be considered until some definite response from Berlin has been received.

OPINION IS DIVIDED.

London Newspapers Discuss Probable Course of Germany.

London, April 20.—(2:30 p. m.)—Although recent dispatches from America had led the British public to expect a sharp note from the United States to Germany in regard to the submarine controversy, the language employed by President Wilson in his address to congress came as something of a surprise.

The evening newspapers generally refer to the note as an ultimatum, pointing out that although no date for a reply has been filed, Germany is expected to send its answer by the end of the week.

Opinion is divided as to what attitude Germany will adopt. Some of the newspapers take the view that public opinion will compel the Berlin government to refuse to comply with the demands of the United States. Others are equally certain Germany will abandon indiscriminate warfare rather than sever relations with the greatest of the neutral powers.

The note had little effect on the stock market, which was steady at the opening.

It is understood that a proposition advanced by Arthur Henderson, president of the board of education and a labor leader, will have the effect of reopening the voluntary enlistment scheme for a month or six weeks and that this proposal was accepted in principle by the cabinet with a view of ascertaining whether sufficient men would come forward for military service without the introduction of general compulsion.

The labor members, however, demand that all facts and figures regarding the military situation and requirements shall be submitted to the house of commons before the consent to any measure of universal conscription. This has not been confirmed officially.

strength of various Carranza garrisons in the vicinity before it could not have exceeded 1,500. According to the dispatches it was the purpose of the commander who ordered the move to establish the force south of the most advanced position of Gen. Pershing's troops near Parral.

Previous advices, merely reporting that the Carranza troops were being moved toward Parral, had caused some speculation, but today's message was the first that sought to explain the matter. The most important aspect in the official viewpoint here, it was intimated, is the indication that the de facto government has not full control over all its military forces. The war department has been without direct advices from the troops in the Parral region for several days. Messages to the state department, however, have indicated that there has been no additional cause of alarm as to the situation.

It was learned authoritatively today that the United States has already acknowledged through Special Agent Rodgers, at Mexico City, the receipt of Gen. Carranza's note suggesting the withdrawal of the American troops. The instructions to Mr. Rodgers went some days ago. Gen. Carranza was informed that his argument was being given most serious consideration and nothing has come from Mr. Rodgers since then to indicate that the de facto government was dissatisfied over the delay in assembling data upon which a full answer to its note may be based.

Jaws Torn Away.

The weapon which he used to commit his deed was a twelve gauge, double-barreled shotgun. He had loaded only one chamber. It is thought from the position of the body when found that he sat on the side of the bed and placed the muzzle beneath his chin and pulled the trigger with his other hand. The entire lower and upper jaw were completely blown away.

When the niece heard the shot she stepped to the door, but was afraid to look in and called neighbors, who at once summoned Dr. Stemen, as it appeared as Mr. Seaton was not dead. The physician stated that none of the shot entered the head, but that death was due to loss of blood.

Mr. Seaton had been in the employ of Mr. Thieme for over a year and was well liked by everyone who knew him. Seven weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Seaton went to New York city to visit with friends and while in that city Mrs. Seaton was taken seriously ill. Mr. Seaton made several visits to the city and last week when he arrived he found his wife in a critical condition. Since that time his general attitude was changed and his appearance showed that he was worrying.

The deceased was born in Scotland but had resided in this country for many years. Besides the wife, whose death is expected at any time, he is survived by a brother residing in Canada.

Coroner J. E. McArdle ordered the body removed to Klaehn & Melching's morgue.

BRYAN HURRIES TO WASHINGTON

Washington, April 20.—Telegrams from William J. Bryan announcing the hour he expects to arrive here and reiterating the opinion that it would be "a crime against civilization for this country to go into war," were the only intimations which Representative Bailey, of Pennsylvania, Mr. Bryan's spokesman in the house, had today of the Nebraskan's plans on his Washington visit.

Mr. Bailey recalled Mr. Bryan's statement that if war seemed to him imminent he would come to Washington, dropping anything else that he might have on hand. Mr. Bailey said Mr. Bryan would attend a testimonial dinner here tonight.

Sparks from a nearby chimney stack set fire to the one-story frame barn at 1802 South Calhoun street, Thursday morning. The loss amounted to $5.

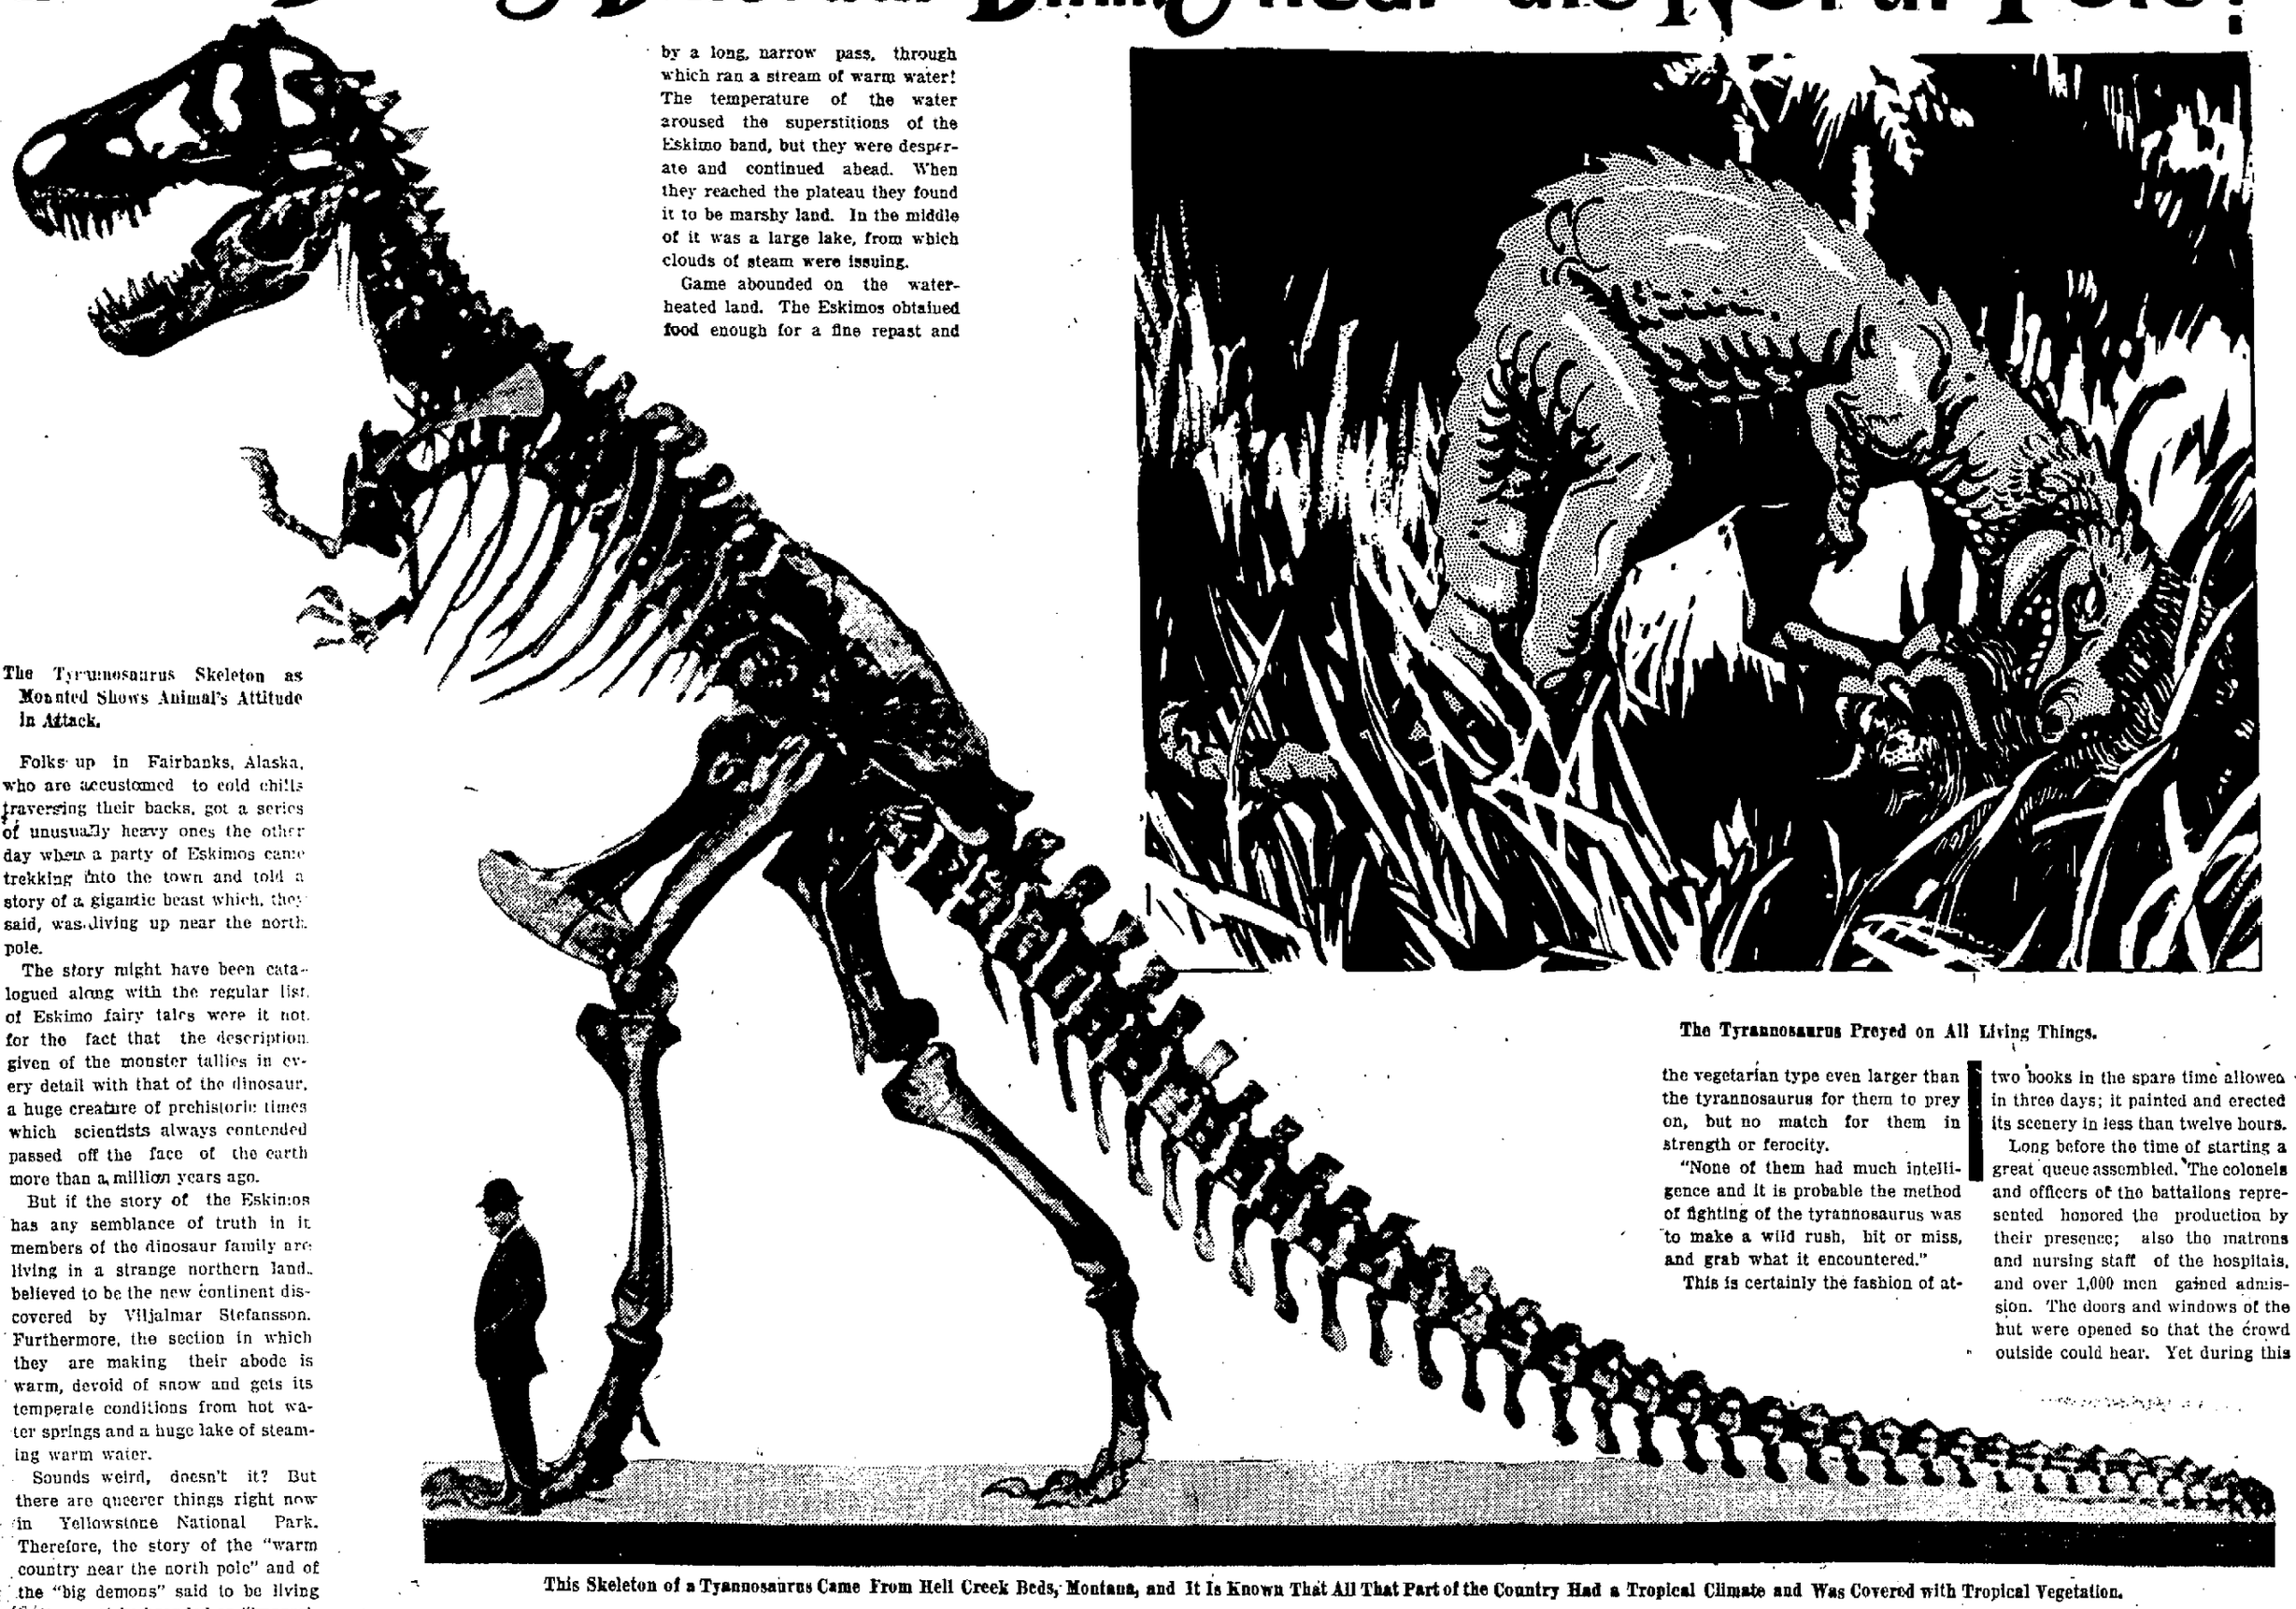
Is the Deadly Dinosaur Dining near the North Pole!



The Tyrannosaurus Skeleton as Mounted Shows Animal's Attitude in Attack.

The Tyrannosaurus Preyed on All Living Things.

This Skeleton of a Tyannosaurus Came From Hell Creek Beds, Montana, and It Is Known That All That Part of the Country Had a Tropical Climate and Was Covered with Tropical Vegetation.

Folks up in Fairbanks, Alaska, who are accustomed to cold chills traversing their backs, got a series of unusually heavy ones the other day when a party of Eskimos came trekking into the town and told a story of a gigantic beast which, they said, was living up near the north pole.

The story might have been catalogued along with the regular list of Eskimo fairy tales were it not for the fact that the description given of the monster tallies in every detail with that of the dinosaur, a huge creature of prehistoric times which scientists always contended passed off the face of the earth more than a million years ago.

But if the story of the Eskimos has any semblance of truth in it members of the dinosaur family are living in a strange northern land, believed to be the new continent discovered by Viljalmar Stefansson. Furthermore, the section in which they are making their abode is warm, devoid of snow and gets its temperate conditions from hot water springs and a huge lake of steaming warm water.

Sounds weird, doesn't it? But there are queerer things right now in Yellowstone National Park. Therefore, the story of the "warm country near the north pole" and of the "big demons" said to be living in it cannot be branded as "impossible."

WAS KING OF BEASTS.

Among those who heard the tales of the Eskimos was Henry C. Coe, Jr., son of Henry C. Coe, a famous New York physician. The story soon found its way to New York and then to the American Museum of Natural History. Officials of that great institution declared, after hearing of the "northern monster," that the description fitted in every detail that of the tyrannosaurus, a gigantic flesh-eating reptile of the cretaceous age, who in his time was the "king of beasts."

The tyrannosaurus was a member of the dinosaur family. A skeleton of one just has been mounted in the American Museum. It is forty-eight feet in length and eighteen feet high. Also it has a head like a barrel, and double rows of long, sharp teeth. While officials of the American Museum expressed themselves as being more than doubtful as to the truth of the story told by the Eskimos, they still, figuratively speaking, "held an ace in the hole" by quoting from "Hamlet:"

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio,
Than thy philosophy ever dreamed of."

Now for the tale of the Eskimos. Several weeks ago a straggling band of them trailed into Fairbanks. A grizzled old man led them. He carried a piece of frozen flesh about a foot square. His band had skins to trade, and one of the white men who was dickering with them asked what they intended doing with the piece of frozen flesh. The old man drew back in apparent alarm.

"Him great luck-giver," he said. "We no sell him."

"Ugh! Far, far up," was the somewhat mystic reply. "No flesh, no bird that flies, no anything. Him come from big demon. Big demon kill two of our tribe. Him bring great luck."

SWEPT TO STRANGE LAND.

It was with difficulty and much patience that the trader got from the Eskimos the story of the frozen piece of flesh, which was the story of the "big demon."

The old Eskimo said that more than a year ago he and about fifty others were living on Thetis Island, off the northern extremity of Alaska. One day his son and eleven other men of the tribe went on a fishing expedition which carried them over the ice of the Arctic ocean. There was a sudden breaking up of the ice—one of those catastrophes of the far north which are the dread of every arctic explorer.

On a huge floe the twelve Eskimos were carried out to sea. They had a few fish with them. They also had a firemaking machine, but very little else. They devoured the fish raw and remained huddled together on the floe, fearful lest it should split up again and hurl them into the icy water. For many days they drifted in the Arctic ocean. The days stretched out into weeks, and the little band had given itself up for lost when far off through the northern mist land was sighted. The floe drifted in that direction.

The Eskimos saw not only land, but mountain ranges—a strange, new country to them. Making their way ashore they found signs of game—of the musk ox, the arctic fox and reindeer. Having their own primitive weapons with them, they managed to get food enough to keep them alive, and at the same time wandered inland, hoping to find human beings.

For many days, they said, they tracked through the mountainous country. Finally they reached the top of a particularly high ridge and there surveyed their surroundings. To their great joy they saw far off in the distance a land which to them appeared to have fertility in it. They began the journey toward it.

But when they reached the bottom of the ridge the land was no longer in sight. Another observation showed that the seemingly fertile country was on a plateau, which made it invisible from the base of the mountains. So they journey toward the plateau. To their amazement, the snow became softer and finally disappeared entirely as they neared it.

The high, flat land was reached by a long, narrow pass, through which ran a stream of warm water! The temperature of the water aroused the superstitions of the Eskimo band, but they were desperate and continued ahead. When they reached the plateau they found it to be marshy land. In the middle of it was a large lake, from which clouds of steam were issuing.

Game abounded on the water-heated land. The Eskimos obtained food enough for a fine repast and then had their first comfortable sleep since they had been carried away from Thetis Island. After many hours their leader was aroused by peculiar whining noises. He peered over a rocky formation on which they had been sleeping and there, according to the story he told his father, and which the father repeated at Fairbanks, he saw a monster fully fifty feet in length, with a huge head, a long neck and a long tail. Its hind legs were large and powerful; its forward ones were short.

FIND BOILING LAKE.

Now, the Eskimo never had seen a kangaroo, but his description of the arctic demon fitted that of a kangaroo, except in the respective sizes of the two creatures.

The panic-stricken Eskimo aroused a companion and pointed toward the beast.

"The gods may have cursed us," said the companion. "They led us to a warm place with plenty of food and then they made our minds work the wrong way. We are seeing what is not, my brother."

This is according to the tale of the old Eskimo. The two men then aroused the other members of their party. All agreed that some 200 yards from them there flopped about in the marshy land a tremendous beast, which paused now and then to utter a peculiar whining sound—the noise that had attracted the attention of the Eskimo leader.

Being superstitious in the extreme, the Eskimos decided finally that the god of fortune had blessed them with comfort and then cursed them with false vision. To propitiate the god they told off two of of their number to approach the monster and speak to it in the hope it would vanish. The two young Eskimos started off reluctantly.

As they advanced toward the "demon"" it turned, eyed them for only a few moments and charged. The men easily dodged it, whereupon it turned, made a second charge, gave its tail a tremendous alligator-like twitch and felled the Eskimos. Then it deliberately hopped up to the prostrate and unconscious pair and devoured them.

PLATEAU A GRAVEYARD.

All of the remaining Eskimos still believed that they were laboring under some sort of a spell; that the monster was not real, that their companions had not been killed but would be restored to them by their "god of fate" as soon as they left the land of the hot water. So they crawled down from their rock eminence and crept away from the plateau. But in the snowy wastes food became scarce and finally they were compelled by hunger to return.

This time the "demon" was not in sight. The Eskimos killed what game they wanted and stocked up with plenty of food. Some of it they "cached" on the rock stretch on which they had slept. Then they proceeded to explore the plateau. It seemed to be an "animal graveyard." Bones lay on all sides. Evidently the "demon" had more of its kind, for in every direction were huge three-toed marks which could have been made by nothing but a monster of the species that had devoured the two men.

During one of the hunts by the Eskimos they came upon the dead body of a "demon." From it they cut a huge section of skin and flesh, to take with them as proof of their astounding experience. Then, over near the edge of the hot water lake, they saw a live "demon" pursuing a musk ox. It ran with a motion which the Eskimos described as a "tumbling rush." Without difficulty it overtook the panic-stricken musk ox and, as it had done with the two men, bowled the animal over, with its bulky tail, then ate it.

That sight was too much for the little Eskimo band. They had seen enough. They voted to go back to the land of snow and ice and take no chances in the "domain of the demon."

So with the food they had "cached" they made their way off the fertile plateau, put back into the snowy mountains, wandered till the midnight sun disappeared and finally reached the ocean. There, footsore and heartsick, they put themselves on an ice floe and prayed to the "god of fate" to blow them back to their land. After many weeks they reached it and returned to Thetis Island, where they told their wonderful story. Then, to silence all doubters, they produced the piece of hide and flesh which had been taken from the dead "demon."

"And so me make him demon skin the good luck giver for tribe, and it bring plenty of luck," concluded the old Eskimo who told the story at Fairbanks.

Now, what do scientists say of it all? Dr. W. D. Matthews of the American Museum of Natural History made this declaration:

"There is no possibility of the race of dinosaurs or any other creatures of that period existing on earth today. There may be parts of the earth where the mammoth or the mastodon could exist, but not so the great dinosaurs."

Asked concerning the characteristics of the beast, and especially the tyrannosaurus, his remarks sounded remarkably like the description given by the Eskimo.

"It was the largest of flesh-eating monsters of the cretaceous period, which means that it lived three or four million years ago," said Dr. Matthew, "and it preyed on all living things, even the other dinosaurs, whether flesh-eating or vegetarians."

Concerning its fighting qualities and methods he said:

HAD LITTLE INTELLIGENCE.

"Their battles were mighty, and a fight between two of the tyrannosaurus type must have been a fearsome spectacle. The evidences are that they fought usually over some conquered and fallan animal. Our specimen, which is the only one mounted, is forty-seven and a half feet long, eighteen and a half feet high, as posed, and I may say the pose was selected for the mounting after a very careful study of the way the bones ought to be put together and the animal's habits as we know them.

"This skeleton," continued the doctor, "came fromo Hell Creek beds, Montana, and it is known that all that part of the country was in the time that these monsters lived close to sea level, had a tropical climate and was covered with tropical vegetation. There were huge animals of the vegetarian type even larger than the tyrannosaurus for them to prey on, but no match for them in strength or ferocity.

"None of them had much intelligence and it is probable the method of fighting of the tyrannosaurus was to make a wild rush, hit or miss, and grab what it encountered."

This is certainly the fashion of attack told about by the Eskimo, but Dr. Matthew smiled when reminded of it.

At any rate, the story of "the "great demon" is being told in all the igloos of northern Alaska these days, and Eskimo mothers are saying to their youngsters who insist on going out when the ice isn't any too solid in the Arctic ocean:

"Be careful, oh, little child. The god of fate may frown, and then the wind will blow and you will be carried to the land of the great demon."

And straightway the "boy" runs into the igloo, crying lustily, for all the Eskimo children believe the "demon over the water" isn't a living thing, but a ghost, and can travel anywhere in any length of time. Selah!

English Tommies Welcome Hamlet on the Firing Line.

Recently "Hamlet" was performed by soldiers of the British expeditionary force within a few hours' distance of the firing line. An officer of high standing who saw the play hit off the situation: "Our men do not live by bully beef alone; they need some food for the mind, and there is nothing better for them than the great thoughts of our great writers." The play was performed in costume, with scenery painted in camp, and with not a word misplaced or forgotten in the rendering.

Four scenes were chosen—the ghost scene, the room in the castle where Hamlet decides on revenge, the great soliloquy, and the graveyard. The cast was chosen on the spot, neighboring towns and libraries were scoured for copies of the play, as there was no time to send to England. Luck turned our way, copies were secured, and in a town close by was a branch of a Paris theatrical costumer. Horatio looked more like Henry VIII. on the Field of Cloth of Gold than the friend of Hamlet, while Hamlet's costume reminded one more of Mme. Tussaud's than of Sir J. Forbes-Robertson, but on active service one cannot be particular.

The company got itself together in an hour; it learned its parts from two books in the spare time allowed in three days; it painted and erected its scenery in less than twelve hours.

Long before the time of starting a great queue assembled. The colonels and officers of the battalions represented honored the production by their presence; also the matrons and nursing staff of the hospitals, and over 1,000 men gained admission. The doors and windows of the hut were opened so that the crowd outside could hear. Yet during this growing excitement we were shutting out the thought that any one of our company of actors and stage hands might be called on duty any minute, for most of them were standing by waiting to go to the firing line. The curtains were drawn and, instead of the usual respectful silence that greets the opening of a scene in Hamlet, there were yells of full-throated applause.

Hamlet was embarrassed by the cheers of the gods at the splendid fresh colors in the scenery, for many of these men had not seen stage colors since they left home, and for the time being Hamlet's scenery outshone Hamlet. Before the play was half through we breathed easily and knew the experiment to be justified. The life behind the scenes was distinctly of the emergency type. A careless gunner smudged out of existence a whole tower of Elsinore with his shirt sleeve. Men accustomed for many months to obey suddenly found themselves in command. One was told to stitch up a hole in silk hose with a darning needle, another wanted a belt. "Give him a puttee." "My face is too white for the footlights." "Here, stick on some red distemper," and I believe the red distemper is still "stuck on."

Couldn't Stop Crying.

A benevolent old man, seeing a little tot weeping, went up to it and said: "Now, be a good boy and stop your crying."

"I can't," sobbed the child.

"But why can't you?"

"I can't!"

"Well, here's a penny; tell me why you can't be a good boy and stop crying."

"Cause I'm a girl!"

A Baseball Term.

He—"One out, and all the bases full; here's where we work the squeeze!

She—Oh, Harry, it's so public here; I wish you wouldn't, please.

Would He?

Jinks—Would you marry a girl as pretty as a picutre?

Binks—Yes, if she had a good frame.

CHICAGO GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, April 20—Considerable strength developed in the wheat market today, based largely on New York stock market advances which were attributed in some quarters here to confidence that a break with Germany would be averted at the eleventh hour. Opening prices, which varied from the same as yesterday's finish to ⅜c higher, with May at $1.13 to $1.13½ and July at $1.13 to $1.13⅝, were followed by decided additional gains.

The market closed steady, ⅞c to 1⅛c net higher, with May at $1.14½ and July at $1.13⅞.

The close was easy at ⅛@¼c to ¾c net decline.

Oats had no independent action.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, April 20—Firmness marked the early dealings in today's market, affording a striking contrast to yesterday's uneasiness and excitement. The more active specialties, like Crucible Steel, Baldwin Locomotive, Mexican Petroleum, Marine preferred, American Zinc and Industrial Alcohol, were higher by a point or more, with a gain of 2½ for Bethlehem Steel. The metal and motor groups were fractionally better, except Willys-Overland, which fell over a point. United States Steel opened unchanged but subsequently made slight improvement. Investment shares as a whole were steady but inactive.

Prices made further upward progress in the first hour but dealings fell away on the advance, which encouraged the short interest to renew operations for the decline. Moderate selling of speculative issues resulted in average recessions of a point. Industrial Alcohol losing three. Later the market hardened again with foreign favorable advices. Trading was obviously professional, commission brokers reporting almost entire cessation of yesterday's liquidation. Bonds were steady, with nominal dealings.

Unsettlement became more general in the last hour, some of the vulnerable specialties then falling considerably under yesterday's lowest prices. The closing was heavy.

Open to Anyone.

This offer is open to everyone. There are no restrictions of any sort placed upon candidates except those of residence and respectability. To make this offer as liberal as possible, we do not even stipulate that candidates have to be subscribers to The Sentinel. Candidates are privileged to secure votes and subscriptions wherever possible. This offer is one of the most liberal ever made to a gathering of young women, and its magnitude is being fully appreciated by the young women of Fort Wayne and its surrounding territory as is testified to by the number of nominations already received by the Campaign department.

This campaign, by the distribution of such a number of prizes, and the value attached thereto, becomes one of statewide importance. Thousands of people will watch closely the standings of the various candidates, and for this reason the standing of each candidate will be published three times a week after the first publication of the names of the candidates. All will then know just how the race is progressing, and friends of candidates will be enabled to keep in close touch with the work of their favorites.

As to Present Subscribers.

So many inquiries have been received from persons who are already taking the paper in regard to their subscription payments, that we will state for the benefit of these, as well as others, that every payment of $1.50 or over made on subscriptions entitles the person making such payments to votes, according to the scale of votes published in the paper each day. These votes may be secured at The Sentinel office when making such payments. Or the money may be paid direct to the candidates.

Married women as well as single are privileged to enter the campaign. No restriction as to their state in life is made. A number of nominations have already been received from married women, as well as numerous inquiries, and we will state that whether you are married or single, you are entitled to enter.

First List Soon.

In a few days the first list of the names of candidates will be published, showing the number of votes received for each candidate up to that time. After this publication, the list of candidates, with the number of votes deposited for them each day, will be published three times a week.

Of course, nominations can be made after this list is published, but the advantage of having your name in this list and bringing to the notice of your friends the fact that you intend to win one of these prizes and want their support, is too obvious to be overlooked.

Any young woman who desires to enter the campaign and win one of the magnificent prizes offered should see to it that her name is at once sent to the Campaign Manager.

Candidates should at once interest their friends in the campaign and by united and energetic effort induce as many as possible to vote for them.

The nomination blanks will only appear for a limited time, and only a limited number of nominations will be accepted. Cut the nomination blank from this issue and send it to The Sentinel with your name and address or that of your favorite candidate. A subscription is not necessary, but a good start means much. The name of the person making the nomination will not be divulged.

The prizes will be awarded at the finish of the campaign, and may be used by the winners themselves or disposed of as they see fit. Any young lady residing in the territory is eligible to compete.

Coupons Are Valuable.

The coupons clipped from each issue of The Sentinel have a valeu of ten votes each and any person may fill these out and send them in for a candidate. Special voting ballots are issued on every subscription ballot and these have a value in proportion to the amount of the payment. These ballots may be held as long as is desired and voted at any time up to the close of the contest, but coupons clipped from the paper are only good for votes within ten days of the date of issue.

Persons living in one district are not confined to voting for candidates in that particular district, but may vote for candidates in any district.

Enter the name of the young woman for whom you wish to secure one of these splendid awards at once. She may win one of the magnificent prizes. Better still, get the young lady to enter her own name, and then vote for her. Those who get in at once have the best chance of winning, so it is desirable that her name be entered at once in order to get a good start. Enter your name and your friends will do the rest. You will be surprised to see how rapidly the votes came in, and how little effort is necessary in order to win one of these prizes. Get in at the start and encourage your friends to vote for you; the rest will be easy. You will never know how popular you are until you enter a contest of this kind.

Old Arctic Navigator to Go After Explorer and His Party.

Seattle, April 29.—Captain Louis L. Lane, an Arctic navigator of long experience, announced here today that he will leave Seattle for the Arctic ocean about June 1 in a 300-ton power schooner now being built here, and expects to return to Nome or Seattle next autumn with Vilhjalmur Stefansson and the other members of the Canadian government exploring expedition that sailed from Victoria, B. C., for the Arctic ocean June 17, 1913. Capt. Lane plans to be at Banks Land, in the Polar Sea, about August 5, and to meet Stefansson there. Lane, in the power schooner Polar Bear, took Stefansson and two companions from Banks Land to Herschel Island last August, and afterward sold the Polar Bear to Stefansson, who returned to Banks Land with this boat and the small power boat Gladiator, intending to pass the winter in exploration of Banks Land and then, on the breaking of the ice this spring, making further exploration of the new land which he discovered last year, north of Melville Island. Capt. Lane is now in Seattle supervising construction of his schooner.

Capt. Lane is going north, not under contract with the Canadian government, but under a verbal agreement with Stefansson. Lane's new power boat, which probably will be named the Great Bear, will be of wooden construction, and the strongest ice-resisting vessel ever built on Puget Sound. Lane will take with him gasoline and other supplies for the Stefansson fleet. Stefansson has asked the Canadian government to permit his parties to continue their work a year longer, but it is believed that on account of war conditions the explorers will be ordered home. The expedition was planned to continue three and a half years.

Unless ice movements are unfavorable, Capt. Lane expects to reach Banks Land at the time fixed upon. If he has good fortune, he will call first at Herschel Island, where he may receive word from Stefansson. If he does not get instructions there, he will proceed north to Banks Land, making stops at points agreed upon last year, where Stefansson may have letters or men waiting for Lane. If may be that the explorers will choose to return to Nome in their own boats, the power schooners Polar Bear, Alaska, Mary Sachs and North Star, but the vessels probably will be out of repair and unable to make the quick voyage that will be necessary to elude the treacherous ice, which closes upon the coast rapidly in early autumn. If all goes well, the explorers should arrive in Nome soon after the middle of September.

The Stefansson expedition from the beginning was divided into two parties. The northern, under Stefansson, planned to seek new land in the Beaufort sea, and succeeded, notwithstanding the loss of the principal boat, the whaler Karluk, which was crushed in the ice the first winter out. The southern party, under Dr. Rudolph Anderson, has been exploring and charting the delta of the Mackenzie river and the country to the east, and also making a geological survey of the islands and mainland at the mouth of the great river, making especial search for copper and coal. Copper nuggets abound along the waterways, and the Eskimos make their weapons and utensils of beaten copper. Stefansson, who discovered blue-eyed Eskimos in the Coronation gulf country, east of the Mackenzie, some years ago, these people being, he believed, descendants of the ancient Scandinavian settlers in Greenland, is not revisiting these Eskimos during his present journey. Stefansson and Anderson have a large amount of information and material, and will make a complete report to the Canadian government. Stefansson will publish a book describing his discoveries.

A dispatch from Christiania, Norway, announcing that Captain Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the northwest passage and the South Pole, plans to set out on a North Pole expedition in the spring of 1917, by way of Bering Strait, interests Arctic navigators greatly. Amundsen intended to leave San Francisco several years ago, sail from Bering Strait toward the North Pole and return between Spitzbergen and Greenland. He abandoned his voyage because of lack of funds. In the years that have elapsed motor boat progress has been rapid, and new engines that burn small quantities of fuel have simplified Arctic problems. Amundsen will use a 100-ton power boat.

Vienna jewelers are doing a flourishing business with people who think gems a safe investment for their surplus funds in these unsettled times.
